

Day Hike - Grandview Trail

Grand Canyon National Park

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Trail Condition: Unmaintained steep trail requires caution. Rocky and strenuous. Give uphill hikers the right of way. Upper portion of the trail may be extremely icy in winter or early spring.

Directions to Trailhead: Located on the South Rim, by vehicle to Grandview Point, 12 miles east of village along Desert View Drive. Trail begins on canyon side of retaining wall at Grandview Point.

Trailhead Elevation: 7,400 feet.

Services: NO assistance on trail.

Note: NO water along trail.

The Grandview Trail day hikes are to Coconino Saddle or Horseshoe Mesa. Day hiking as far as Horseshoe Mesa is not recommended during summer. Trail gets steeper and more tricky beyond Coconino Saddle. Trail conditions are tougher than the Bright Angel and South Kaibab trails.

Allow extra hiking time because of trail conditions. Plan on taking twice as long to hike up as it took to hike down. Hiking boots recommended. For experienced desert hikers.

Everyone needs to carry water! A common mistake is not carrying water or not carrying enough water. When hiking in a group, each person should be carrying water. Remember to eat as well as drink while hiking, you use a lot of energy hiking the canyon.

Successful hikers:

- Plan their hike before they start and go prepared.
- Hike during the cooler, shadier time of the day.
- Go slowly, rest often, and stay cool.
- Eat salty foods and drink water or sports drink.

Depending on how prepared you are, your trip can be a vacation or a challenge, a revelation or an ordeal. Over 250 people are rescued from the canyon each year. The difference between a great adventure in Grand Canyon and a trip to the hospital (or worse) is up to YOU.

DO NOT attempt to hike from the rim to the river and back in one day, especially May to September.
