<sup>12</sup> A petition and papers, certifying to the election of Henry A. du Pont for the term beginning March 4, 1895, were presented December 4, 1895; numerous affidavits and papers challenging the regularity of the election were also presented; the Committee on Privileges and Elections reported favorably to Mr. du Pont, February 17, 1896, but on May 15, 1896, the Senate, by a vote of 31 to 30, decided he was not entitled to a seat; papers and legislative records were presented January 21, 1897, attesting the election of John Edwards Addicks on the day preceding, for the term beginning March 4, 1895; credentials of Richard R. Kenney, duly signed by the governor, and certifying to his election on January 19, 1897, were presented on February 5, 1897; appeared, qualified, and took his seat on the same day. The contest was continued in the succeeding Congress. Vacancy in this class from March 4, 1895, to January 18, 1897.
