

Agriculture and Natural Resources Extension

Eileen Cullen

Extension Specialist – Field Crop Entomology
University of Wisconsin-Madison
Department of Entomology

Phone: 608-261-1507 FAX: 608-262-3322 email Eileen Cullen cullen@entomology.wisc.edu
1630 Linden Drive, Madison, WI 53706

Extension Expertise

- Field Corn, Soybeans, Alfalfa, Small Grains, Processing Sweet Corn
- Integrated Pest Management (IPM) for Insects and Mites affecting field crops
- Conventional and USDA Certified Organic Production Systems

Research Interests

- IPM programs utilizing Biological, Cultural, Chemical and Host Plant Resistance methods as appropriate
- Insect Field Sampling Protocols and Treatment Decision Support
- Organic Field Crop Production Systems
- Response of Soybean Varieties to Soybean Aphid, Insecticides and Soybean Viruses
- Evaluation of conventional and OMRI-approved insecticides including efficacy against insect pests, and impact on natural enemies (predators and parasitoids)

Other Professional Experience

- University of California, Davis IPM Education and Publications
- Bio-Integral Resource Center, Berkeley, CA
- USDA, APHIS-PPQ, Mpls, Minnesota
- Crop Pro-Tech, Inc., Naperville, IL

Education

- BS Agriculture Education, University of Minnesota, Mpls.- St. Paul, 1993
- MS Plant Protection/Pest Management, University of California, Davis, 1999
- PhD Entomology, University of California, Davis, 2003

Website

- Field and Forage Crop Entomology web site <http://entomology.wisc.edu/~cullen/>

University of Wisconsin-Extension, Cooperative Extension

updated 05/12/2006