

Quick Guide to the American Community Survey (ACS) Products in American FactFinder

2007 ACS 1-Year Estimates – September 23, 2008 2005–2007 ACS 3-Year Estimates – December 9, 2008

The American Community Survey (ACS) is a nationwide survey designed to provide communities a fresh look at how they are changing. It is a critical element in the Census Bureau's reengineered 2010 census plan. The ACS collects information such as age, race, income, commute time to work, home value, veteran status, and other important data from U.S. households. As with the official decennial census, information about individuals will remain confidential.

Data users can access this detailed demographic and housing data annually instead of waiting 10 years for decennial census data, helping them make more accurate, timely and informed decisions.

The ACS began in 1996 and has expanded each subsequent year. Full nationwide implementation began in January 2005. The 2005, 2006, and 2007 ACS data are available for geographic areas with a population of 65,000 or more. In December 2008, data will be available for areas of 20,000 or more, as a three-year period estimate (2005-2007). For small areas less than 20,000, it will take 5 years to accumulate a large enough sample to provide estimates with accuracy similar to the decennial census. Beginning in 2010, and every year thereafter, the nation will have this five-year period estimate available, a resource that shows the most up-to-date estimates annually for neighborhoods and rural areas.

The Puerto Rico Community Survey (PRCS) is the equivalent of the American Community Survey for Puerto Rico. PRCS data are released in both English and Spanish. For the English release, PRCS and ACS data are presented together as the American Community Survey data set.

If you have questions or comments about the data content or interpretation, definitions, or methodology of the American Community Survey please contact "cmo.acs@census.gov".

B.1 Data Sets page

- The 2007 American Community Survey one-year data set has been added. Note: in December 2008 the 2005-2007 ACS 3-year data set will be added. At that point, the 3-year data products will become the default. See the “Explain 1-year vs. 3-year estimates” link for more details about the different datasets.
- A Puerto Rico Community Survey (PRCS) bullet is seen by moving your mouse over the Data Sets button in the left menu. PRCS and ACS data are presented together as the American Community Survey data set.
 - PRCS data will be released in English with the ACS data
 - PRCS data to be released in Spanish in December 2008
- Data sets prior to 2005 have been archived. Use the link under Other Resources to access earlier data.

Data Profiles allow users to view detailed social, economic, housing and demographic information about a particular geography. As viewed in the illustration above, there are five types; the first four roughly correspond to the Demographic Profile from the decennial census. The fifth type of profile, the Narrative Profile, is a product unique to the American Community Survey.

Beginning with 2007, the Data Profiles have two new columns, “Percent” and “Margin of Error” for the percent estimate.

The Data Profiles have a head note directing users to the Population Estimates data tables for the official estimates of population for nation state, counties, cities and towns, and estimates of housing units for states and counties:

Although the American Community Survey (ACS) produces population, demographic and housing unit estimates, it is the Census Bureau's Population Estimates Program that produces and disseminates the official estimates of the population for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns and estimates of housing units for states and counties.

Ranking Tables are designed to allow comparison of similar geographic areas on a given characteristic (e.g., “Percent of Children Under 18 Years Below Poverty Level in the Past 12 Months”). There are 79

Ranking Tables on a variety of topics. The table numbers correspond to those of the Thematic Map and Geographic Comparison Table on the same subject; for example, R1704 corresponds to the Thematic Map M1704 and Geographic Comparison Table GCT1704.

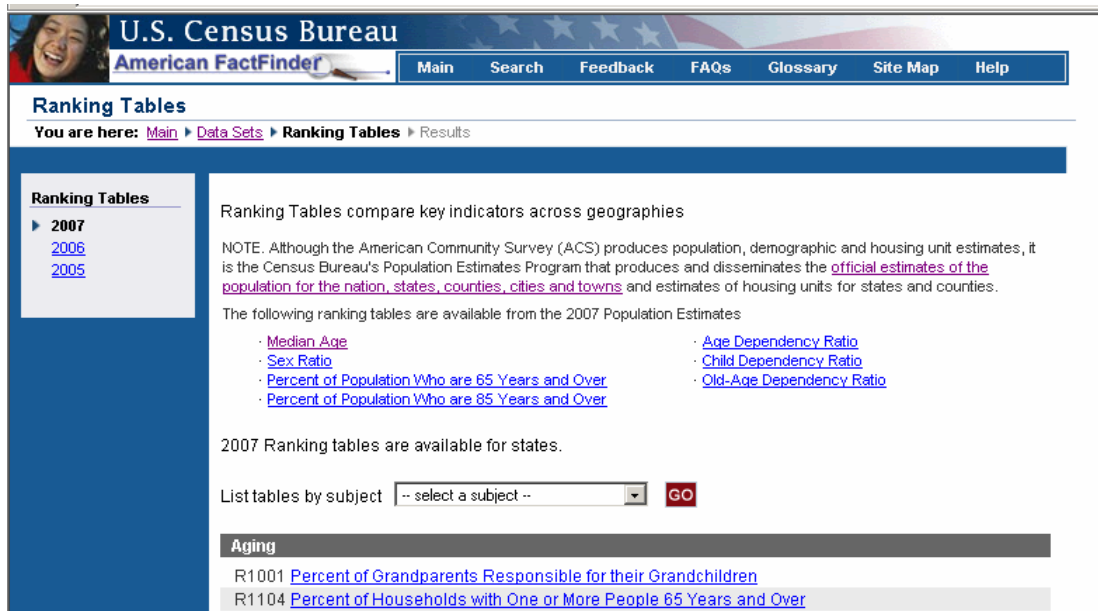

Features for 2007 Ranking Tables:

- Ranking Tables are only available for states. As in past years, ACS, Geographic Comparison Tables provide data on the same topics as ranking tables for more detailed levels of geography, without the ranks.
- Ranking tables are created only from the one-year data. Therefore, this product is not included in the 2005-2007 three-year data products to be released in December 2008.
- The 2006 and 2007 Ranking Tables have a head note on the selection page, directing users to the Population Estimates data tables for the official estimates of population for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns, and estimates of housing unit for states and counties. Estimates for the nation, states and counties include age, sex, race, Hispanic origin:

Although the American Community Survey (ACS) produces population, demographic and housing unit estimates, it is the Census Bureau's Population Estimates Program that produces and disseminates the official estimates of the population for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns and estimates of housing units for states and counties.

- Ranking Tables R0101 – R0107 were replaced on the Ranking Table Selection page by links to comparable state-level rankings from the Population Estimates Program.

Confidence Interval Charts

Fig. B5-4. 2007 Ranking Table Confidence Interval Chart

Confidence Interval Charts depict the degree of uncertainty about the Ranking Table estimate in a chart form. Two bars represent the confidence interval – the left bar representing the lower bound and the right bar representing the upper bound. The margin of error is the difference between the estimate and the upper bound, or the lower bound. For example, in the chart above, the confidence interval for the estimate for the District of Columbia extends from about 19% to about 26%. The estimate is exactly in the middle of the confidence interval, 22.7%. The margin of error is expressed as +/-3.6%.

The further apart the bars, the greater the uncertainty about the estimate. A diamond-shaped point lying between the two bars indicates the estimate.

Move the cursor over the row containing the geography to view the associated Lower Bound (LB), Estimate (Est.), and Upper Bound (UB).

Definition: A margin of error is the difference between an estimate and its upper or lower confidence bounds. Confidence bounds can be created by adding the margin of error to the estimate (for an upper bound) and subtracting the margin of error from the estimate (for a lower bound). All published margins of error for the American Community Survey are based on a 90 percent confidence level.

For example, when the estimate for the percent of 65 year olds below the poverty level in Mississippi is 15.7%, and the margin of error is +/- 0.8, we interpret the confidence interval as follows; if we were to conduct the survey 100 times, then about 90 of the resulting confidence intervals would contain the true percentage of respondents who report incomes below the poverty level. This is calculated by first subtracting the margin of error (0.8%) from the estimate (15.7%), giving the lower bound for the estimate (14.9%). Then to calculate the upper bound, you add the margin of error (0.8%) to the estimate (15.7%), to get 16.5%.

B.6 Subject Tables

Fig. B6-1. 2007 Subject Table Selection Page

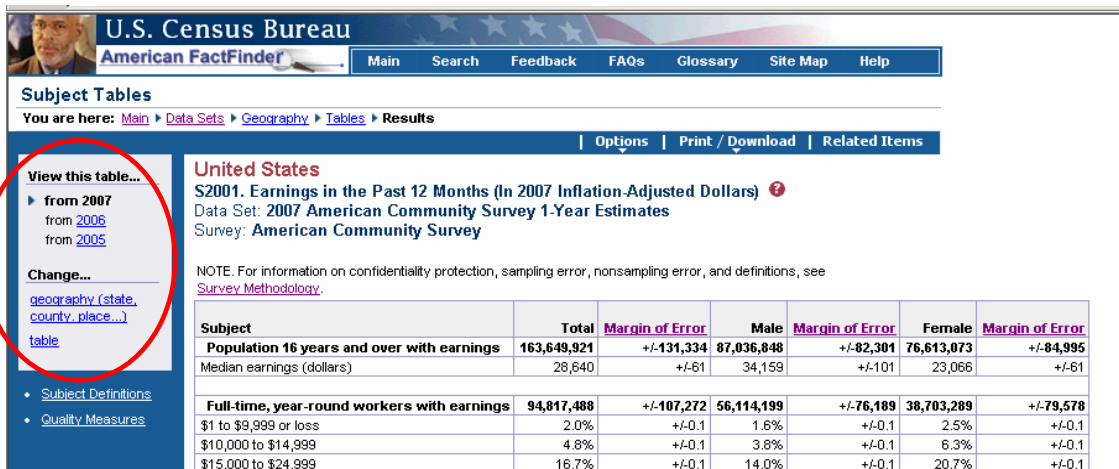

Subject Tables are similar to the decennial census Quick Tables with data on popular topics for a single geographic area. Some subject tables provide detailed information for a population group such as teenagers, people in poverty, the older population, workers, children, grandchildren, and the foreign born. These subject tables are sourced from microdata. For a complete list of Subject Tables, including those sourced from microdata, see Appendix 2. - Geographic components (urban/rural, metropolitan/micropolitan statistical areas, etc.) are selectable using the Options link on the blue banner of a table result page.
- Geography-sensitive table selection for Subject tables—table selection page grays out tables for which data are not available for the selected geography.

Choose a geographic component → Click Add → Click OK → View table for selected geographic component

Geography Sensitive Table Selection

Geography selection is more limited for subject tables sourced from microdata. Tables that are not available for the chosen geography are grayed out on the Subject Table selection page. Click on the “N/A” link for an explanation as to why data is not available. The note provides a specific reason why the data is not available.

All the detailed data on basic characteristics for the 2007 ACS can be found in the Detailed Tables. These tables are the foundation upon which the other ACS data products are built. Estimates and the associated Margin of Error (MOE) are shown.

There are hundreds of tables, many iterated by race and Hispanic origin. You can choose from all the available geographic areas and all the tables. Beginning with the 2007 ACS the Quality Measure tables have been added to American FactFinder. These tables are provided to help users get a better sense and understanding of the quality of the data. This information was formerly presented on the ACS website.

All Detailed Tables have a head note directing users to the Population Estimates data tables for the official estimates of the population for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns, and estimates of housing units for states and counties. Official estimates for age, sex, race and Hispanic origin are available for states and counties:

Collapsed/Non-collapsed Detailed Tables

ACS detailed tables may be displayed in two versions:

- 1) Base table, for which the identification begins with “B” – displays more detailed data
- 2) Collapsed version, for which the table identification begins with “C”—displays less detail than “B”

The collapsed “C” table is very similar to a “B” table with the same number (e.g., C07001 and B07001), but two or more lines from the B table have been collapsed to a single line in the C table. For example, the lines “75 to 79 years”, “80 to 84 years” and “85 years and over” from a B table may be collapsed to a single line of “75 years and over” in a C table. Not every B table has a collapsed version.

- Both versions of the base tables are accessed from the Detailed Tables path;
- Both versions of the base tables are listed together in pairs in the Subject, Key Word, and Show all tables view on the Select Tables page;

Fig. B8-5. 2007 Detailed Tables – Select Tables page – “B” and “C” tables shown

- Users will be able to switch between the base table and the collapsed version table using a hyperlink displayed above the table result.

B.9 Geographic Comparison Tables

Fig. B9-1. 2007 Geographic Comparison Table

Geographic Comparison Tables (GCTs) are available for each characteristic available in a Ranking Table and for 7 additional characteristics. Appendix 1 outlines the characteristics available for the GCT's. While Ranking Tables are available for the U.S. and states only, the GCTs are available for lower level geographic areas. Geographic Comparison Tables are designed to allow users to:

- Compare data across similar geographic areas for popular themes
- Compare all states, all counties, all metropolitan and micropolitan statistical areas, etc.

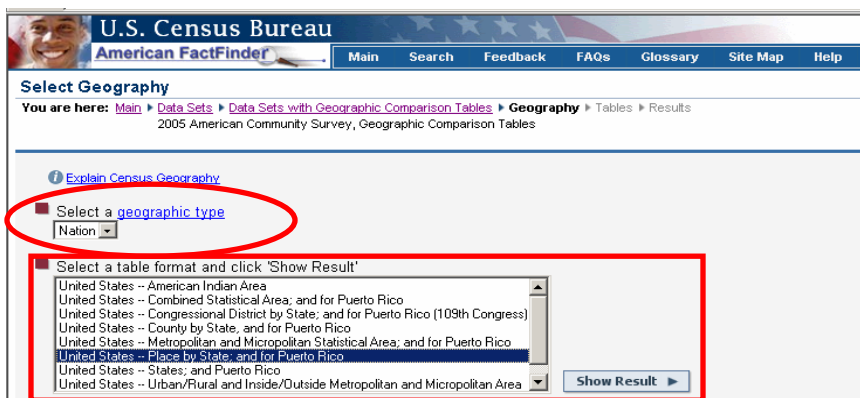

The selection path for these tables will show only the tables that are available for the geographic areas selected. An invalid geographic selection for a table will result in a “No data found” note.

Access to both GCTs and Ranking Tables will be provided from the Thematic Map path.

Thematic Maps show the geographic patterns in statistical data. When you click “Identify” on a map, the ACS estimate and the Margin of Error (MOE) will be displayed. The estimate for the United States is displayed below the map for comparison purposes.

Thematic Maps have many interesting and useful features and are found throughout the American FactFinder. You can:

- Change the data classes of the data to show different groupings (see illustration below)
- Change the “Display map by” by scrolling through the choices (state, region, division, county, county subdivision, congressional district, metropolitan/micropolitan area, public use microdata area (PUMA))
- Select different boundaries to show on your map: county, county subdivision, place, etc.
- Change the features shown: streets, bodies of water, etc.
- Add a title
- Download the data from the map and the legend

Statistical Significance View for Thematic Maps

Thematic maps help visualize geographic patterns in statistical data. As with the American Community Survey (ACS) Ranking Tables, these patterns may show differences in the ACS data that are not "statistically significant". The "statistical significance view" feature helps users visually distinguish statistically significant differences from those that are not statistically significant. Click with statistical significance in the left panel to see the map with areas not different shaded by hatches.

Clark County, Ohio	2,327	67,107	+/-474	2,789	+/-234

Data are based on a sample and are subject to sampling variability. The degree of uncertainty for an estimate arising from sampling variability is represented through the use of a margin of error. The value shown here is the 90 percent margin of error. The margin of error can be interpreted roughly as providing 90 percent probability that the interval defined by the estimate minus the margin of error and the estimate plus the margin of error (the lower and upper confidence bounds) contains the true value.

1. An "" entry in the margin of error column indicates that too few sample observations were available to compute a standard error and thus the margin of error. A statistical test is not appropriate.
2. An "" entry in the margin of error column indicates that no sample observations were available to compute a standard error and thus the margin of error. A statistical test is not appropriate.
3. An '-' entry in the estimate column indicates that no sample observations were available to compute an estimate, or a ratio of medians cannot be calculated because one or both of the median estimates falls in the lowest interval or upper interval of an open-ended distribution.
4. An '-' following a median estimate means the median falls in the lowest interval of an open-ended distribution.
5. An '+' following a median estimate means the median falls in the upper interval of an open-ended distribution.
6. An "" entry in the margin of error column indicates that the median falls in the lowest interval or upper interval of an open-ended distribution. A statistical test is not appropriate.
7. An "" entry in the margin of error column indicates that the estimate is controlled. A statistical test for sampling variability is not appropriate.
8. An 'N' entry in the estimate and margin of error columns indicates that data for this geographic area cannot be displayed because the number of sample cases is too small.
9. An '(X)' means that the estimate is not applicable or not available.

The 2007 PUMS files include the total population including those living in institutions, college dormitories, and other group quarter facilities. The smallest geographic unit that is identified is the Public Use Microdata Area (PUMA).

In conjunction with the release of three-year estimates, a multiyear PUMS file will be released in late 2008. The multiyear PUMS file will contain the same sample of actual responses provided in the 2005, 2006, and 2007 One-Year PUMS files.

What must I remember?

- The Census Bureau removes all identifying information from PUMS files. Also, a minimum population threshold ensures that no information disclosure occurs about particular households or persons.
- There are two basic record types: the housing unit record and the person record. Each has a unique identifier. Each record contains a serial number that links the persons in the housing unit to the housing unit record.
- PUMS data may be downloaded in CSV, PC SAS, and UNIX SAS formats

Coverage includes over 7,000 geographic entities for the release of the 2007 ACS 1-Year Estimates and over 14,000 geographic entities within the same geographic summary levels for the release of the 2005–2007 ACS 3-Year Estimates.

- (Dash) = Table type is NOT produced for this geographic type.

X = Table type is produced for this geographic type. Due to filtering, an individual table may not be available for ALL geographies. Also, for a specific table, additional geographic limits may exist (e.g., Subject Table S1703 is only available for the US).

X¹ = Not available for Subject Tables sourced from microdata

X² = Available for Subject Tables sourced from microdata only for geographies with a total population of 500,000 or more (prior to 2007 the population minimum was 1,000,000 or more)

X³ = Selected population profile provided only for geographies with a total population of 500,000 or more (prior to 2007 the population minimum was 1,000,000 or more)

C.3 Explain Table Numbers

The table and map numbering scheme groups tables by subject.

- Use explain table numbers link on the Detailed Tables – Select Tables page to find this information for the Detailed Tables scheme online.

The first character of a table identifier is a letter indicating the type of table or map:

- B is used for the basic or base tables that provide the most detailed estimates on all topics and for all geographies. These tables are the source for many of the other tables such as Data Profiles, Subject Tables, etc
- C is used for a collapsed version of a B table. A C table is very similar to a B table with the same number (e.g., C07001 and B07001), but two or more lines from the B table have been collapsed to a single line in the C table. For example, the lines “75 to 79 years”, “80 to 84 years” and “85 years and over” from a B table may be collapsed to a single line of “75 years and over” in a C table. Not every B table has a collapsed version.
- GCT is used for Geographic Comparison Tables
- R is used for Ranking Tables
- S is used for Subject Tables and Selected Population Profiles
- M is used for Thematic Maps

The next two characters identify the primary subject of the table.

- 01 = Age and Sex
- 02 = Race
- 03 = Hispanic or Latino Origin
- 04 = Ancestry
- 05 = Foreign Born; Citizenship; Year of Entry; Nativity
- 06 = Place of Birth
- 07 = Residence 1 Year Ago; Migration
- 08 = Journey to Work; Workers’ Characteristics; Commuting
- 09 = Children; Household Relationship
- 10 = Grandparents; Grandchildren
- 11 = Household Type; Family Type; Subfamilies
- 12 = Marital Status
- 13 = Fertility
- 14 = School Enrollment
- 15 = Educational Attainment
- 16 = Language Spoken at Home and Ability to Speak English
- 17 = Poverty
- 18 = Disability
- 19 = Income (Households and families)
- 20 = Earnings (Individuals)
- 21 = Veteran Status
- 22 = Food Stamps
- 23 = Employment Status; Work Experience
- 24 = Industry; Occupation; Class of Worker
- 25 = Housing Characteristics
- 26 = Group Quarters Population
- 98 = Quality Measures
- 99 = Imputation table for any subject

The next three digits are a sequential number, such as 001 or 002, to uniquely identify the table within a given subject.

For select tables, an alphabetic suffix follows to indicate that a table is repeated for the nine major race and Hispanic or Latino groups:

- A = White Alone
- B = Black or African American Alone
- C = American Indian and Alaska Native Alone
- D = Asian Alone
- E = Native Hawaiian and Other Pacific Islander Alone
- F = Some Other Race Alone
- G = Two or More Races
- H = White Alone, Not Hispanic or Latino
- I = Hispanic or Latino

For select tables, a final alphabetic suffix “PR” follows to indicate a table used for Puerto Rico geographies only. These Puerto Rico-specific tables exist because for some geography-based subjects, the wording of the Puerto Rico Community Survey questionnaire differs slightly but significantly from the American Community Survey questionnaire. The matching table used for United States geographies has the same ID but without the trailing “PR” (e.g., B06014 and B06014-PR).

 Survey: 2006 American Community Survey

NOTE: Although the American Community Survey (ACS) produces population, demographic and housing unit estimates, it is the Census Bureau's Population Estimates Program that produces and disseminates the official estimates of the population for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns and estimates of housing units for states and counties.
