Title: Transportation Conformity Determinations for Federally Funded and Approved Transportation Plans, Programs and Projects Under the New 8-hour Ozone and PM_{2.5} National Ambient Air Quality Standards, EPA ICR Number 2130.01.

Abstract: Transportation conformity determinations are required under Clean Air Act section 176(c) (42 U.S.C. 7506(c)) to ensure that federally supported transportation activities are consistent with ("conform to") the purpose of the state air quality implementation plan (SIP). Conformity to the purpose of the SIP means that transportation activities will not cause new air quality violations, worsen existing violations, or delay timely attainment of the relevant air quality standards. Transportation conformity applies under EPA's conformity regulations at 40 CFR part 93, subpart A, to areas that are designated nonattainment and those redesignated to attainment after 1990 ("maintenance areas" with plans developed under Clean Air Act section 175A) for transportation-related criteria pollutants. The Clean Air Act gives EPA the statutory authority to establish the criteria and procedures for determining whether transportation activities conform to the SIP.

On November 5, 2003, EPA proposed conformity requirements for areas designated nonattainment under the new 8-hour ozone and PM_{2.5} national ambient air quality standards (NAAQS or "standards"; 68 FR 62690). EPA has submitted this ICR to address the additional burden associated with making conformity determinations for the new standards over the first three years after nonattainment designations. The final rule will respond to any OMB or public comments on the information collection requirements contained in this proposal. Specifically, the ICR includes additional burden estimates for conducting conformity determinations on transportation plans, transportation improvements programs (TIPS) and projects in the following types of metropolitan and isolated rural areas:

- Brand new nonattainment areas that have never demonstrated conformity for any pollutant and standard;
- Existing nonattainment and maintenance areas with previous conformity experience that will be demonstrating conformity for an additional pollutant (e.g., existing areas that will be doing conformity for PM_{2.5}, a new pollutant not previously covered by the rule); and
- New nonattainment counties that may be added to some existing 1-hour ozone areas that expand under the 8-hour ozone standard.

The information collection requirements of EPA's existing transportation conformity rule are covered under the Department of Transportation's (DOT's) ICR entitled, "Metropolitan and Statewide Transportation Planning," with the OMB Control Number 2132-0529. The DOT ICR accounts for conformity burden in 1-hour ozone, CO, PM₁₀, and NO₂ nonattainment and maintenance areas. EPA's ICR includes only the incremental burden associated with making conformity determinations for the new standards, including start-up costs that areas will incur in the first three years after nonattainment designations (e.g., rule familiarization and conformity training in brand new areas). This ICR does not address the development of transportation plans and TIPS or motor vehicle emissions budgets, since these documents are developed to meet other requirements.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations in 40 CFR are listed in 40 CFR part 9 and are identified on the form and/or instrument, if applicable.

The EPA would like to solicit comments to:

- (i) Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the Agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;
- (ii) Evaluate the accuracy of the Agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- (iii) Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- (iv) Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

Burden Statement: The ICR estimates the annual state and local burden for conformity activities in each metropolitan nonattainment area that incurs additional burden under the new ozone and PM_{2.5} standards to be 325 hours/year at a cost of $16,320/year. Additional federal burden associated with conformity for each of these metropolitan nonattainment areas is approximately 127 hours/year at a cost of $6,400/year. Average State and local burden associated with conformity for each isolated rural nonattainment area that incurs new burden under the new standards is 42 hours/year at a cost of $2,111/year. New federal burden associated with each of these areas is calculated to be 10 hours/year at a cost of $503/year.

Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.

Respondents/Affected Entities: State and local entities affected by this ICR include metropolitan planning organizations, local transit agencies, State departments of transportation, and State and local air quality agencies. Federal agencies affected by this ICR include the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), Federal Transit Administration (FTA), and EPA.

Estimated Number of Respondents: This ICR estimates that approximately 86 metropolitan and isolated rural areas designated nonattainment for one or both of the new 8-hour ozone and PM_{2.5} standards will incur additional burden.

Frequency of Response: The information collections described in this ICR must be completed before a transportation plan, TIP or project conformity determination is made. Transportation plans must be found to conform at least every three years. TEA-21 and DOT's planning regulations require that TIPs be updated at least every two years, therefore, a conformity determination on the TIP in metropolitan areas is required at least every two years. Conformity determinations on projects in metropolitan and isolated rural areas are required on an as needed basis. This ICR assumes that areas with additional burden will complete approximately 1,510 total plan, TIP and project-level conformity determinations every year.

Estimated Total Annual Hour Burden: The ICR estimates a total annual burden to all Federal, State and local agency respondents over the 3-year period covered by this ICR to be 35,683 hours. Total annual burden for State and local agencies alone is 25,669, while the total annual burden for Federal agency respondents is 10,014 hours.

Estimated Total Annual Cost: The total annual cost to all Federal, State and local agency respondents over the 3-year period covered by this ICR is estimated to be approximately $1,793,072. The annual cost for all State and local agencies is $1,289,869, while the annual cost portion for Federal agency respondents is $503,203.

Changes in the Estimates: Not applicable. This is a new ICR submission, rather than a change to an existing EPA ICR.

Dated: December 23, 2003.

Leila Cook,

Acting Director, Transportation and Regional Programs Division, Office of Transportation and Air Quality.
