

Decision Logic Table to Report Pay Problems

Background: Employees, Managers, Customer Service Representatives, timekeepers, and Human Resource Personnel need to know how to report a pay problem, and the expected timeframes established for resolution of the reported pay problems. The following decision logic table is provided to clarify the process.

If in doubt about where to report the problem, the employee should contact the Customer Service Representative (CSR). The timekeeper, manager, or Civilian Personnel Advisory Center (CPAC) can provide information on how to find the appropriate Customer Service Representative (CSR).

Situation	Action Required	Expected Timeframes
1. Question or issue with employee deductions, employee address, employee allotments (e.g. savings bonds, direct deposit, tax withholding) or travel payments. This does not include such items as charity, garnishments, union or other organizational dues. For these changes, see your CSR.	Employee uses myPay (https://myPay.dfas.mil) to confirm the information. All employee -elected information can also be changed. Travel payments cannot be changed, but can be reviewed. Note: Employee should write down the effective date that myPay advises the change will take effect.	myPay is updated each night except the first Thursday of the pay period. Changes should be reflected in the next pay check issued after the effective date of the change. Note: updates to myPay during the first week of a pay period may be effective during the current pay period or the one before depending on when the update reaches the payroll automated system.
2. Questions on timekeeping issues (leave, overtime, compensatory time).	Employee reports the issue to the supervisor and timekeeper. Supervisor works with the timekeeper to confirm appropriate entries for the timekeeping automated system. CSR assists with issues that cannot be resolved by the timekeeper.	Once a decision is made on the appropriate information and the timekeeping system is updated, the change should normally be reflected in the next pay period. If DFAS involvement is necessary, the ARS Remedy ticket requesting DFAS assistance will be forwarded by the CSR within two workdays of knowledge of the problem. DFAS pay technicians will normally respond to the ticket within 5 days. Resolution timeframe will depend on the type of problem. The CSR will be notified of the expected timeframe for resolution.
