Background

The Secretary proposes to amend §§ 8.1 through 8.3 of title 34 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). The regulations in 34 CFR part 8 pertain to production of information pursuant to demands in judicial or administrative proceedings. We are proposing these amendments to require that former Department employees follow the same set of prescribed instructions and procedures that are required of current employees, with respect to the production and disclosure of material or information acquired during the performance of the former employee's official duties or because of the former employee's official status when responding to judicially enforceable subpoenas or demands in judicial or administrative proceedings, except demands from the Congress or in Federal grand jury proceedings.

Significant Proposed Regulations

We do not address proposed regulatory provisions that are technical or otherwise minor in effect.

Sections 8.1 Through 8.3—Production of Information Pursuant to Demands in Judicial or Administrative Proceedings

Statute: 5 U.S.C. 301 allows an agency head to prescribe regulations concerning the conduct of its employees, the performance of its business and the custody and use of agency records.

Current Regulations: The current regulations in 34 CFR part 8 pertain to production of information pursuant to demands in judicial or administrative proceedings. The regulations prescribe instructions and procedures to be followed by current Department employees with respect to the production and disclosure of material or information acquired as a result of performance of the person's official duties or because of the person's official status in response to judicially enforceable subpoenas or demands in judicial or administrative proceedings, except demands from the Congress or in Federal grand jury proceedings.

The current regulations also specify what requirements requestors must follow when submitting a demand for testimony or records.

Proposed Regulations: The proposed regulations would modify the definition of employee to include both current and former employees. With this change, the regulations would expressly require former employees to follow the uniform prescribed instructions and procedures that current employees must follow concerning disclosure or production of agency materials or information acquired during their employment with the Department in response to a judicially enforceable subpoena or demand. The proposed regulations also provide that a demand for testimony or records expressly include a statement of why the release of information would not be contrary to an interest of the Department or the United States.

Reason: The Department is proposing to amend the definition of employee to include both current and former employees in order to eliminate any confusion regarding whether the regulations concerning disclosure or production of agency materials or information in judicial or administrative proceedings in response to a judicially enforceable subpoena or demand apply to former employees.

These proposed regulations are intended to provide an orderly means by which both current and former employees respond to demands for material and information covered by the regulations, and to protect the interests of the United States, including the safeguarding of privileged or otherwise sensitive information. The increase in the number of subpoenas and other demands to current and former employees in judicial or administrative proceedings, particularly in cases in which neither the Department nor the United States is a party, necessitates detailed and uniform instructions to be followed by both current and former employees. Additionally, the express inclusion of former employees aligns the Department's regulations to be more consistent with those of other agencies, including the U.S. Department of Justice.

We are proposing to amend the requirements for submitting a demand for testimony or records in order to be consistent with current regulations which identify the items the Secretary must consider when determining whether to grant the request. The Department has an interest in protecting nonpublic materials and information, which extends to subpoenas that seek information that is privileged or confidential, or both, acquired during employment at the Department. The changes are intended to promote consistency in the agency's assertion of privileges and objections, and thereby prevent harm that may result from inappropriate disclosure of confidential information.

These proposed regulations are consistent with the decision in the landmark case of United States ex rel. Touhy v. Ragen, 340 U.S. 462 (1951), in which the Supreme Court upheld the ability of an agency head to issue regulations for the preservation of agency records, and determined that an agency employee, acting pursuant to such instructions, could not be held in contempt of court for declining to produce records in response to a subpoena duces tecum. We do not intend the proposed regulations to preclude disclosures or productions in compliance with Court orders except where disclosure would be inappropriate even if required by a court, e.g., where disclosure would be legally prohibited or would be contrary to a recognized privilege.

Executive Order 12866

1. Potential Costs and Benefits

Under Executive Order 12866, we have assessed the potential costs and benefits of this regulatory action.

The potential costs associated with the proposed regulations are those resulting from statutory requirements and those we have determined to be necessary for administering this program effectively and efficiently.

In assessing the potential costs and benefits—both quantitative and qualitative—of this regulatory action, we have determined that the benefits would justify the costs.

We have also determined that this regulatory action would not unduly interfere with State, local, and tribal governments in the exercise of their governmental functions.

Summary of Potential Costs and Benefits

The Secretary has assessed the potential costs and benefits of this regulatory action and has determined that the benefits would justify the costs. These changes are intended to promote consistency in the Department's assertion of privileges and objections, and thereby prevent harm that may result from inappropriate disclosure of confidential information or inappropriate allocation of agency resources. The anticipated costs of this regulatory action would be minimal.

2. Clarity of the Regulations

Executive Order 12866 and the Presidential memorandum on "Plain Language in Government Writing" require each agency to write regulations that are easy to understand.

The Secretary invites comments on how to make these proposed regulations easier to understand, including answers to questions such as the following:

- Are the requirements in the proposed regulations clearly stated?
- Do the proposed regulations contain technical terms or other wording that interferes with their clarity?
- Does the format of the proposed regulations (grouping and order of sections, use of headings, paragraphing, etc.) aid or reduce their clarity?
- Would the proposed regulations be easier to understand if we divided them into more (but shorter) sections? (A "section" is preceded by the symbol "$" and a numbered heading; for example, § 8.1 What is the scope and application of this part?.)
- Could the description of the proposed regulations in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section of this preamble be more helpful in making the proposed regulations easier to understand? If so, how?
- What else could we do to make the proposed regulations easier to understand?

To send any comments that concern how the Department could make these proposed regulations easier to understand, see the instructions in the ADDRESSES section of this preamble.

Regulatory Flexibility Act Certification

The Secretary certifies that these proposed regulations would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

These proposed regulations do not contain any information collection requirements.

Intergovernmental Review

These proposed regulations are not subject to Executive Order 12372 and the regulations in 34 CFR part 79.

[EPA-R07-OAR-2007-1143; FRL-8510-7]

Approval and Promulgation of State Plans for Designated Facilities and Pollutants; Kansas; Clean Air Mercury Rule

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: EPA is proposing to approve the State Plan submitted by Kansas on June 19, 2007. The plan addresses the requirements of EPA's Clean Air Mercury Rule (CAMR), promulgated on May 18, 2005, and subsequently revised on June 9, 2006. EPA is proposing to determine that the submitted State Plan fully meets the CAMR requirements for Kansas.

CAMR requires States to regulate emissions of mercury (Hg) from large coal-fired electric generating units (EGUs). CAMR establishes State budgets for annual EGU Hg emissions and requires States to submit State Plans to ensure that annual EGU Hg emissions will not exceed the applicable State budget. States have the flexibility to choose which control measures to adopt to achieve the budgets, including
