

Kill Germs With Bleach

After a flood, germs will grow in your house. They can make you sick. Use bleach to kill germs on things touched by flood water.

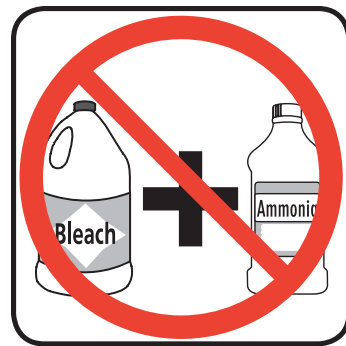

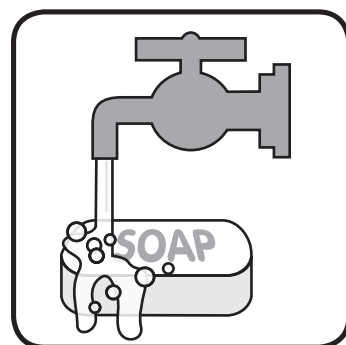

Wear rubber boots, rubber gloves, and goggles.

Open windows and doors to get fresh air when you use bleach.

Clean hard things with soap and water. Then clean with a mix of 1 cup of household liquid bleach in 5 gallons of water. Use bleach that does not have an added scent (like lemon). Scrub rough surfaces with a stiff brush. Air dry.

If you don't have household liquid bleach, use soap and water.

Never mix bleach with ammonia or other cleaners.
