

Michael J. Harwood
Research Fellow
(202) 685-4686
harwoodm@ndu.edu

Mr. Harwood is a Research Fellow in the National Strategic Gaming Center's Strategic Planning and Integration Division. Previously, he was Acting Coordinator for the Senior Policy Seminars Division at the State Department's Foreign Service Institute. In this capacity, he designed and conducted foreign policy planning exercises and roundtable discussions on a wide range of security, political, economic and global issues for the Department and foreign affairs agencies. A retired career Army officer, his last postings included the U.S. Army War College and assignments as program manager at the Army's Peacekeeping Institute; executive assistant to the Chief of Staff for Plans and Policy, Supreme Allied Command Atlantic; and United Nations Force Command plans and operations officer in Somalia. He served in three U.S. Army infantry divisions, to include the 24th Infantry Division during Operation Desert Shield/Storm. Mr. Harwood is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy and earned masters degrees from Webster University and the U.S. Army School of Advanced Military Studies.