

Heating System Efficiency PSA

Maintaining your home's heating system is an important way to make sure you're not giving energy away. Have your heating system checked by a professional to ensure its efficiency and safety. Remember to clean or replace the system's air filter to help lower energy bills and maintain indoor air quality for your family, pets and guests. For more ways to save energy and money this winter, visit EPA.gov.