

Q

QUESTION:

What is the connection between water quality and FUDGE ice cream?

ANSWER:

YOU!

The city's Stormwater Quality office is working hard trying to protect Boulder's streams and lakes. We have limited resources for public education and want to spend those resources effectively. By answering the questions below you can help us determine where to focus our education and outreach efforts. In return, reward yourself with a little treat - courtesy of Glacier Homemade Ice Cream.

How would you finish this sentence?

Rinsing out a paintbrush in the street gutter or washing a car on the street . . .

- is okay, because the water flows into the sewer and to the wastewater treatment plant.
- is not a good idea, because the water flows to the nearest creek or pond.
- I have no idea.
