Full Text of Announcement

I. Funding Opportunity Description

Purpose of Program: To produce, and advance the use of, knowledge to improve the results of education and early intervention for infants, toddlers, and children with disabilities.

Priority: In accordance with 34 CFR 75.105(b)(2)(iv), this priority is from allowable activities specified in the statute (see sections 661(e)(2) and 672 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA)).

Absolute Priority: For FY 2004 this priority is an absolute priority. Under 34 CFR 75.105(c)(3) we consider only applications that meet this priority.

This priority is:

National Center On Secondary, Transition, and Postsecondary School Outcomes for Students with Disabilities

Background: Better data on secondary and postsecondary school outcomes for students are needed to assess the effectiveness of programs and services provided under Part B of IDEA and to improve secondary and postsecondary school outcomes for students with disabilities.

While there is general agreement that assessing academic achievement should be part of school accountability systems, many individuals involved in the education of students with disabilities believe that for IDEA purposes it is also important to collect other types of information that focus on assessing transition and postsecondary school success.

A recent GAO study (GAO-03-773) entitled "Special Education: Federal Actions Can Assist States in Improving Postsecondary Outcomes for Youth" found that, while a majority of youth receiving IDEA services complete high school with a diploma, it is difficult to determine what happens to students after they leave high school.

GAO found that less than half of the States routinely collect data on students' employment or education status after graduation. Most States collecting postsecondary school data used it for program improvement purposes such as monitoring school districts or targeting schools for technical assistance. However, existing State methodologies for collecting such data often have limitations that preclude using the data to assess the status of youth in the State who are receiving IDEA services, or reduce the usefulness of the data in other ways.

GAO also found that many of the States that do not routinely collect postsecondary school data on the status of youth receiving IDEA services have expressed interest in doing so. For example, State educational agency officials familiar with State data collection efforts indicated that State and local school systems did not always have appropriate guidance on how data could be collected, analyzed, and used to improve programs and outcomes for youth with disabilities.

Priority: The Secretary establishes a priority for a cooperative agreement to support a National Center on Secondary, Transition, and Postsecondary School Outcomes for Students with Disabilities that will advance the development and use of secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcome information. This center must conduct research activities and provide technical assistance to States, schools, communities, and agencies in developing and implementing practical, efficient, cost-effective, and sustainable strategies for collecting and using outcome data to improve secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcomes.

Knowledge Development Activities of the Center must include, but are not limited to:

(a) Conducting a national survey to identify State systems for the collection of secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcome data on youth with disabilities and to identify policies and practices that sustain these data systems.

(b) Conducting a literature review on the measures and methodologies that are used to collect data on secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcomes for youth with disabilities.

(c) Conducting activities to develop and implement practical, efficient, cost-effective, and sustainable strategies for identifying, collecting, and using student secondary, transition, and postsecondary school data for school improvement.

(d) Reviewing the technical adequacy of measures used to assess secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcomes.

Technical Assistance and Dissemination Activities of the Center must include, but are not limited to:

(a) Maintaining a user-friendly Web site with relevant information and documents in an accessible format, and responding to written and telephone inquiries with research validated information.

(b) Developing and implementing strategic technical assistance to States to assist them in (1) developing strategies for collecting and using secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcome data; (2) developing approaches to assess the nature and extent of problems in data quality and address them; and (3) developing effective models for collecting and using data in districts and school sites and helping States replicate these throughout the State.

(c) Disseminating information on current practices for collection of secondary, transition, and postsecondary school outcome data.

(d) Conducting national and regional meetings, focused trainer forums, and other technical assistance activities on data collection, feedback, and the use of data to improve secondary education, transition, and postsecondary school outcomes. Meetings must be conducted to develop consensus among parents and other stakeholders on outcomes to be measured.

(e) Developing and applying strategies for the dissemination of information to specific audiences including teachers, parents, service providers, administrators, policy makers, and researchers. Such strategies must involve collaboration with other technical assistance providers, organizations, and researchers.

(f) Maintaining communication and collaboration with other Department of Education funded projects (such as the IDEA Partnerships, National Center on Educational Outcomes (NCEO), the Regional Resource Centers, the National Center on Secondary Education and Transition (NCSET), the National Center for Special Education Accountability and Monitoring (CSEAM), and Parent Training and Information Centers (PTIs)), and other agencies and organizations seeking to improve outcomes for youth with disabilities.

(g) Providing technical assistance to States focused on needs identified in a State survey to be conducted by the Center. The Center must also participate, as requested by the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), in providing technical assistance to States identified by OSEP as States in need. The Center must plan for assistance to three identified States per year (similar State assistance efforts have averaged approximately $40,000 per year).

The Center must also:

(a) Meet with the OSEP project officer in the first two months of the project to review and refine the strategic plan of technical assistance and dissemination approaches.

(b) Communicate with the OSEP project officer through monthly phone conversations and e-mail communication as needed. The Center must submit annual performance reports and provide additional written materials as needed for the OSEP project officer to monitor the Center's work.

(c) Establish, and meet at least annually with, a technical workgroup consisting of SEA and LEA data specialists, researchers, and other appropriate individuals to advise on the Center's technical and research activities.

(d) Conduct evaluations of the Center's specific activities and of the overall impact of those activities. The Center must report its evaluation findings annually to the OSEP project officer.

(e) Establish, maintain, and meet at least annually with an advisory committee consisting of representatives of SEAs and LEAs, individuals with disabilities, educators, parents, service providers, professional organizations and advocacy groups, and other appropriate groups to review and advise on the Center's activities and plans. The committee membership must include individuals from communities representing rural, low-income, urban, and limited English proficiency populations.

(f) Budget for (1) a two-day Project Directors' meeting in Washington, DC during each year of the project, (2) at least two annual planning meetings in DC, and (3) at least four two-day trips annually as requested by OSEP to attend meetings such as Department briefings, Department-sponsored conferences, and other OSEP requested activities.

Fourth and Fifth Years of Project: In deciding whether to continue this project for the fourth and fifth years, the Secretary will consider the requirements of 34 CFR 75.253(a), and in addition—

(a) The recommendation of a review team consisting of experts selected by the Secretary which review will be conducted during the last half of the project's second year in Washington, DC. Projects must budget for the travel associated with this one-day intensive review;

(b) The timeliness and effectiveness with which all requirements of the negotiated cooperative agreement have been or are being met by the Center; and

(c) Evidence of the degree to which the Center's activities have contributed to changed practices and improved child outcomes.

Waiver of Proposed Rulemaking: Under the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) the Department generally offers interested parties the opportunity to comment on proposed priorities. However, section 661(e)(2) of IDEA makes the public comment requirements inapplicable to the priority in this notice.

Program Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1461 and 1472.

Applicable Regulations: The Education Department General Administrative Regulations (EDGAR) in 34 CFR parts 74, 75, 77, 80, 81, 82, 84, 85, 86, 97, 98, and 99.
