HUMAN CAPITAL LEADER TO REVAMP WORKFORCE METHODS AT THE U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

ROBERT R. CARR NAMED GPO'S CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER

Washington, DC—Robert R. Carr, a 25-year human capital executive with extensive experience in large, union-organized, manufacturing environments, is the new Chief Human Capital Officer at the U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO).

“Robert Carr is a key addition to the GPO’s senior management team. His expertise in managing human resources for large manufacturers will help lead our workforce, along with our 23 bargaining units, into the modern day and beyond,” said Deputy Public Printer William H. Turri, who is the agency’s Chief Operating Officer.

For the last three years, Carr has been at Exemplar Manufacturing, where most recently he was the Corporate Director of Human Resources and Chief Human Resources Officer. As such, he had full budgeting responsibility for both domestic and international human resources operations and oversaw all aspects of human resources management for six locations. Prior to that, Carr spent time as Director of Human Resources at The Wellness Plan and Value Behavioral Health. Carr also led the human resources divisions for Leaf Inc. in Illinois, Transportation Manufacturing Corp. in New Mexico, and Spectradyne in Texas. Carr has a B.A. in Business Administration and Urban Studies from Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio and he also attended The Executive Management Program at Northwestern University.

The selection of Robert R. Carr as the GPO's Chief Human Capital Officer was effective September 3, 2003.

About The U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO):

Headquartered in Washington, DC, and under the leadership of Public Printer of the United States Bruce R. James, the GPO is responsible for the production and distribution of information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government. In addition to its own production facilities, the GPO contracts with thousands of private sector vendors across the country to produce print and other information products for the Federal Government ranging from Supreme Court decisions to IRS tax forms. The GPO also distributes Government publications to the public via through Federal depository libraries nationwide and a variety of other means. The GPO's Web site, GPO Access, at www.gpoaccess.gov, provides online public access to more than 250,000 Federal Government titles and is used by the public to retrieve nearly 35 million documents every month.
