The Analysis and Operations account provides the resources to improve the analysis and sharing of threat information. This account supports the activities of the Office of Intelligence and Analysis and the Office of Operations Coordination. Even though these two offices are different and distinct in their missions, they closely work together and collaborate with other Departmental components and related Federal agencies, as well as State, local, tribal, foreign, and private sector partners, to improve intelligence analysis, information sharing, and situational awareness. In 2005, as a part of its Second Stage Review, DHS transferred the Homeland Security Operations Center and intelligence activities of the Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP) Directorate to Analysis and Operations. Funding for legacy intelligence and monitoring activities are now funded in this account.

Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A).—I&A is responsible for the Department's intelligence and information gathering and sharing capabilities for and among all components of DHS. This office houses the Department's Chief Intelligence Officer. This office ensures that information is gathered from all relevant DHS field operations and is fused with information from other parts of the Intelligence Community to produce accurate, timely and actionable analytic intelligence products and services for DHS stakeholders. The Under Secretary for Intelligence and Analysis leads I&A, and is also the Department's Chief Intelligence Officer responsible for managing the entire DHS Intelligence Enterprise.

Office of Operations Coordination (OPS).—The mission of the Office of Operations Coordination is to integrate information concerning the operations, activities and requirements of all DHS components with other Federal, state, local, tribal, private sector and international partners' information to facilitate a coordinated and efficient effort to secure the Homeland against all threats and hazards. In the execution of this mission, Operations Coordination disseminates threat information, maintains and disseminates domestic situational awareness, performs incident management and facilitates operational coordination among all DHS components. Operations Coordination works with component leadership and other Federal partners to translate intelligence data and policy into action, and to ensure that those actions are joint, well coordinated and executed in a timely fashion. Operations Coordination supports the DHS mission to lead the national unified effort to secure America by maintaining the National Operations Center (NOC) and by providing 24/7 incident management capability to ensure a seamless integration of threat monitoring and information flow. The NOC is the primary national-level hub for domestic incident management, operations coordination and situational awareness standing as a 24/7 multi-agency organization, fusing law enforcement, national intelligence, emergency response and private sector reporting. The information flow is with other Federal, state, local, tribal, and private sector entities, as well as domestic situational awareness to senior DHS and White House leadership.

The mission of the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) is to adjudicate and grant immigration and citizenship benefits and provide accurate and useful information to its customers. USCIS also promotes an awareness and understanding of citizenship, while ensuring the integrity of our immigration system. USCIS approves millions of immigration benefit applications each year, ranging from work authorization, lawful permanent residency, and asylum and refugee status.

The Budget invests in new technology and a business process platform to improve and automate business operations, eliminating paper-based processing and improving information sharing, along with enhancing USCIS ability to identify and prevent immigration benefit fraud.

The Budget proposes $5,966 million in discretionary and mandatory resources for the Transportation Security Administration's aviation security and Federal Air Marshals activities. Of this amount an estimated $2,329 million is financed by offsetting collections from passenger and air carrier security fees, air cargo fees, and fees collected at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport for general aviation. Also reflected within this total is a new mandatory proposal for a temporary, four-year surcharge to the Passenger Security Fee of $0.50 per enplanement with a maximum increase of $1.00 per one-way trip or up to $6.00. The additional fee collections would be deposited in the mandatory Aviation Security Capital Fund and dedicated to the purchase and installation of explosives detection systems for checked baggage and address the need to recapitalize and upgrade existing explosive detection equipment deployed immediately after September 11, 2001.

Overall funding in this account will be used to fund screening personnel, compensation and benefits, and related expenses for transportation security officers; screening technology; privatized passenger and baggage screener contracts; airport managerial and support activities; air cargo screening operations; and operational testing and activities to improve flight deck and air crew safety; and the Federal Air Marshal Service.

As the largest investigative arm of the Department of Homeland Security, Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) brings a unified and coordinated focus to the enforcement of Federal immigration and customs laws.

The 2009 Budget supports the Administration's plan to improve border security and the enforcement of our Nation's immigration laws through the Secure Border Initiative. The Budget funds all components of immigration enforcement, including resources for new detention beds; expansion of the Cyber Crimes Center to increase cybercrime-related investigations; increased critical infrastructure investigations at ports of entry and other sensitive facilities; increased the collaboration with State and local law enforcement agencies through an expansion of the 287(g) program; and increased Commercial Fraud/International Property Rights investigations. In addition, the President's Budget increases ICE's workforce dedicated to investigating criminal and serious misconduct by ICE and Customs and Border Protection (CBP) employees, and provides resources for the expansion of the Visa Security Program.

ICE works to protect the United States and its people by deterring, interdicting, and investigating threats arising from the movement of people and goods into and out of the United States; and by protecting Federal Government facilities across the Nation. Major programs funded by the Salaries and Expenses appropriation include:

Investigations.—Responsible for investigating a range of issues, including human smuggling; weapons, narcotics and all other contraband smuggling; export enforcement, such as investigating illegal arms exports and exports of dual-use equipment that may threaten national security; financial crimes, such as money laundering and bulk cash smuggling; customs fraud and intellectual property rights violations; cybercrime; immigration crimes; and human rights violations.

Intelligence.—Responsible for the collection, analysis, and dissemination of strategic and tactical intelligence data for use by the operational elements of ICE and DHS.

Detention and Removal.—Responsible for promoting the public safety and national security by ensuring the departure from the United States of all removable aliens through the fair enforcement of the nation's immigration laws.

International Affairs.—Responsible for investigating violations involving contraband smuggling, immigration violations, money laundering, arms/technology trafficking, child sexual exploitation and cyber crimes overseas.

Principal Legal Advisor.—Serves as the legal representative for the U.S. Government at immigration court hearings, and provides the legal advice, training, and services required to support the ICE mission while defending the immigration laws of the United States.

The Automation Modernization account is divided into two program and project activities, Automated Commercial Environment (ACE) and Critical Operations Protection and Processing Support (COPPS). The funding for information technology initiatives as well as maintenance of the existing information technology infrastructure at CBP resides in this account. ACE is being developed and deployed in increments and will replace the current trade management system, the Automated Commercial System. ACE will provide tools and enhance the business processes that are essential to securing U.S. borders from terrorists by providing intelligence required to target illicit goods, while ensuring the efficient processing of legitimate goods. COPPS provides nearly all the CBP Information Technology (IT) infrastructure to operate and maintain mission-critical IT systems requisite to secure the borders while facilitating legitimate trade and travel.

Funding requested in this account supports the operations of the Coast Guard as it carries out its duties as a maritime, military, multi-mission operating agency and one of the five armed forces. To fulfill its mission, the Coast Guard employs multipurpose vessels, aircraft, and shore units, strategically located along the coasts and inland waterways of the United States and in selected areas overseas. In 2008, the Department of Homeland Security was named Executive Agent for development of a national backup for critical systems used in position, navigation and timing. Enhanced LORAN (eLORAN) has been identified as the primary candidate for this backup. In 2009, the administration of the LORAN-C program will migrate to the National Protection and Programs Directorate of the Department of Homeland Security in preparation for conversion of LORAN-C operations to eLORAN. Coast Guard is expected to continue operation of the system on a reimbursable basis in 2009.

The Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund is used to finance oil pollution prevention and cleanup activities by various Federal agencies. In accordance with the provisions of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990, the Fund may finance annually up to $50 million of emergency resources and all valid claims from injured parties resulting from oil spills. For Coast Guard, this funds the Trust Fund Share of Expenses and Oil Spill Recovery accounts. The Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1989, Public Law 101-239, triggered collection of a five cent tax on each barrel of oil produced domestically or imported to be deposited into the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund. The authority to collect the oil barrel tax expired on December 31, 1994; however, the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (P.L. 109-58) reinstated this authority starting April 1, 2006.

The Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) United States Visitor and Immigrant Status Indicator Technology (US-VISIT) project was established in May 2003 to continue the implementation of a series of statutory initiatives designed to enhance national security at our borders. Those initiatives collectively require DHS to create an automated entry and exit system; to integrate existing biometric databases; use available data to match alien arrival and departure records; and use biometrics to screen visa applicants and applicants for admission to the United States against law enforcement databases.

The US-VISIT mission is to collect, maintain, and share information, including biometric identifiers, on foreign nationals seeking to enter the United States. This information is collected to determine whether individuals should be prohibited from entering the United States; determine whether individuals can receive, extend, change, or adjust immigration status; determine whether individuals have overstayed or otherwise violated the terms of their admission; determine whether individuals should be apprehended or detained for law enforcement action; and determine whether individuals need special protection and/or attention (e.g., refugees).

US-VISIT's budget activities consist of Identity Management and Screening Services; Unique Identity; Comprehensive Biometric Exit; Operations and Maintenance; and Mission Support.

The Infrastructure Protection and Information Security (IPIS) appropriation funds Infrastructure Protection and Cybersecurity and Communications activities.

Infrastructure Protection (IP).—The mission of IP is to lead the coordinated national effort to reduce the risk to our critical infrastructures and key resources (CIKR). IP integrates relevant information, such as intelligence analyses and vulnerability assessments, to identify priorities and support protective measures. Through sharing of information with security partners, IP enhances protection, response, mitigation, and restoration activities across the nation and the international community. IP uses the National Infrastructure Protection Plan and mechanisms under the National Response Plan to provide support to government and private entities in response to significant threats and incidents. IP also works to directly protect the nation's CIKR assets by serving as the designated Sector Specific Agency for five of the seventeen CIKR sectors: Dams, Emergency Services, Nuclear, Chemical, and Commercial Facilities. In addition, IP was recently designated to oversee the improvement of the nation's chemical security by regulating high risk chemical facilities.

Cybersecurity and Communications (CS&C).—The mission of the Office of Cybersecurity and Communications is to assure the security, resiliency, and reliability of the nation's cyber and communications infrastructure in collaboration with the public and private sectors, including international partners. Specifically, CS&C is focused on preparing for and responding to catastrophic incidents that could degrade or overwhelm the networks, systems, and assets that operate our nation's information technology (IT) and communications infrastructure. The CS&C budget includes the National Cyber Security Division, the National Communications System, and Office of Emergency Communications.

National Cyber Security Division (NCS).—NCS disseminates cybersecurity information in a timely, understandable, and responsible manner to key stakeholders and provides a system for citizens, businesses, and other institutions to communicate directly with the United States Government regarding cybersecurity information. Additionally, NCS studies the interconnection of cyber assets to identify critical points in our Nation's cyber infrastructure that could be exploited by malicious persons. Funds are executed through a variety of programs intended to: 1) partner with the private sector, government, military and intelligence stakeholders in risk assessment and mitigation of vulnerabilities and threats to critical IT assets and activities that affect the operation of the critical infrastructures of the U.S.; and 2) provide cyber threat and vulnerability analysis, early warning, and incident response assistance for public and private sector constituents.

National Communications System (NCS).—The NCS provides mission-critical national security and emergency preparedness (NS/EP) telecommunications for Federal, State and local governments, and private industry through the following functions: 1) administering the National Coordinating Center for Telecommunications to facilitate the initiation, coordination, restoration and reconstitution of NS/EP telecommunications services or facilities under all circumstances; 2) developing and ensuring the implementation of plans and programs that support telecommunications infrastructure hardness, redundancy, mobility, connectivity and security; 3) serving as the focal point for industry and government NS/EP telecommunications planning and partnerships; and 4) enhancing the use of cyber and telecommunications infrastructures by providing the information, concept of operations, and unified interoperable capabilities which enable governments to accomplish their command and coordination essential functions. In addition, the Department, acting as Executive Agent, will undertake development of enhanced Long Range Navigation (eLORAN) as a backup for the Global Positioning System (GPS) in the homeland. NCS will oversee LORAN-C modernization as a first step toward providing back-up capability for critical infrastructure that depends on GPS for position, navigation and timing.

The Office of Emergency Communications (OEC).—The OEC supports and promotes the ability of emergency responders and government officials to continue to communicate in the event of natural disasters, acts of terrorism, or other man-made disasters. OEC works to ensure, accelerate, and attain interoperable and operable emergency communications nationwide by administering the Interoperable Communications Technical Assistance Program (ICTAP), the Integrated Wireless Network (IWN) program, and elements of the SAFECOM program. The OEC also fosters development of interoperable emergency communications capabilities through outreach to State, local, and tribal governments.

FEMA provides State and local governments with grants, training, exercises, and technical assistance to improve their readiness for terrorism incidents and catastrophic events. This assistance strengthens homeland security preparedness by supporting development of key capabilities in prevention, protection, response, and recovery.

Homeland Security Prevention and Protection Grant Programs. Prevention and Protection programs support projects to build specific capabilities in the Prevention and Protection mission areas set forth in the National Preparedness Guidelines, Target Capabilities List, and National Strategy for Homeland Security of 2007. Major components of the 2009 request include:

State Homeland Security Grants ($200 million).—Grants to States to support the implementation of prevention and protection capabilities per each State’s homeland security strategy. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk and effectiveness and then adjusted to ensure that each State receives a minimum allocation. At least 25% of all funds shall be directed to law enforcement terrorism prevention activities.

Urban Area Security Initiative ($825 million).—Grants to address the unique homeland security needs of high-risk metropolitan areas and to assist those areas in building enhanced and sustainable capabilities to prevent and protect against acts of terrorism. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk and effectiveness. At least 25% of all funds shall be directed to law enforcement terrorism prevention activities.

National Security and Terrorism Prevention Grants ($110 million).—This program provides competitive grants to specific State and local agencies to support proposals which address national vulnerabilities identified by the Secretary as priorities. In 2009, the Secretary will invite States to submit project proposals to support REAL ID implementation and buffer zone protection for critical infrastructure. Final grant allocations will be determined competitively by the Secretary on the basis of how well proposals address identified national vulnerabilities.

Port Security Grant Program ($210 million).—As part of the transportation and infrastructure protection portfolio of programs, these grants support projects which enhance the layered protection of the Nation’s seaports. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk.

Public Transportation Security Grant Program ($175 million).—As part of the transportation and infrastructure protection portfolio of programs, these grants support security projects at transit systems in high-risk urban areas. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk.

Over-the-Road Bus Security Grant Program ($12 million).—As part of the transportation and infrastructure protection portfolio of programs, these grants support security enhancement projects for over-the-road bus operations. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk.

Trucking Industry Security Program ($8 million).—As part of the transportation and infrastructure protection portfolio of programs, these grants enhance security and overall preparedness on the Nation’s highways. Final grant allocations will be determined by the Secretary on the basis of risk.

Homeland Security Response and Recovery Grant Programs. Response and Recovery programs support projects to build specific capabilities in the Response and Recovery mission area set forth in the National Preparedness Guidelines, Target Capabilities List, and National Strategy for Homeland Security of 2007. These programs are a complement to other major programs requested within FEMA including $300 million for Firefighter Assistance Grants. Major components of the 2009 request include:

The Citizen Corps Grant Program ($15 million).—These grants support Citizen Corps Councils with efforts to engage citizens in personal preparedness, exercises, ongoing volunteer programs, and surge capacity response. This program provides funding by formula basis to all 56 States and territories.

Emergency Management Performance Grants ($200 million).—These grants support State and Urban Area efforts to achieve target levels of capability in catastrophic planning and emergency management. This program provides funding by formula basis to all 56 States and territories.

Other State and Local Programs.

National Exercise Program ($40 million).—Funds exercises for WMD events and other major incidents.

State and Local Training Programs ($79 million).—Supports the unique training facilities managed by the Center for Domestic Preparedness and competitive grants to the other members of the National Domestic Preparedness Consortium.

Technical assistance ($10 million).—Supports technical assistance for grantees in catastrophic planning and other key investment areas.

Evaluations and Assessments ($16 million).—Supports preparedness policy development, data collection, and program evaluation.

Funding for Operations, Management, and Administration provides for the development and maintenance of an integrated, nationwide capability to prepare for, mitigate against, respond to, and recover from the consequences of terrorist attacks and other major disasters and emergencies, in partnership with other Federal agencies, State and local governments, volunteer organizations and the private sector. As part of FEMA's efforts to develop the operating budget for fixed costs and improve administrative efficiency, the 2009 request includes funds to enable the conversion of all remaining Cadre On-Call Regional Employees (COREs) to permanent positions. Activities also include coordination of Federal homeland security programs affecting state, local, and regional authorities in the National Capital Region, congressional outreach, national security functions, information technology services, and facilities management. In addition, the United States Fire Administration will become part of FEMA's Operations, Management, and Administration appropriation in 2009. The USFA supports the preparedness of the Nation's fire and emergency medical service leaders through training on how to evaluate and minimize community risk, improve protection of critical infrastructure, and prepare for fires, natural hazards, and terrorism emergencies.

Through the Disaster Relief Fund, FEMA provides a significant portion of the total Federal response to Presidentially-declared major disasters and emergencies. Primary assistance programs include Federal assistance to individuals and households, public assistance, and hazard mitigation assistance, which includes the repair and reconstruction of State, local, and nonprofit infrastructure. Beginning in 2009, disaster readiness and support activities will be funded through the Disaster Readiness and Support Activities account.

Through the Disaster Readiness and Support Activities (DRSA) account, FEMA funds advanced readiness initiatives that prepare and equip FEMA to provide Federal support during disasters, as well as critical administrative functions that support the timely delivery of services during disasters. DRSA resources are not disaster specific, but rather provide support across FEMA for all Presidentially-declared disasters and emergencies. These efforts will improve the quality of support to disaster victims, including better communications, a more efficient intake process, more efficient delivery systems for disaster commodities, and improved oversight of disaster aid through technical assistance contractors.

The Flood Map Modernization Fund is used to update, modernize and maintain the inventory of over 100,000 flood maps. The flood maps are used to determine appropriate risk-based premium rates for the National Flood Insurance Program, to complete flood hazard determinations required of the nation's lending institutions, and to develop appropriate disaster response plans for Federal, State, and local emergency management personnel.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, authorizes the Federal Government to provide flood insurance on a national basis. Flood insurance may be sold or continued in force only in communities which enact and enforce appropriate floodplain management measures. Communities must participate in the program within one year of the time they are identified as flood-prone in order to be eligible for flood insurance and some forms of Federal financial assistance for acquisition or construction purposes. In addition, Federally regulated funding institutions can not provide loans to non-participating communities with an identified flood hazard.

In 2009, the Budget assumes collection of all of the administrative and program costs associated with flood insurance activities from policy holders. In addition, $90,000,000 from premium collections will be used to support repetitive and severe repetitive loss mitigation. Under the emergency program, structures in identified flood-prone areas are eligible for limited amounts of coverage at subsidized insurance rates. Under the regular program, studies must be made of different flood risks in flood-prone areas to establish actuarial premium rates. These rates are charged for insurance on new construction. Coverage is available on virtually all types of buildings and their contents in amounts up to $350,000 for residential and $1 million for other types.

This account also supports National Flood Mitigation activities that reduce the risk of flood damage to structures insurable under the National Flood Insurance Program. These activities provide flood mitigation assistance planning support to States and communities through the Flood Mitigation Assistance grant program.

Disaster assistance loans authorized by the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq.) are loans to States for the non-Federal portion of cost-sharing funds and community disaster loans to local governments incurring substantial loss of tax and other revenues as a result of a major disaster. The funds requested for this program include direct loans and a subsidy based on criteria including loan amount and interest charged. As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records, for this program, the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans). The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis. Loan activity prior to 1992, which is budgeted for on a cash basis, totals less than $500,000 in every year and is not presented separately. In 2009, administrative costs related to disaster assistance loans are included in the Operations, Management and Administration appropriation account.

Appropriations in this title support the advancement of homeland security through basic and applied research; fabrication of technology demonstration devices; development and testing of standards; development and testing of prototypes and full-scale pre-production hardware; the procurement of products, systems, and other capital equipment necessary to meet the missions of the Department of Homeland Security and the activities of the Science and Technology Directorate. This work may be performed by contractors, government laboratories and facilities, universities, and non-profit organizations. Funding is also provided for the operations, maintenance and construction of laboratory facilities.

The 2009 Budget provides for major technology and development efforts, including detection, destruction, disposal, and mitigation of chemical and biological agents and conventional explosives. Funding also is provided for the test and evaluation of technologies, systems, and processes developed to counter these threats and for the acquisition of equipment and operations needed to field those technologies, systems, and processes, as well as others that may be available without further development, as part of the counter-WMD and counter-terror activities of the Department.

Research and development and acquisition funds for each fiscal year will be available for obligation until expended.

This account supports the research and development programs of the Domestic Nuclear Detection Office (DNDO). DNDO is dedicated to both the development and enhancement of global nuclear detection architecture; deployment support for the domestic detection system; coordination of effective sharing of nuclear detection-related information; the coordination of nuclear detection research and development and the establishment of procedures and training for end users of nuclear detection equipment.

The 2009 Budget provides for a systems development program aimed at providing near-term technical solutions addressing pressing operational requirements and a transformational research and development program to deliver long-term technology breakthroughs, which will provide significant improvement to overall systems performance, cost, and operability. Funding is also provided for the test and evaluation of all developed systems prior to acquisition decisions, ensuring that a full systems characterization has been conducted prior to any deployments. Additionally, funding is provided to expand operational support programs that provide information analysis and situational awareness, technical support, training curricula, and response protocols to field-users.

Research, development, and operations funds for each fiscal year will be available for obligation until expended.

This account supports the acquisition and deployment of radiation detection technologies by the Domestic Nuclear Detection Office (DNDO). DNDO will acquire a full range of radiation detection technologies, including fixed, mobile, and relocatable radiation portal monitors and backpack and handheld detection systems. These technologies are deployed at the Nation's ports of entry as well as in urban areas through the Securing the Cities initiative. The scope of DNDO acquisitions have broadened to include maritime security and aviation environments as well.

The DNDO acquisition program is directly tied to robust systems development, systems engineering, and test and evaluation programs. The methodology employed in this program ensures that all acquired systems have been fully evaluated prior to any acquisition decisions, such that all systems deployed are operated in a known and efficient manner. Additionally, all deployed technologies will be accompanied by the appropriate training, exercise, and response protocols. This will ensure that all systems are operated properly, and all alarms are immediately reported to the appropriate agencies and personnel.

Systems acquisitions funds for each fiscal year will be available for obligation for three years.

SEC. 503. (a) None of the funds provided by this Act, provided by previous appropriations Acts to the agencies in or transferred to the Department of Homeland Security that remain available for obligation or expenditure in fiscal year [2008] 2009, or provided from any accounts in the Treasury of the United States derived by the collection of fees available to the agencies funded by this Act, shall be available for obligation or expenditure through a reprogramming of funds that: (1) creates a new program, project, or activity; (2) eliminates a program, project, office, or activity; or (3) increases funds for any program, project, or activity for which funds have been denied or restricted by the Congress; (4) proposes to use funds directed for a specific activity by either of the Committees on Appropriations of the Senate or the House of Representatives for a different purpose; or (5) contracts out any function or activity for which funding levels were requested for Federal full-time equivalents in the object classification tables contained in the fiscal year 2008 Budget Appendix for the Department of Homeland Security, as specified in the explanatory statement described in section 4 (in the matter preceding division A of this consolidated Act)], unless the Committees on Appropriations of the Senate and the House of Representatives are notified 15 days in advance of such reprogramming of funds.

(c) Not to exceed 5 percent of any appropriation made available for the current fiscal year for the Department of Homeland Security by this Act or provided by previous appropriations Acts may be transferred between such appropriations, but no such appropriations, except as otherwise specifically provided, shall be increased by more than 10 percent by such transfers: Provided, That any transfer under this section shall be treated as a reprogramming of funds under subsection (b) and shall not be available for obligation unless the Committees on Appropriations of the Senate and the House of Representatives are notified 15 days in advance of such transfer.
