Subject: Vote = ICANN +1

Verisign has had shady and corporate greedy influences in the past which continue to this day.ICANN is the correct choice here.

If ICANN government charter is to manage and secure the internet & its development they should be the ones with the keys.
If Verisign had it neither would have full accountability and if something ever went wrong they would just blame each other.
No one would be able to prove a thing.
