I believe that DeCSS should remain legal and accessible so that the open source community and learn from such a program. Why should reverse engineering be made illegal? DeCSS helps other operating systems run DVD movies that the 'owner of the movie' runs on his box.
Without this program we fall victim to the Microsoft monopoly and systems such as Linux stay in the dark. I ask you to take these into consideration in your final decision, so that the people can keep something that is being taken away from us more and more everyday.......
Our FREEDOM.
