History: Provides requested guidance. Replaces Policy #15 dated April 14, 1997.

Justification: To provide clarification of specified individual roles in the Animal Care and Use Program at research facilities.

Policy: For Animal Welfare Act (AWA) enforcement purposes, the nonaffiliated member of the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) is to “provide representation for general community interests.” The outside nonaffiliated member cannot be a laboratory animal user at any research facility. Compensation of the nonaffiliated member is permissible only when it does not jeopardize the member’s status as a nonaffiliated member. Compensation varies but is normally limited to payment for travel and related expenses, such as parking and meals, to modest monetary payments for participation. The dollar amount of compensation, if any, should not be so substantial as to be considered an important source of income or to influence voting on the IACUC.

The regulations provide for four specific roles within the Animal Care and Use Program:

1. Institutional Official
2. IACUC Chairperson
3. Attending Veterinarian
4. Nonaffiliated Member

These positions are meant to provide a system of checks and balances which is not normally achieved if any one person fills more than one of these roles. While the regulations do not specifically prohibit one person from filling more than one role, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) strongly discourages such assignments because of the potential for conflicts of interest and/or undue influence by one person over the facility’s program. However, a veterinarian who is not the attending veterinarian may assume any one of the other program positions.

IACUC members must be qualified to assess the research facility's animal program, facilities and procedures. The research facility is responsible for ensuring their qualification, and this responsibility is filled in part through the provision of training and instruction. For example, IACUC members should be trained in understanding the Animal Welfare Act, protocol review, and facility inspections.

No IACUC member can review his/her own proposal.
