(The statutes are found in Title 16 United States Code and the regulations promulgated thereunder in Title 50 Code of Federal Regulations.)

Wildlife Investigation Program

- Wildlife Inspectors are stationed at Ports of Entry to ensure that fish or wildlife protected under the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) and other laws do not enter into illegal international trade.
- Over 140 nations are party to CITES and more than 1,000 species of animals and plants are officially listed under U.S. law as endangered or threatened.
- Wildlife Inspectors also enforce regulations requiring the humane shipment of fish and wildlife being legally imported into or exported from the U.S.
