FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS SECTION 403 SHELTERING

SUPPLEMENT No. 1

Introduction: This fact sheet provides answers to supplemental questions pertaining to the provision of interim housing for evacuees from Hurricanes Katrina and Rita through the Public Assistance (PA) program, which is funded under the authority of Section 403 of the Stafford Act. Eligible applicants for reimbursement of costs for emergency sheltering under this program include state and local governments. It is not intended to address questions relating to the Individuals and Households Program (IHP) which is funded under the authority of Section 408 of the Stafford Act and provides assistance to individuals. Question numbering is continued from the original Fact Sheet dated September 29, 2005.

A. Grant Assistance – Administrative

- (14) In the answer to Question #A7 in the FEMA Fact Sheet – Frequently Asked Questions, Section 403 Sheltering, what is meant by "penalties"?

Penalties refer to the costs associated with terminating a lease early, damage repairs and evictions.

- (15) If a municipality co-signs a lease along with an evacuee, is that acceptable under the current PA policy regarding leases?

Yes. However, we will reimburse the applicant, not the evacuee, for the lease payment.

- (16) Can an eligible Applicant contract with a non-governmental agency to handle all aspects of the interim housing operation and be reimbursed for the cost?

Yes. An applicant may contract with a non-governmental agency to manage the interim housing program, which are the mass shelters, hotels/motels and apartments. The applicant must follow state, local and federal procurement procedures. However, the costs of casework related to an evacuee's personal circumstances outside of the mass shelter are not eligible.

- (17) Some states are planning to assign another state agency to manage the overall interim housing operation, essentially serving as the Grantee. As the Grantee we can pay regular time labor in a Cat Z PW. How do we distinguish between Grantee functions and eligible applicant functions?

Under no circumstances can a state agency be reimbursed for regular time labor expended during the performance of eligible work addressed in a Category B PW, i.e. managing an interim sheltering program for the state. However, as a Grantee, regular time for managing the PA grant would be covered under a Category Z PW. It is the Grantee's responsibility to document what force account regular time was expended while managing to grant vs. while performing CAT B work; i.e. managing an interim shelter program.

- (18) Is there a maximum limit on rent for a rental unit being used for interim shelter that is higher than the Fair Market Rent (FMR) for that community? How should these requests for approval in these situations be submitted to the region?

There is no maximum limit, per se. However, the applicant should obtain approval from FEMA prior to entering leases for more than the FMR. Documentation supporting that the FMR is not sufficient for the specific situation should be submitted with a request for approval through the Applicant's Public Assistance Coordinator (PAC). The PAC will forward the request to the Public Assistance Officer (PAO) who will handle getting the necessary approval.

- (19) What is the hotel/motel rate for interim housing based on? Is it the federal government rate for that city? If yes and the rate is higher than the government rate, is there a maximum limit the region cannot exceed when approving?

There is no set rate to determine the eligible cost of hotel/motel rooms. The cost must be reasonable, and the region may use the federal government rate as a guideline to determine if the rate is reasonable. However, it should not be used as a basis to determine that the cost of a hotel/motel room is ineligible. There is no established maximum limit.

SUPPLEMENT No. 1

- (20) Can faith-based organizations, not tasked or contracted by the state, be recognized as an eligible applicant and reimbursed for transportation costs incurred due to evacuating families?

No.

- (21) How will FEMA notify host states/case management agencies of transportation provided to an evacuee family through the "Facilitated Relocation Program"? This will be necessary in order to avoid duplication of transportation costs and to provide information as to the status of the evacuee family's housing plan. Please provide the confirmed date the Facilitated Relocation Program will be implemented.

We ask applicants that provided transportation to evacuees prior to October 15, 2005, to provide that information to FEMA for inclusion into our NEMIS database where travel information from the Facilitate Relocation Program is stored. The Facilitated Relocation Program became operational in a limited manner on September 30, 2005. We did not publicize it widely because we wanted to allow time to fully staff the operation. It is now operational. After this date, we encourage all evacuees to make travel arrangements through the Facilitated Relocation Program by calling 1-800-621-FEMA.

- (22) How does the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) program compliment the FEMA Public Assistance Section 403 Sheltering program?

HUD provides interim housing to evacuees who lived in public housing or were homeless prior to the disaster.

- (23) What is the impact of HUD's program on the Section 403 Sheltering program?

There is no impact. The programs complement each other.

- (24) How are individuals moved from the interim shelter program phased into the Individuals and Households Program (IHP)?

Details about how this transition will take place are still under development and will be announced soon.

- (25) How does the Emergency Declaration Sheltering/Interim Housing Program (DSG #2) relate to the "Transitional Housing Assistance" program announced by Secretaries Chertoff and Jackson on September 23, 2005?

The "Emergency Declaration Sheltering/Interim Housing Program" reimburses local and state governments for providing interim housing to evacuees in mass shelters and hotel and motels. Under the Transitional Housing Assistance Program, FEMA provided evacuees $2,358 (3 months' rent) to allow them to make their own decisions about their housing needs

- (26) If 18 months is the maximum amount of housing assistance available to an individual/family group, how will this be coordinated between the PA interim sheltering process and the IA program located in another state?

We will ask state and local governments to send information about assistance provided under the interim housing program to FEMA. We will record the information in NEMIS.

- (27) Are eligible applicants required to ascertain what, if any, housing costs are covered by the evacuee's homeowner's insurance policy?

No.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS SECTION 403 SHELTERING

SUPPLEMENT No. 1

- (24) An eligible applicant has asked the Salvation Army to provide food at a shelter. Can the Salvation Army be considered as a “contractor” to the City? Can the applicant be reimbursed for the cost of the food provided by the Salvation Army?

If the Salvation Army has incurred costs for the food and the PA applicant reimburses the Salvation Army for that food, then the costs are eligible for reimbursement through PA. Labor costs associated with providing the food are also eligible, as long as the service is provided by paid employees of the Salvation Army.

- (25) What are "reasonable costs for sheltering pets?" Can these costs be reimbursed for up to 12 months while the evacuee family is in interim sheltering?

The reasonableness of costs can be evaluated based on the average cost of kennel services in a specific area. An applicant should obtain three quotes from local kennels. The cost of sheltering pets is eligible only while the evacuee is in a congregate shelter or hotel/motel rooms. Once an evacuee is placed in a rental unit, sheltering costs for pets is not eligible.

- (26) What are reasonable costs for food? Is it based on the federal government's meal allowance per day for that city times the number of family members?

We will reimburse applicants for providing food to evacuees at congregate shelters and hotel/motel rooms that do not have kitchens. We will also reimburse applicants for costs incurred for providing food for up to 14 days after placing evacuees into housing units with kitchens. The 14-day period will allow evacuees to make arrangements for their own food.

The Federal per diem rate for meals can be used as a guide to evaluate reasonableness. If an applicant provides food through a catering service, for example, the applicant should follow its normal procurement procedures.

SUPPLEMENT No. 1

- (27) Are costs for providing evacuees transportation to and from work, medical visits, school, laundry, grocery store, etc. eligible for reimbursement?

The applicant may provide limited transportation to evacuees at congregate shelters as explained in Disaster Specific Guidance No. 2.

- (28) The "cost of medication" and "emergency medical care" are two separate provisions. Is emergency medical care eligible or only medication?

Both. The costs of purchasing medication and providing emergency medical care to evacuees at congregate shelters are eligible for reimbursement.

- (29) According to Disaster Specific Guidance #2, if an evacuee was undergoing treatment prior to evacuation (say diabetes, dialysis, etc.) and treatment is required to continue to protect health and safety of the individual or residents at large, costs for ensuring availability of treatment will be eligible. Please clarify this point. Does this mean the cost of the treatment is reimbursable?

The cost of definitive medical care is not eligible. Emergency treatment for patients while at the congregate shelters is eligible. The cost of transporting these evacuees to a medical facility qualified to administer treatment is also eligible.

- (30) Are any medical costs reimbursable while an evacuee is in interim housing?

No.

- (31) The use of the term "transitional housing" is confusing due to the Individual Assistance Program providing three months rent for transitional housing. In question #B13 in the Public Assistance Fact Sheet does the writer mean "interim sheltering?"

Yes.
