Wennergren Elected Vice Chairman of CIO Council

The Federal Chief Information Officers Council today announced the election of David M. Wennergren to the position of Vice Chairman.

“I am pleased the Federal CIO Council elected Dave to this position,” said OMB Deputy Director for Management and Chair of the Federal CIO Council, Clay Johnson. “His leadership and insight will be essential as we continue to deliver results for the American taxpayer by achieving the goals of the President’s Management Agenda.”

“The Federal CIO Council plays a crucial role in championing and aligning the transformation efforts of federal agencies. I am excited about the opportunity to serve as Vice-Chair of the Council and I look forward to continuing to work with the CIO Community, OMB and industry to further the strategic use of information technology in delivering improved services to our citizens and the nation,” Dave Wennergren said.

Wennergren has been with the Department of the Navy for over 25 years and currently serves as its Chief Information Officer, a position he has held since 2002. Wennergren has served as the co-chair of the Federal CIO Council Best Practices Committee.

The CIO Council was initially established by Executive Order 13011, and later codified by the E-Government Act of 2002.
