Dear Sir or Madam.

I would like to express my concerns over the labeling of genetically engineered foods, especially dairy products containing Recombinant bovine growth hormone (r-bGH). I have reviewed the literature pertaining to r-bGH and its effects on both humans + cattle. I am outraged over two things... first that r-bGH is present in any of our dairy products despite research that shows it promotes breast, prostate, + Colon Cancer, along with numerous other ailments.

Secondly, I am even more outraged that you refuse labeling be mandatory on products containing r-bGH, and genetically engineered foods all together.

As a consumer + a young adult I would like to have the ability to choose whether or not I purchase genetically engineered foods. I would like you to put the decision in the hands of the American consumers and let them decide. Thank you for your time

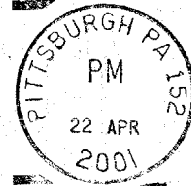

Sincerely,

Stephen R. Borlett
