These data are based on information voluntarily reported by state health departments to CDC. West Nile virus (WNV) infection was determined by laboratory testing. Case locations are based on the county of residence (or county equivalent) of the patient, not the medical facility location. Note that the map includes all areas of positive (confirmed or probable) WNV results, but not necessarily all areas with submitted samples or areas with no reports.

Disclaimer: These data are provisional and may be revised or adjusted in the future.
