

AMERICORPS* NATIONAL GRANT PROGRAMS

AmeriCorps grants fund programs that use service and volunteerism to address compelling community needsⁱ. Applicants for AmeriCorps funds must identify the communities to be served and the community need to be addressed, and design a program that uses AmeriCorps membersⁱⁱ and volunteers to meet that need. AmeriCorps programs can address communities' educational, public safety, human, or environmental needs. Examples of AmeriCorps program activities include tutoring and mentoring youth, building affordable housing, teaching computer skills, cleaning parks and streams, running after-school programs, helping communities respond to disasters, developing a volunteer program, providing legal assistance, teaching adult literacy, and engaging in public health outreach. Successful applicants are responsible for recruiting, training and placing the individuals who will serve as AmeriCorps members.

ⁱ For example, an organization might identify a need for children of immigrants to get additional support in developing their English language skills. The organization might develop an after-school program in which AmeriCorps members provide English as a Second Language tutoring to these children. The program would also work with local schools to ensure that their curriculum and materials complement what the school is using. The program might develop partnerships with local faith and community-based organizations that serve predominantly immigrant populations, and these organization could serve as sites, sources of children, or partners.

ⁱⁱ An AmeriCorps member is an individual enrolled in an AmeriCorps program who commits to engage in community service for an intensive period of time. Some AmeriCorps members receive a living allowance to support them during their term of service, and upon successful completion of their service they receive an AmeriCorps Education Award. Also referred to as “member.”

ⁱⁱⁱ Cost per MSY stands for Cost per Member Service Year and represents the cost to the Corporation of your AmeriCorps program. Please refer to the AmeriCorps*National Grants FAQ for a more detailed explanation.
