

Acknowledgments:

We would like to extend our gratitude to a number of people without whom this research would not have been possible:

To the women who participated in interviews and focus groups, your stories are the most powerful tool we have to make changes for future survivors. Thank you for being candid and honest and for opening yourselves up so that we could learn.

To our partners at Consejo, East Cherry YWCA, Northwest Network, ReWA and SIHB, thank you for all of your time and hard work. This project would not have existed without your contributions of time and energy.

To the members of our Project Advisory Group, thank you for participating in designing the project, and thank you in advance for working and struggling to implement these findings so that we can protect and support future survivors who need help.

To Alison Eisinger, Sandy Ciske, Ellie Rose, Scott Jones, Evelyn Chapman and Connie Burke we are extremely thankful for your careful readings of this manuscript and for your support throughout the project.