Subject: The 12-month timeline

The 12-month time line is unrealistic and is being developed by people who have never touched an A-76 study in their life....and don't have to live with the impossible deadline they are instituting.

The AF is submitting an official position to OSD, and OSD will be submitting it to OMB. The above comment does not necessarily reflect the official position of the AF--it is mine alone, based on doing A-76 studies off-and-on over the last 21 years. I've overseen studies at installation level as recently as 1998 and have been overseeing the studies in AFMC since 1999.
