

Working Partners

for an Alcohol- and Drug-Free Workplace

Working Partners

for an Alcohol- and Drug-Free Workplace

"A drug-free workplace is a safer workplace.

Drug-free workplaces are linked to drug-free families, schools and communities. Working Partners helps employers and employees work together to ensure a safe and drug-free environment for everyone. They also play a vital role in President George W. Bush's campaign to reduce drug use in our country and halt the economic, social and emotional devastation in its wake."

Elaine L. Chao
Secretary of Labor

The Working Partners program was developed by the U.S. Department of Labor to help employers and employees establish and maintain drug-free workplaces.

For more information, please visit the Working Partners Web site at www.dol.gov/workingpartners.

Working Partners
U.S. Department of Labor
200 Constitution Avenue, Room S-2312
Washington, DC 20210
Phone: (202) 693-5919
Fax: (202) 693-5961
E-mail: webwp@dol.gov

U.S. Department of Labor

All Working Partners materials may be reproduced and distributed without permission from the U.S. Department of Labor.

U.S. Department of Labor

www.dol.gov/workingpartners

Helping America's Businesses Benefit from Being Drug Free

TOOLS and RESOURCES

www.dol.gov/workingpartners

American industry pays a high price for alcohol and drug abuse. Some costs—increased absences, accidents and errors—are obvious. Others, such as low employee morale and high illness rates, are less so, but the effects are equally harmful.

Employers and employees have a stake in protecting the workplace from alcohol and drug abuse by being educated about its dangers and encouraging individuals with alcohol and drug problems to seek help. To help workers benefit from being drug free and to further its mission to help employers maintain safe and healthy workplaces, the U.S. Department of Labor created Working Partners for an Alcohol- and Drug-Free Workplace.

Working Partners raises awareness about the impact drugs and alcohol have on the workplace and provides resources that help establish drug-free workplace programs that protect worker safety and health.

Drug-Free Workplace Advisor

Web-based tool that can be used to build tailored drug-free workplace policies and programs and informs companies and workers about coverage and requirements of the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988.

Substance Abuse Information Database (SAID)

Online repository of hundreds of documents related to workplace alcohol and drug abuse, including sample policies, surveys, research reports, training and educational materials, and legal and regulatory information.

Resource Directories

Regularly updated lists of national, state and local resources, including:

- Summaries of state laws related to workplace drug and alcohol abuse
- Community-based organizations that assist in making workplaces drug free
- Helplines that offer assistance to individuals who have, or know someone who has, an alcohol or drug problem

Training and Educational Materials

Resources to provide drug and alcohol education in the workplace such as:

- Brochures, presentation materials, articles and fact sheets, and posters
- Substance abuse basics that describe how alcohol and drug abuse interferes with securing and maintaining employment
- Statistics about how substance abuse impacts the workplace in general and across a range of industries

All Working Partners tools and resources—including information about how to develop a drug-free workplace policy from start to finish—are available online at www.dol.gov/workingpartners.