ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS

COURT ORDERS DISTRIBUTION OF CASH AND EQUIPMENT TO CHARITIES

On December 22, the United States District Court for the District of Wyoming entered an order distributing one half of the remaining cash seized from the defendants to the Salvation Army in Cheyenne, Wyoming and one half to the Salvation Army in New Orleans, Louisiana. The Order directed that such funds be used by those organizations for feeding homeless persons. It is believed that the total cash that will be distributed pursuant to the order totals approximately $20,193. In an earlier Order of October 27, 1998, the Court directed that computer equipment seized from the defendants be donated to the Pasadena, California Unified School District with the condition that the property be used in schools within the district. The October 27, 1998, Order also provided that various miscellaneous property seized from the defendants be given to the Salvation Army in Pasadena, California. The Court distributed the equipment and cash as set forth above after finding that because there were approximately two thousand defrauded investors in this matter, it was not practical to attempt to make any distribution to individual investors.

Previously the Court ordered that defendants First Zurich National USA, LLC (First Zurich), Compunomics 139, Inc. (Compunomics), and Douglas Paul Catchings (Catchings) jointly and severally disgorge $4,370,425 plus prejudgment and postjudgment interest to be determined later. The Order also requires defendant Catchings to pay a civil penalty of $100,000. To date the Commission has not located sufficient funds or property to make any distribution to investors. The Court has also issued a warrant for the arrest of defendant Catchings based on the Court's finding him to be in contempt of various Court orders. That arrest warrant remains in effect and Catchings has not as of this date been located.

Investors in this fraudulent scheme who wish to obtain further information are encouraged to contact the Commission's Denver office at 1801 California Street, Suite 4800, Denver, Colorado 80202 or by telephone at (303) 844-1000. RESTRAINING ORDER AND ASSET FREEZE ORDERED TO HALT DIVERSION OF CLIENT FUNDS

The Commission announced today that it obtained emergency relief prohibiting misappropriation of advisory and brokerage client funds by an investment adviser and brokerage firm. According to the Commission's complaint, Todd J. LaScola of Warwick, Rhode Island, through CPI Investment Management, Inc., an investment adviser, and CPA Network Advisors, Inc., a brokerage firm, engaged in a series of unauthorized transactions in which LaScola diverted $6 million from brokerage customers and advisory clients in order to pay another advisory client. The temporary restraining order, issued on December 29, 1998 by Judge Ernest Torres of the District of Rhode Island, prohibits LaScola, the sole owner of CPI and a principal and co-owner of CPA, CPI and CPA from engaging in further fraudulent conduct. Additionally, the order freezes the assets of LaScola and CPI, and appoints a temporary receiver for CPI.

The complaint alleges that the defendants violated the antifraud provisions of the federal securities laws. Specifically, the complaint alleges that LaScola diverted funds from brokerage customers in order to repay the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for his illegal purchase in their account of nearly $6 million of highly speculative and illiquid promissory notes. According to the complaint, when the IBEW learned about the investment in the notes in November 1998, it demanded that LaScola immediately sell the notes. When LaScola was unable to find buyers for the notes, in order to repay the IBEW, he fraudulently transferred $6 million of client funds to the IBEW. Finally, the complaint further alleges that, in order to facilitate the return of the IBEW money, LaScola converted several of the advisory and brokerage cash accounts into margin accounts and obtained large margin loans, without client consent. [SEC v. Todd J. LaScola, et al., Civil Action No. 98-610L, USDC, D. RI] (LR-16012)
