Office of Management and Budget Information and Regulatory Affairs:

NSR stops projects that enhance energy efficiency, affordability and reliability. NSR prevents projects that control and prevent air pollution. Regulations should not provide disincentives to these goals.

NSR has the potential to add tens, and perhaps hundreds, of billions of dollars in direct and indirect costs to American industry.

It is important for the EPA to quickly and thoroughly consider administrative solutions to eliminate the problems with the NSR program.

Sincerely,

Earl F. Bouse, Jr.
