

Classifier's Note: A classifier's note is very similar to an evaluation statement, but it is less comprehensive and less formal. While brief (usually about a page), the note will contain enough information to form the basis for a full evaluation statement if the writing of such a statement should ever become necessary (e.g., in the event of an appeal).

See Classification Reference Manual, Tab 9., Preparation of Evaluation Statements for samples.