

Egg Shells (for ornamental purposes)

Egg shells for ornamental purposes are believed to require the same certifications as “Poultry products (unprocessed)” [go back to the previous link and select this link for information on certification requirements].

Regardless of processing, the shells must be certificated as indicated under “Poultry products (unprocessed)”.

Eggs shells are subject to avian influenza related trade bans (regardless of processing). Go back to the previous page and select “Important information regarding trade bans on poultry products” for more information.