PUBLIC PRINTER HONORS GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE EMPLOYEES CALLED TO SERVE COUNTRY

Washington, DC—Public Printer Bruce R. James is recognizing seven GPO employees who have been recently called to duty. The men are members of the Reserves and have been called on to take part in ongoing military efforts throughout the world.

“Their dedication to the defense of our country during such a difficult time in our nation’s history is commendable and laudable. All of us at GPO join family, friends and co-workers in wishing all of these employees a speedy and safe return home and to their jobs,” said Public Printer James.

Each of the employees received an American Flag in recognition of their service. The flags had been flown over the U.S. Capitol, and were each provided with a certificate honoring the recipients for their service to their country. The flags were purchased from the Congress through the office of Rep. Robert Ney, Chairman of the Joint Committee on Printing, which oversees the GPO.

Headquartered in Washington, DC, the GPO has approximately 3,000 employees in multiple locations nationwide. It is responsible for the production and distribution of information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government. In addition to its own production facilities, the GPO deals with thousands of private sector vendors throughout the country to produce print and other information products for the Federal Government ranging from Supreme Court decisions to IRS tax forms and crop reports for the Department of Agriculture. The GPO also distributes Government publications to the public via a sales program and through a nationwide network of more than 1,200 Federal depository libraries. GPO Access (at www.gpoaccess.gov) provides free online Federal information products and services. The GPO Access User Support Team provides immediate assistance to customers via e-mail, toll-free phone, and fax.
