a.m. eastern time, and depository institutions would participate in the earlier operating hours on a voluntary basis.² The new opening time would be 9 p.m. for on-line funds transfers with a business date of the following calendar day.³ An earlier Fedwire opening time would further the smooth functioning and continued development of the payments system, as well as improve efficiency and reduce risk in making payments and settlements. The closing time for the service would remain unchanged at 6:30 p.m., thereby expanding the service's operating hours from eighteen hours to twenty-one and one-half hours each business day. The proposal would not affect the operating hours for the origination and telephone advice of credit for off-line funds transfers and would not affect the operating hours for the Fedwire Securities Service.⁴
