exercise. In Sisi camp, IDPs were unaware that a re-registration had been scheduled and did not appear at designated sites. In addition, one person was taken to the Geneina hospital with head injuries after re-registration staff members were attacked in Krinding II camp.

Kalma Camp

- According to the Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC), the GOS Humanitarian Aid Commission (HAC) plans to delay for several weeks a decision on the renewal of the expired agreement designating NRC as Kalma camp coordinator. The NRC has been unable to operate in Kalma camp since August 22. The USAID/DART reported that NRC's absence may have adverse effects on the provision of humanitarian assistance, as NRC played a key role in coordinating health care, water and sanitation, and communication among NGOs and camp sheiks.

Food Security

- The USAID/DART reported that the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) recently projected a 60 percent increase in the amount of crops planted in West Darfur in 2005, as compared to 2004. FAO expects planting in West Darfur to reach 50 percent of normal levels, and reported that most planting has occurred north of Geneina. According to the USAID/DART, the increase in planting is partially due to the effective seed distributions carried out by humanitarian agencies. In addition, the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) stated in an August 31 report that hundreds of IDPs from Geneina-area camps have been temporarily returning to villages to plant crops during the rainy season. UNHCR noted that although these movements indicate an improved security situation compared to 2004, tensions between IDPs and nomads have escalated since the Darfur conflict began.
- According to a September 1 report from USAID/OFDA's Assistance for Emergency Locust and Grasshopper Abatement (AELGA) project, immature adult locusts or hopper bands were detected in all three Darfur states during August. AELGA reported that undetected or uncontrolled locusts in Darfur could form swarms and move eastward in September, potentially damaging crops planted during the rainy season. AELGA noted the importance of surveys, monitoring and interventions in preventing a widespread locust outbreak.

Rains

- On August 30, heavy thunderstorms destroyed three WFP warehouses in Geneina, West Darfur. More than 100 volunteers from WFP, the USAID/DART, and NGOs responded by moving the WFP food stocks to temporary shelters.
- According to USAID's Famine Early Warning Network System (FEWS NET), although rains in Darfur are projected to ease in the coming weeks, impassable roads will continue to restrict humanitarian access. On September 1, FEWS NET reported that seasonal rains typically end by late September in North Darfur and northern West Darfur, and by mid-October in the remainder of the Darfur region.

Returns

- At an August 30 meeting of the South Darfur Return Working Group, the International Organization for Migration (IOM) and OCHA announced that the group will conduct assessments in Buram and in the Ed Daein and Muhajariya border area. OCHA reported that although little information is available on the situation in Ed Daien and Muhajaria, significant numbers of people appear to have returned to the area. IOM plans to prepare operational guidelines for the assessment.

Logistics

- According to WFP, flights carrying emergency relief supplies are expected to resume after shipments of jet fuel arrive in Khartoum and El Obeid this week. Jet fuel shortages continue to hamper humanitarian activities in Darfur.

Negotiations

- The African Union-led negotiations among the GOS, SLM/A, and Justice and Equality Movement are scheduled to resume in Abuja, Nigeria, on September 15.

PUBLIC DONATION INFORMATION

- The most effective way people can assist relief efforts is by making cash contributions to humanitarian organizations that are conducting relief operations. A list of humanitarian organizations that are accepting cash donations for their humanitarian emergency response efforts in Darfur, Sudan can be found at www.interaction.org.
- USAID encourages cash donations because they: allow aid professionals to procure the exact items needed (often in the affected region); reduce the burden on scarce resources (such as transportation routes, staff time, warehouse space, etc); can be transferred very quickly and without transportation costs; support the economy of the disaster-stricken region; ensure culturally, dietary, and environmentally appropriate assistance.
- More information on making donations and volunteering can be found at:
  - U.S. Agency for International Development: www.usaid.gov – keyword: donations
