SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Bond Management Information System (BMIS) is a collection of records used to record and maintain for bond administration and financial management purposes the immigration bonds that are posted for aliens. Immigration bond administration includes tracking the issuance, maintenance, cancellation, and revocation of bonds. Financial management activities include collection, reimbursement or forfeiture of the bond principal, and calculation and payment of interest, including issuance of IRS Form 1099 to the obligor reflecting interest paid on the bond. Pursuant to the savings clause in the Homeland Security Act of 2002, Public Law 107-296, section 1512, 116 Stat.

2310 (November 25, 2002), DHS and its components and offices have relied on preexisting Privacy Act systems of records notices for the maintenance of records that concern the administration and financial management operations of ICE's immigration bond program.

The BMIS system of records includes immigration bond data maintained in ICE's enforcement records and in BMIS Web, a new immigration bond management database that will be used by the ICE Office of Financial Management to track the life cycle of immigration bonds from the time an individual posts the bond at an ICE Detention and Removal Operations (DRO) field office until the bond is considered closed. BMIS Web launched as a pilot in August 2008, with full deployment scheduled for September 2008. With the deployment of BMIS Web, ICE will retire the predecessor database known as BMIS. A PIA was conducted on BMIS Web because it is a new system that will maintain personally identifiable information. The BMIS Web PIA is available on the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Privacy Office Web site at <http://www.dhs.gov/privacy>.

An immigration bond is a formal written guaranty by the obligor posted as security for the amount of the bond that assures DHS that all of the conditions of the bond will be fulfilled by the obligor as guarantor. Immigration bonds may be posted for the release from detention of aliens in removal proceedings and/or as voluntary departure bonds. Immigration bonds may be posted by surety companies that have obtained a certificate to do so from the U.S. Treasury Department, or by an individual's or entity's pledge (deposit) of cash or U.S. securities. If the conditions of a bond are satisfied, the bond must be cancelled and, if a cash bond, the principal and accrued interest returned to the obligor. If a bond is declared breached, the cash deposited as security will be forfeited and accrued interest returned to the obligor. Surety companies must make payment to DHS for the full amount of the bond plus interest and penalties. All of these bond activities are tracked in BMIS.

BMIS maintains personal information about individuals who post cash bonds (known as obligors) or who request a surety bond (known as indemnitors), the bonded alien, the surety company and bonding agency/agent, and other general information about the bond itself, such as amount, number, date, etc. Information about the bonded alien may be shared with individuals or entities seeking to post or that have already posted an immigration bond for the alien. BMIS information is also shared with the Internal Revenue Service to report any interest paid to obligors. Information about surety bonds may be shared with Department of Justice legal counsel; the U.S. Treasury Department; insurance investigators for surety companies; or bonding agencies and legal representatives for surety companies and bonding agencies. This information is shared when ICE is pursuing further collection efforts on the surety bond receivables or if an agent or bonding agency that posts surety bonds is being investigated for its business practices.

Consistent with DHS's information sharing mission, information stored in BMIS may be shared with other DHS components, as well as appropriate Federal, State, local, tribal, foreign, or international government agencies. This sharing will only take place after DHS determines that the receiving component or agency has a need to know the information to carry out national security, law enforcement, immigration, intelligence, or other functions consistent with the routine uses set forth in this system of records notice.

II. Privacy Act

The Privacy Act embodies fair information principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which the United States Government collects, maintains, uses, and disseminates personally identifiable information. The Privacy Act applies to information that is maintained in a "system of records." A "system of records" is a group of any records under the control of an agency for which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual. In the Privacy Act, an individual is defined to encompass United States citizens and lawful permanent residents. As a matter of policy, DHS extends administrative Privacy Act protections to all individuals where systems of records maintain information on U.S. citizens, lawful permanent residents, and visitors. Individuals may request access to their own records that are maintained in a system of records in the possession or under the control of DHS by complying with DHS Privacy Act regulations, 6 CFR Part 5.

The Privacy Act requires each agency to publish in the Federal Register a description denoting the type and character of each system of records that the agency maintains, and the routine uses that are contained in each system in order to make agency record keeping practices transparent, to notify individuals regarding the uses to which personally identifiable information is put, and to assist individuals to more easily find such files within the agency. Below is the description of the BMIS system of records.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), DHS has provided a report of this new system of records to the Office of Management and Budget and to Congress.
