This account includes funding for department-wide investments in information technology and wireless communications technology. Funding from this account will be used for department-wide investments or high-priority investments that DHS directorates need to modernize business processes and increase efficiency through technological improvements. In particular, this account will fund the Homeland Security Information Technology and Evaluation program, which will work to improve homeland security-related information sharing across the federal government, as well as with state and local governments and the private sector. This program was previously requested through the Bureau of Industry Security Critical Infrastructure Assurance Office. In addition, this account includes proposed funding for the conversion of wireless radio communications to narrowband operations, as required by 47 U.S.C. 903(d)(1). Requested resources will be allocated to invest in new narrowband infrastructure and subscriber equipment while continuing to support components' existing legacy land mobile radio systems.

The mission of the new Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services is to deliver services to the public in a timely, consistent, fair and high quality manner. This activity encompasses efforts to (1) establish and maintain an asylum process that is fair and timely, and that denies meritless claims quickly without discouraging legitimate seekers of asylum, (2) establish and maintain immigration and naturalization processes that deliver benefits to customers in a fair, accurate and timely manner, (3) make "user friendly" customer service an integral, permanent aspect of all activities, and (4) provide employers, benefit providers and other appropriate entities with immigration information and alien status, and the assistance and tools needed to allow them to comply with the laws while safeguarding the civil and privacy rights of citizens and aliens alike. The 2004 Budget continues to support a five-year, $500 million initiative to support a universal six-month processing standard for all immigration applications.

Among the missions of the Directorate of Border and Transportation Security is to prevent, preempt, and deter aggression targeted at the U.S. through land, sea, and air ports-of-entry. The Customs and Border Protection account includes funding for inspecting travelers at land, sea, and air ports-of-entry for immigration, customs and agriculture compliance, as well as interdicting illegal crossers between ports-of-entry. This account consolidates funding previously provided for specific functions of the U.S. Customs Service; specific functions of the Immigration and Naturalization Service including Border Patrol, intelligence, inspections, and related administrative functions; and the inspections function of the Agriculture Quarantine and Inspection (AQI) program, formerly part of the Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. The realignment of border and safety functions will improve the government's efficiency and effectiveness through consolidated overhead, training, information technology, equipment, communications, and oversight.

Funding provided through this account will ensure that the Department of Homeland Security is able to enforce the laws regarding admission of foreign-born persons into the U.S., and ensuring that all goods and persons entering and exiting the U.S. do so legally.

The Federal Law Enforcement Training Center provides the necessary facilities, equipment, and support services for conducting recruit, advanced, specialized, and refresher training for Federal law enforcement personnel. Center personnel conduct the instructional programs for the basic recruit and some of the advanced training. This appropriation is for operating expenses of the Center, for research in law enforcement training methods, and curriculum content. In addition, the Center has a reimbursable program to accommodate the training requirements of various Federal agencies. As funds are available, law enforcement training is provided to certain State, local and foreign law enforcement personnel on a space-available basis.

The 2004 Budget continues funding for the Center to work with other Federal law enforcement agencies to establish written standards for the accreditation of Federal law enforcement training.

This account provides for the acquisition and related costs for expansion and maintenance of facilities of the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center.

This includes funding for the Facilities Master Plan, Minor Construction and Maintenance, Firearms Environmental Restoration and Reconstruction, Environmental Compliance, and installation of fiber optics communications systems. The Master Plan provides the long range blueprint for expansion of facilities to meet the training requirements of the over 76 partner organizations. Minor construction and maintenance provides alterations and maintenance funding for approximately 300 buildings at three locations (Glynco, Georgia, Artesia, New Mexico, and Cheltenham, Maryland). The Firearms Environmental Restoration and Reconstruction funds the clean-up of the existing outdoor ranges and reconstruction. The Environmental Compliance funds are to ensure compliance with the EPA and State environmental laws and regulations. The fiber optics funding will be used to replace the existing antiquated twisted copper wire telecommunications system with a state-of-the-art fiber optic telecommunications cable system.

The Office for Domestic Preparedness (ODP) provides state and local governments with grants, training, and technical assistance to improve their readiness for terrorism incidents. Most of this assistance is aimed at strengthening "first responders," police, fire, rescue, and emergency personnel who are first on scene in the event of a terrorist attack. In addition to ODP's existing preparedness programs, the 2004 Budget requests significant grant funding for both fire departments and law enforcement anti-terrorism initiatives. ODP will also provide up to $181 million for Citizen Corps activities.

The ODP account reflects the program structure specified in Public Law 107-296, the Homeland Security Act of 2002, which transferred ODP out of the Department of Justice and into the DHS Border and Transportation Security Directorate. The Act also merged FEMA's Office of National Preparedness with ODP.

The estimates in the following table support the President's Budget proposal to extend accrual financing for health care provided to non-Medicare-eligible uniformed services retirees.

Uniformed Services Non-Medicare Eligible Retiree Health Care Accrual Proposal Effects on Coast Guard Accounts in 2004

This account consolidates funding previously requested in the Coast Guard Operating Expenses, Environmental Compliance and Restoration, and Reserve Training accounts. Funding requested in this account provides for the safety of the public, and the Coast Guard's work force, with an enhanced emphasis on its maritime homeland security mission.

The bulk of the funding requested in this account supports the operations of the Coast Guard as it carries out its unique duties as a peacetime operating agency and a branch of the armed forces. To fulfill its mission, the Coast Guard employs multipurpose vessels, aircraft, and shore units, strategically located along the coasts and inland waterways of the United States and in selected areas overseas.

Additionally, a portion of the funding requested in this account will be used by the Coast Guard to satisfy environmental compliance and restoration related obligations arising under chapter 19 of title 14 of the United States Code.

Finally, another portion of the funding requested in this account will support the Coast Guard Reserve Forces, which provide qualified personnel and trained units for active duty in event of conflict, national emergency, or natural and man-made disasters. The reservists maintain their readiness through mobilization exercises, and duty alongside regular Coast Guard members during routine and emergency operations. Reservists will continue to serve as a cost-effective surge force for response to human and natural disasters.

This account includes funding previously requested in the Coast Guard Acquisition, Construction, and Improvements and Research, Development, Test, and Evaluation accounts. Funding requested in this account will support the Coast Guard's continuing plans for fleet expansion and improvement and research into improved Coast Guard technology, systems and methods.

The majority of the funding requested in this account provides for the acquisition, construction, and improvement of vessels, aircraft, information management resources, shore facilities, and aids to navigation required to execute the Coast Guard's missions and achieve its performance goals.

Vessels.—In 2004, the Coast Guard will continue to acquire multi-mission platforms that use advanced technology to reduce life cycle operating costs. The Great Lakes icebreaking replacement project will continue.

Deepwater.—The Deepwater capability replacement project continues with full scale development. In 2004, the Coast Guard will continue to acquire and build the selected integrated deepwater system.

Other Equipment.—In 2004, the Coast Guard will invest in numerous management information and decision support systems that will result in increased efficiencies. Rescue 21, the national distress and response system modernization project (NDRSMP), will continue.

Shore Facilities.—In 2004, the Coast Guard will invest in modern structures that are more energy-efficient, comply with regulatory codes, minimize follow-on maintenance requirements and replace existing dilapidated structures.

Additional funding requested in this account supports the Coast Guard's Research and Development program, which includes the development of techniques, methods, hardware, and systems which directly contribute to increasing the productivity and effectiveness of Coast Guard's operating missions. The Coast Guard has focused new R&D projects on improvements to maritime homeland security in the port domain while continuing research in other vital Coast Guard mission areas, including marine environmental protection and response; risk assessment and competency; and human error reduction and fatigue analysis. No new funding is requested for alteration of bridges in 2004.

Through the Disaster Relief Fund (DRF), the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) provides a significant portion of the total Federal response to victims in Presidentially-declared major disasters and emergencies. Major disasters are declared when a State requests Federal assistance and proves that a given disaster is beyond the State's capacity to respond. Under the DRF, DHS will continue to operate the primary assistance programs formerly run by the Federal Emergency Management Agency: Federal assistance to individuals and households, and public assistance, which includes the repair and reconstruction of State, local, and non-profit infrastructure. For 2004, a new competitive, pre-disaster mitigation grant program has been proposed to replace the current hazard mitigation grants funded in the Disaster Relief Fund.

Public Law 107-73 authorized the transfer of $25 million from the Disaster Relief Fund and $7 million from National Flood Insurance Fund policyholder fees collected but unexpended during 2000 through 2001 to the Flood Map Modernization Fund for use in 2002 to update and modernize the inventory of over 100,000 flood maps. The flood maps are used to determine appropriate risk-based premium rates for the National Flood Insurance Program, complete flood hazard determinations required of the nation's lending institutions, and to develop appropriate disaster response plans for Federal, State, and local emergency management personnel. In 2004, the Budget proposes a $200 million appropriation to modernize and digitize flood maps.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, authorizes the Federal Government to provide flood insurance on a national basis. Flood insurance may be sold or continued in force only in communities which enact and enforce appropriate floodplain management measures. Communities must participate in the program within one year of the time they are identified as flood-prone in order to be eligible for flood insurance and some forms of Federal financial assistance for acquisition or construction purposes. In addition, Federally regulated funding institutions can not provide loans to non-participating communities with an identified flood hazard.

In 2004, the budget assumes collection of all of the administrative and program costs associated with flood insurance activities from policy holders. Under the emergency program, structures in identified flood-prone areas are eligible for limited amounts of coverage at subsidized insurance rates. Under the regular program, studies must be made of different flood risks in flood-prone areas to establish actuarial premium rates. These rates are charged for insurance on new construction. Coverage is available on virtually all types of buildings and their contents in amounts up to $350,000 for residential and $1 million for other types.

Disaster assistance loans authorized by the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq.) are loans to States for the non-Federal portion of cost-sharing funds and community disaster loans to local governments incurring substantial loss of tax and other revenues as a result of a major disaster. The funds requested for this program include direct loans and a subsidy based on criteria including loan amount and interest charged. As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records, for this program, the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans), as well as administrative expenses of this program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis. Loan activity prior to FY 1992, which is budgeted for on a cash basis, totals less than $500,000 in every year and is not presented separately.

Appropriations in this title support the advance of homeland security through basic and applied research, fabrication of technology demonstration devices, development and testing of prototypes and full-scale pre-production hardware, the procurement of products, systems and other capital equipment necessary for the provision and upgrading of capabilities to detect, destroy, dispose and mitigate the effects of weapons of mass destruction and other terrorist weapons and the operation of the Science and Technology Directorate. These appropriations also fund work of the Science and Technology Directorate as it supports the other Directorates and activities of the Department in developing, acquiring and fielding equipment and procedures necessary for performing their missions. This work may be performed by contractors, government laboratories and facilities, universities and non-profit organizations. Research, development and operations programs are funded to cover annual needs. Acquisition programs will be budgeted in useful segments, so that further appropriations will not be needed to provide a useful capability from the acquired equipment or facilities.

The 2004 budget provides for major technology and development efforts, including detection, destruction, disposal and mitigation of chemical and biological agents, radiological and nuclear devices or weapons, and conventional explosives. Funding also is provided for the test and evaluation of technologies, systems and processes developed to counter these threats and for the acquisition of equipment and operations needed to field those technologies, systems and processes, as well as others that may be available without further development, as part of the counter-WMD and counter-terror activities of the Department.

Research and development and acquisition funds for each fiscal year will be available for obligation for a three-year period beginning on the first day of the fiscal year for which the funds are appropriated.

This account supports the Directorate of Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). IAIP is charged with:

- Analyzing law enforcement, intelligence, and other information to evaluate terrorist threats to the homeland;
- Assessing the vulnerabilities of key U.S. resources and critical infrastructures;
- Mapping threat information against our current vulnerabilities; and,
- Working with federal, state, local, and private stakeholders to issue timely warnings and take or effect appropriate preventive and protective action.

Activities proposed for FY 2004 include:

Undersecretary for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection.—Coordinates efforts to improve the collection and dissemination of terrorist threat information domestically, fuse and integrate that data with foreign intelligence to produce a comprehensive picture of threats to the United States, and develop and implement an action plan to mitigate terrorist threats and national vulnerabilities.

National Planning.—Works with federal, state, local, and private stakeholders to develop and implement an integrated national plan for the physical and cyber protection of critical infrastructures and key assets.

Indications and Warning Advisories.—Provides a 24/7 Intelligence and Warning capability. Reviews and disseminates information to relevant public and private sector entities, and provides a mechanism for the Secretary to issue national advisories through the Homeland Security Advisory System.

Competitive Analysis and Evaluation.— Supports an internal unit to provide alternative analysis and unbiased evaluation of all IAIP analytic judgments and findings. This will ensure the quality and depth of IAIP products.

Threat Determination and Assessment.—Supports day-to-day operations of IAIP unit to a) access and analyze information on threats and terrorist capabilities from the intelligence community, law enforcement agencies, and other federal, state, local, and private entities b) integrate threat analysis against vulnerabilities of infrastructures, national assets, and people, c) share actionable threat analysis with federal, state, and local government and law enforcement agencies and private sector entities, and d) identify and prioritize information gaps for collectors. This activity includes IAIP information management processes, such as information collection and prioritization, and security clearance and release procedures.

Infrastructure Vulnerability and Risk Assessment.—Includes funding to support:

- Development and maintenance of a complete and accurate mapping of the Nation’s critical infrastructure and key assets.
- Transportation and port vulnerability assessments, performed in cooperation with the Transportation Security Administration and the United States Coast Guard.
- Specialized vulnerability assessment teams to conduct field assessments and catalog specific vulnerabilities of critical assets.
- Comprehensive national risk analysis activities, including modeling, data-mining, and partnerships with the scientific and academic communities to develop and refine DHS analytical tools and processes.

Work will be performed in cooperation with other DHS directorates.

Remediation and Protective Actions.—Includes funding to support:

- Infrastructure and key asset protective measures. IAIP will work with states and industry to identify and prioritize protective measures to mitigate risks identified through threat-vulnerability-consequence mapping. Protective measures may include technical assistance, grants, or cooperative agreements.
- Port vulnerability mitigation measures. IAIP will work with the Transportation Security Administration, the United States Coast Guard, and other governmental and non-governmental stakeholders, to mitigate risks identified through port vulnerability assessments and threat mapping. Mitigation measures may include technical assistance, grants, or cooperative agreements.
- Red Teaming activities. IAIP will use “red teams”—employees who simulate terrorists’ thinking—to monitor and evaluate the measures taken to protect certain key assets, critical infrastructure facilities, or sectors.

- Integrated Physical and Cyber Infrastructure Coordination. Monitoring status of critical infrastructures and coordinating prioritization across infrastructures for response, recovery, and reconstitution to augment the activities of the Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate.
- Cyber Security. Technical planning, vulnerability assessments and mapping, and coordination for the development and maintenance of technical standards, guidelines, best practices and R&D requirements for computer and information systems.

Work will be performed in cooperation with other DHS directorates.

National Communications System.—The National Communications System (NCS) is directed by Executive Order to assist the President, the National Security Council, the Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget in the exercise of the telecommunications functions and responsibilities. NCS provides the planning for and provision of national security and emergency preparedness telecommunications for the federal government under all circumstances, including crisis or emergency, attack, recovery and reconstitution. NCS operates a number of programs to ensure that telecommunications systems can support first responders and officials during an emergency.

Outreach and Partnerships.—Funds outreach, planning, and training activities to encourage partnerships with state and local governments, private sector partners, and international governments and organizations (to support trans-border infrastructure protection activities).

Pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of 2002, the functions of the National Communications System (Department of Defense), Federal Computer Incident Response Center (General Services Administration), Critical Infrastructure Assurance Office (Department of Commerce), National Simulation and Analysis Center and energy security and assurance programs (Department of Energy), and parts of the National Infrastructure Protection Center (Department of Justice), are transferred to IAIP. The activities of these offices, excluding the National Communications System, are integrated into the activities listed above.
