Dear Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs Hunt:

These guidelines, within which the lives of the elderly are devalued, is outrageous, egregious and beyond comprehension. Have you no respect for your own parents or grandparents? Or, for yourself, for that matter, for soon, you, too, will come of age...

- This is a mere pretext to cut the value of health and safety standards in order to protect the industries that stand to gain from this White House initiative.

- If analysis is fully applied, regulations for air pollution, toxic waste cleanup, food labeling and other quality of life issues could be weakened or not even implemented at all—and our senior citizens will feel the brunt of it since their health is the most vulnerable to dirty air and unhealthy food.

- As an American citizen who is the grandchild/child/relative of a senior citizen, I find that devaluing an elderly person's life is unethical and unmoral.

Sincerely,

D. Rickard
