Significance of the National Crime Victim Service Awards

As the discipline of crime victim services has grown over the years, so has the number of remarkable individuals and organizations that significantly contribute to its success. Today, the field includes countless people and programs that, through vision, action, and leadership, improve the lives of victims in the aftermath of crime.

Each year, through the prestigious National Crime Victim Service Awards, the President and Attorney General honor extraordinary programs and individuals who provide services to victims of crime. The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) within the U.S. Department of Justice coordinates the submission of nominations for programs and individuals whose work has been particularly innovative and pioneering, and who exemplify the long-term commitment that characterizes many of our Nation's victim service providers, some of whom are themselves victims of crime. The award-winning nominees will be honored at a special ceremony held during National Crime Victims' Rights Week. Biographies and accomplishments of former award recipients can be found on OVC's Home Page at <http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ovc/>.

About the Office for Victims of Crime

OVC was created in 1984 and formally established by a 1988 amendment to the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 to support services for crime victims and training and technical assistance for the field and to advocate for the fair treatment of victims. For more information about OVC, call the OVC Resource Center at 1-800-627-6872, or visit the OVC Home Page.

Nomination Submission Guidelines

1. Each nomination form must be accompanied by a nomination letter. If you, the nominator, are affiliated with an organization, your nomination letter should be submitted on official stationery and contain your signature, as well as your position/title. No anonymous nominations will be accepted.

2. Each form must include the nominee's full name, date of birth, social security number, address, telephone number, and signature. If you are nominating an organization, provide the name, date of birth, and social security number of the individual who would accept the award.
3. Your nomination letter should not exceed two single-spaced, single-sided, letter-sized (8 1/2" x 11") pages. It should provide as much as you know about your nominee's accomplishments and services in support of crime victims. The nomination letter should address each of the following questions:
 - What activities has the nominee accomplished on behalf of crime victims?
