

Hot August Night—the Moon is bright — the Journey Begins!!

Just before sunset, we noticed some motion in one of the nests in the hatchery. Soon one head, then another head was spotted. Then suddenly all the motion stopped. The hatchlings have broken out of their eggs and begun to push each other up from their nest two feet below the top of the sand. It's as if they are now resting to regain some strength, for they know they will have a long, important swim tonight. The moon rises over the ocean and ascends higher into the sky. Movement in the nest begins again and suddenly there is an explosion of 100 loggerhead turtle hatchlings as they scramble over each other in their rush to the water's edge. We stand to the side and watch the tiny reptiles rush down the beach, as they follow the moon's light and get whisked away by the ebbing tide. They will swim all night and into the following days, the Gulf Stream is their goal. How many will make it?

As the cooperating association for Cape Romain National Wildlife Refuge, the SEWEE Association supports the educational and biological mission of the Refuge. We provide financial support to programs and personnel and volunteers for the acclaimed Sewee Earth Stewards program.

We are a 501(C)(3) non-profit organization, so all donations are tax-deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

Any questions about the SEWEE Association may be directed to our organization via mail, phone or email. See below for how to contact us.

Adopt A Turtle Nest

Supporting the nest relocation program of Cape Romain National Wildlife Refuge

How does Cape Romain protect Loggerhead Sea Turtles

Cape Island, the northernmost barrier island in Cape Romain National Wildlife Refuge, receives the highest annual density of Loggerhead Sea Turtle nests north of Florida. In 2007, there were 709 nests created on this and Lighthouse islands. Refuge staff and volunteers patrol the beach every day during the nesting season, locate nests created the previous night, and relocated 396 nests, moving 150 to protected hatcheries. This relocation process is necessary to ensure the highest hatch rate possible because of nest predation by raccoons and erosion or high tide intrusion into the nests.

So, how can I help with this protection process?

You can help with the process through the Adopt a Turtle Nest program. Cape Romain needs supplies to build the hatcheries and funds to maintain the equipment used for patrolling the beach. They want to have a person assigned to monitor the beach on Bulls Island as well as more nests are occurring there than in the past. By Adopting a Nest you will make more funds available for this project.

As a participant in the program, you will receive an update on the progress for the year. This update will be sent near the end of the year, once all the data for the season has been recorded.

You can Adopt a Turtle Nest at two levels. As a supporter, you will also become a member of the SEWEE Association and receive newsletters of the SEWEE Association. As a benefactor, you will receive all this as well as your our beautiful custom designed Cape Romain NWR Turtle T-shirt.

Just complete the attached form, and send your payment to the SEWEE Association.
