

Hotels in Irkutsk City, Siberia

June 2006

Author: Mark Shulgov, BISNIS representative in Tomsk, Kemerovo and Irkutsk regions

Irkutsk, capital of the vast territory with rich natural resources and numerous remarkable sights and a city with almost four centuries of history, is one of the traditional points of economic growth and business communication in Siberia. Many interesting domestic and international events are held in Irkutsk. Booming business tourism and exhibition activities have led to the development of hotel and tourist infrastructure in the city and on adjacent territories. Visitors can now choose from a large variety of hotels from luxurious ones with “four star” services to inexpensive inns and a hostel. This report lists the main hotels in Irkutsk, as well as providing information on the services of several hotels on the shore of famous Lake Baikal, situated about 70 kilometers from Irkutsk and attracting a large part of the city’s guests.
