

Bill Percival
Supply Chain Expert
Gillani, Inc.

Bill Percival, has over 25 years of supply chain consulting and IT solutions deployment experience in wholesale, retail and manufacturing industries. His breadth of consulting experience ranges from project management, business process analysis & re-engineering, to analysis and design of supply chain, distribution, warehouse and accounting systems.

He has implemented advanced warehouse distribution, supply chain and ERP systems for Major automotive parts manufacturers & distributors, hard-goods distributors, food retailers, and electronics distributor and retailers.

Syed Kamal
CEO
Gillani, Inc.

Syed Kamal, has over 16 years of application development, IT consulting and executive management experience. His breadth of consulting experience ranges from strategic systems planning, business process re-engineering and process management to analysis, design and development of information systems.

Through his many years of dedication to information technology, Kamal helped a number of companies including GE, Verizon, AT&T, BrightPoint and Keystone in development and implementing a wide variety of business critical applications. His industry experience is broad, including wholesale, retail, manufacturing, healthcare, telecom, hospitality and technology industries.

