SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) is the Federal agency assigned to implement the National Initiative for Increasing Seat Belt Use Nationwide, being carried out under the Buckle Up America Campaign. Safety belts have proven to be the most effective occupant protection device in saving lives and preventing injuries in motor vehicle crashes.

The use of safety belts in motor vehicles is less common in minority and low-income populations than in the general population. Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for Hispanics from ages 1-34 years old. A recent medical study showed that Hispanic drivers have a lower safety belt use than non-Hispanic whites, with correspondingly higher fatality rates in traffic crashes. These factors necessitate programs to increase safety belt use in this group.

Hispanics currently make up 13 percent of the U.S. population and are projected to make up 24 percent by the year 2050. As the percentage of Hispanics increases, it is anticipated that a greater proportion of future crash injuries and fatalities will come from the Hispanic community.

NHTSA's mission is to ensure that everyone is buckled up, and to develop and implement national activities that will generate positive change in safety belt and child safety seat use. NHTSA programs are tailored to meet the unique needs of communities, are evidence-based and use proven strategies, and rely on close collaborations and partnerships with community-based service providers.

As part of this on-going effort to define strategies that work best to increase safety belt use in Hispanics communities, NHTSA announces this demonstration program to explore ways to reduce injuries and fatalities among this group. Through this Cooperative Agreement, NHTSA anticipates increasing safety belt use in communities with large Hispanic populations and identifying effective strategies that can be replicated in other Hispanic communities across the Nation.

Objective

The objective of this demonstration program is to increase safety belt use among Hispanics. This will be accomplished through the selection of an organization to develop, oversee and evaluate new, culturally appropriate, occupant protection programs to raise safety belt and child restraint use within Hispanic communities. The program will be based in communities with large concentrations of Hispanics and will be developed to affect long-term behavioral changes. At the conclusion of this demonstration program, a detailed report outlining the strategies, successes, and challenges of the program will be compiled. The report
