Dear Sir or Madam:

The Conference of State Bank Supervisors (CSBS), the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators (AARMR), and the National Association of Consumer Credit Administrators (NACCA) appreciate the opportunity to offer comments on the Proposed Illustrations of Consumer Information for Subprime Mortgage Lending.

CSBS, AARMR, and NACCA agree the proposed illustrations will be useful to institutions as they work to implement the consumer protection provisions of the Interagency Statement on Subprime Mortgage Lending. In addition, CSBS, AARMR, and NACCA believe these illustrations are applicable to state-supervised entities subject to similar guidance on subprime mortgage lending issued by the states.

The illustrations proposed by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Office of Thrift Supervision, and the National Credit Union Administration (collectively, the Agencies) represent a good step towards improved consumer disclosures. However, the states, through CSBS, AARMR, and NACCA, continue to believe that existing disclosures for home mortgages can be overly cumbersome and confusing. To that end, we commend the Federal Reserve Board for conducting a comprehensive review of disclosures for home-secured credit, which is currently underway. We look forward to continuing to work with the Agencies in the future in an effort to create a more meaningful and timely disclosure process for all mortgage transactions.

Thank you for your consideration, and we invite you to call on us if we can provide additional information.

Best personal regards,

Neil Milner
President and CEO, CSBS

President, AARMR
