GPO'S BEST SELLING GOVERNMENT PERIODICAL PROVIDES VALUABLE INFORMATION TO CONSUMERS

What are the risk factors for stroke? How safe is America's food supply? Can osteoporosis be prevented or cured? Health issues such as these concern many Americans. But, when health information is conflicting or sensational, confusion occurs.

FDA Consumer, the official magazine of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, covers these topics and many more in a responsible, authoritative manner. FDA Consumer cuts through the confusion to give its readers clear, concise health information they can use every day.

GPO's Superintendent of Documents Francis J. Buckley, Jr., says that FDA Consumer, with almost 20,000 subscribers, is the most popular Government periodical sold. GPO is the dissemination source for more than 600 periodicals from the legislative, judicial, and executive branches of the Government.

“The quality of articles in the FDA Consumer is exceptional,” says Buckley. “They are well-written, easy to understand by lay persons, and cover topics of current interest to the public. It’s no wonder FDA Consumer is our best-selling periodical.”

“Education of patients and consumers is one of the FDA’s most important public health responsibilities,” says Michael A. Friedman, M.D., acting commissioner of Food and Drugs. “For more than three decades, FDA Consumer magazine has informed Americans about the safety and effectiveness of products the agency regulates. We’re delighted that our magazine ranks number one.”

FDA Consumer can be purchased for $9 a year ($11.25 foreign) for six bimonthly issues. To charge your subscription, call 202-512-1800 or fax to 202-512-2250. You also can mail an order to the Superintendent of Documents, PO Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954. Mail orders must include charge card number and expiration date or a check made out to the Superintendent of Documents.
