

2. Review and Selection Process

Applications will be screened to confirm that they are received by the deadline. Federal staff will verify whether the applicant is eligible and confirm that the application contains all the essential elements. Applications received from ineligible organizations and applications received after the deadline will be withdrawn from further consideration.

A panel of at least three reviewers (primarily experts from outside the Federal government) will use the evaluation criteria described in this announcement to evaluate each application. The reviewers will determine the strengths and weaknesses of each application, provide comments about the strengths and weaknesses and give each application a numerical score.

All applications will be reviewed and evaluated using four major criteria: (1) Objectives and need for assistance, (2) approach, (3) organizational profiles, and (4) budget and budget justification. Each criterion has been assigned a point value. The point values (summing up to 100) indicate the maximum numerical weight each criterion may be given in the review and evaluation process.

Reviewers also are evaluating the project products and materials proposed in applications. They will be interested in applicants' plans for sustaining the project without Federal funds if the evaluation findings are supportive. Reviewers will be looking to see that the total budget proposed and the way the budget is apportioned is appropriate and reasonable for the project described. Applicants are cautioned to remember that the reviewers only have the information provided them "and thus all information in the application must be clear, complete, and concise.

The results of the competitive review are a primary factor in making funding decisions. In addition, Federal staff conducts administrative reviews of the applications and, in light of the results of the competitive review, will recommend applications for funding to the ACYF Commissioner. ACYF reserves the option of discussing applications with other funding sources when this is in the best interest of the Federal government. ACYF may also solicit and consider comments from ACF Regional Office staff in making funding decisions. ACYF may take into consideration the involvement (financial and/or programmatic) of the private sector, national, or State or community foundations; a favorable balance between Federal and non-Federal funds for the proposed project; or the potential for high benefit from low Federal investment. ACYF may elect not to fund any applicants having known management, fiscal, reporting, programmatic, or other problems which make it unlikely that they would be able to provide effective services or effectively complete the proposed activity.

With the results of the peer review and the information from Federal staff, the Commissioner of ACYF makes the final funding decisions. The Commissioner may give special consideration to applications proposing services of special interest to the Government and to achieve geographic distributions of grant awards. Applications of special interest may include, but are not limited to, applications focusing on unserved or inadequately served clients or service areas and programs addressing diverse ethnic populations.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Administration for Children and Families

Grants and Cooperative Agreements; Notice of Availability

Federal Agency Name: Administration for Children and Families, Office of Community Services.

Funding Opportunity Title: Community Economic Development National Philanthropic Institutions.

Announcement Type: Competitive Grant-Initial.

Funding Opportunity Number: HHS-2004-ACF-OCS-CED-0021.

CFDA Number: 93.570.

Dates: Applications are due June 25, 2004.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

The Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) Act of 1981, as amended, (Section 680 of the Community Opportunities, Accountability, and Training and Educational Services Act of 1998), authorizes the Secretary to award grants and provide technical and financial assistance for economic development activities designed to address the economic needs of low-income individuals and families by creating employment and business ownership opportunities.

The Office of Community Services (OCS) will accept competing applications for grants in the form of cooperative agreements for Community Development Corporation/National Philanthropic Institution Projects (CDC/NPI) that support neighborhood transformation and create jobs and business ownership opportunities for low-income residents of urban areas. Faith-based organizations that meet the eligibility requirements specified in this announcement may apply for these grants.

Applicants must be non-profit community development corporations (CDCs) including faith-based CDCs that:

(a) Propose a project that will focus on neighborhoods located in a city with at least 250,000 residents where a comprehensive neighborhood transformation initiative is planned or underway;

(b) Demonstrate firm and substantial support (financial or other support) for the proposed project from one or more locally based philanthropic institution(s); and

(c) Demonstrate firm and substantial support (financial or other support) for the proposed project from a consortium of national philanthropic institutions, financial institutions, and government agencies that is strengthening community development and community revitalization in urban neighborhoods throughout the nation.

Project Beneficiaries: Applicants must show that the proposed project will assist low-income persons to become economically self-sufficient by creating employment or business ownership opportunities for them or significantly aiding such residents in maintaining an economically viable business. The Poverty Income Guidelines published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services at <http://aspe.hhs.gov/poverty.shtml> are used to define "low income." In addition, grantees may contact the OCS Operations Center to obtain a copy of the guidelines. No other government agency or privately defined poverty guidelines are applicable for the determination of low-income eligibility for these OCS programs.

Definitions of Terms

The following definitions apply:

Budget Period—The time interval into which a grant period is divided for budgetary and funding purposes.

Business Start-up Period—Time interval when the grantee completes preliminary project tasks. These tasks include but are not limited to assembling key staff, executing contracts, administering lease out or build-out of space for occupancy, purchasing plant and equipment and other similar activities. The Business Start-Up Period typically entails three to six months from when OCS awards the grant or cooperative agreement.

Cash contributions—The recipient's cash outlay, including the outlay of money contributed to the recipient by the third parties.

Community Development Corporation (CDC)—A private non-profit corporation governed by a board of directors consisting of residents of the community and business and civic leaders, which has as a principal purpose planning, developing, or managing low-income housing or community development projects.

Community Economic Development (CED)—A process by which a community uses resources to attract capital and increase physical, commercial, and business development, as well as job opportunities for its residents.

Construction projects—Projects that involve land improvements and development or major renovation of (new or existing) facilities and buildings, fixtures, and permanent attachments.

Cooperative Agreement—An award instrument of financial assistance when substantial involvement is anticipated between the awarding office, (the Federal government) and the recipient during performance of the contemplated project. Substantial involvement may include collaboration or participation by the designating awarding office staff in activities specified in the award and, as appropriate, decision-making at specified milestones related to performance. The involvement may range from joint conduct of a project to awarding office approval prior to the recipient's undertaking the next phase of a project.

Hypothesis—An assumption made in order to test a theory. It should assert a cause-and-effect relationship between a program intervention and its expected result. Both the intervention and its result must be measured in order to confirm the hypothesis. The following is a hypothesis: "Eighty hours of classroom training will be sufficient for participants to prepare a successful loan application." In this example, data would be obtained on the number of hours of training actually received by participants (the intervention), and the quality of loan applications (the result), to determine the validity of the hypothesis (that eighty hours of training is sufficient to produce the result).

Intervention—Any planned activity within a project that is intended to produce changes in the target population and/or the environment and that can be formally evaluated. For example, assistance in the preparation of a business plan is an intervention.

Job creation—New jobs, i.e. jobs not in existence prior to the start of the project, that result from new business startups, business expansion, development of new services industries, and/or other newly-undertaken physical or commercial activities.

Job placement—Placing a person in an existing vacant job of a business, service, or commercial activity not related to new development or expansion activity.

Letter of commitment—A signed letter or agreement from a third party to the applicant that pledges financial or other support for the grant activities contingent only on OCS accepting the applicant's project proposal.

Low Income Families and Individuals—People who are living in poverty, including those who rely on public assistance such as Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). Low-income beneficiaries may also include at-risk youth, custodial and non-custodial parents, public housing residents, persons with disabilities, and people who are homeless.

Non-profit Organization—An organization, including faith-based and community-based, that provides proof of non-profit status described in the "Additional Information on Eligibility" section of this announcement.

Outcome evaluation—An assessment of project results as measured by collected data that define the net effects of the interventions applied in the project. An outcome evaluation will produce and interpret findings related to whether the interventions produced desirable changes and their potential for being replicated. It should answer the question: Did this program work?

Phase One—The time interval when grantees accomplish preliminary activities including establishing third party agreements, mobilizing monetary funds and other resources, assembling, rezoning, and leasing of properties, conducting architectural and engineering studies, constructing facilities, etc.

Phase Two—The time interval during the Project Period when businesses, commercial development or other activities are in operation, and employment, business development assistance, and so forth are provided.

Poverty Income Guidelines—Guidelines published annually by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services that establish the level of poverty defined as low-income for individuals and their families. The guideline information is posted on the Internet at the following address: <http://aspe.hhs.gov/poverty.shtml>.

Philanthropic Institution—Foundations (including private, family and community foundations) and corporations (including, among other incorporated entities, banks and other lending institutions) that are providing grants and/or loans for charitable purposes, such as the elimination of slums and blight or provision of services for low-income families and individuals.

Process evaluation—The ongoing examination of the implementation of a program. It focuses on the effectiveness and efficiency of the program's activities and interventions (for example, methods of recruiting participants, quality of training activities, or usefulness of follow-up procedures). It should answer the questions such as: Who is receiving what services and are the services being delivered as planned? It is also known as formative evaluation, because it gathers information that can be used as a management tool to improve the way a program operates while the program is in progress. It should also identify problems that occurred, how the problems were resolved and what recommendations are needed for future implementation.

Program income—Gross income earned by the grant recipient that is directly generated by an activity supported with grant funds.

Project Period—The total time for which a project is approved for OCS support, including any approved extensions.

Self-employment—The employment status of an individual who engages in self-directed economic activities.

Self-sufficiency—The economic status of a person who does not require public assistance to provide for his/her needs and that of his/her immediate family.

Sub-award—An award of financial assistance in the form of money, or property, made under an award by a recipient to an eligible sub-recipient or by a sub-recipient to a lower tier sub-recipient. The term includes financial assistance when provided by any legal agreement, even if the agreement is called a contract, but does not include procurement of goods and services nor does it include any form of assistance which is excluded from the definition of "award" in 45 CFR Part 74. (Note:

Equity investments and loan transactions are not sub-awards.)

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)—The Federal block grant program authorized in Title I of the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (Pub. L. 104-193). The TANF program transformed "welfare" into a system that requires work in exchange for time-limited assistance.

Third party—Any individual, organization or business entity that is not the direct recipient of grant funds.

Third party agreement—A written agreement entered into by the grantee and an organization, individual or business entity (including a wholly owned subsidiary), by which the grantee makes an equity investment or a loan in support of grant purposes.

Third party in-kind contributions—Non-cash contributions provided by non-Federal third parties. These contributions may be in the form of real property, equipment, supplies and other expendable property, and the value of goods and services directly benefiting and especially identifiable to the project or program.

Program Purpose, Scope and Focus

OCS seeks to stimulate positive collaborative relationships between a small number of local private non-profit CDCs, locally based philanthropic institutions, and a national consortium of philanthropic institutions, financial services organizations and government agencies, to support neighborhood transformation in urban localities and to create long-term employment or business ownership opportunities for low-income people through business or commercial development.

OCS seeks to support a total of four (4) CDC/NPI projects. Each project will be in a city with 250,000 or more residents. OCS will fund projects in two phases: (1) Phase One—the initial portion of the project when the grantee CDC and its partners analyze needs and opportunities, develop collaborative relationships, and finalize plans for job creation or business ownership strategies in the context of a neighborhood transformation effort. During this phase, the CDC and its partners also develop a thorough business plan for the job creation or business ownership strategy to be implemented in Phase Two. OCS will release no more than $200,000 for this phase. (2) Phase Two—the portion of the project when the grantee CDC and its partners execute the project plan to establish the business or commercial development or other activities that create jobs or business ownership opportunities for low-income persons in the target neighborhoods. OCS will release the balance of the grant award for Phase Two activities when the grantee CDC meets relevant program requirements such as, for example, presenting a final business plan concerning the job creation or business ownership strategy.

The Cooperative Agreement

This announcement uses a cooperative agreement as the vehicle for funding Community Development Corporation/National Philanthropic Institution Projects. A cooperative agreement is an assistance instrument for which substantial involvement is anticipated between the awarding office and the recipient during performance of the funded activity. Substantial involvement may include collaboration or participation by designating awarding office staff in activities specified in the award and, as appropriate, decision-making at specified milestones related to performance. Potential types of substantial involvement under a cooperative agreement include, but are not limited to, collaborating in the design of a research protocol or a training or service delivery model; approving research protocols or analytical approaches or approving the initiation of a subsequent phase in a phased activity; training project staff in participating organizations; assisting in the evaluation of potential contractors; participating in the presentation of research results, including co-authorship of papers; or providing other assistance in program management or technical performance.

OCS and the grantee CDCs will each be responsible for particular duties and responsibilities throughout the project.

Guidance on Developing a Business Plan

Business Plans are vital for the long-term success of OCS-funded business development projects. As described by the Small Business Administration, a business plan precisely defines a business, identifies its goals, and serves as the business' resume. The plan helps the supporting CDC, the business and other partners allocate resources property, handle unforeseen complications, and make good business decisions. Please see Section VI. Award Administration Information for details about the Business Plan that will be required before the beginning of Phase Two.

Application Content

Each application must include the following components:

1. Table of Contents.

2. Project Summary/Abstract—A very brief narrative that identifies the type of project, the target population and the major elements of the work plan.

3. Objectives and Needs for Assistance—A thorough description of the economic situation and needs of residents of the target neighborhood(s) and the comprehensive community building or neighborhood transformation effort that is planned or currently underway in that neighborhood.

4. Results or Benefits Expected—Identify the results and benefits to be derived. For example, the number of new jobs that will be targeted for residents.

5. Approach—An overall project plan including detailed information about strategies to be implemented during Phase One and general information about strategies planned for Phase Two, as follows:

(a) Phase One Work Plan—The project work plan should list specific activities that the applicant and its philanthropic partner(s) and other partners would implement in Phase One. These activities may include, for example:

- (a) Develop and disseminate information and knowledge about trends, assets, and needs in the target low-income neighborhood(s);
- (b) Assess issues and factors concerning the overall neighborhood transformation process in the targeted neighborhood(s) and other areas of the city and evaluate the feasibility of potential job creation

- projects that will address needs in the targeted low-income neighborhood(s);
- (c) Convene meetings and discussion groups that include community development practitioners, leaders of other community-based organizations including community action agencies and faith-based organizations, financial investors and others to discuss findings and explore new ideas for neighborhood transformation and options for job creation strategies;
- (d) Develop materials that promote and explain the neighborhood transformation effort including the job creation component for potential supporters such as investors and leaders of other community-based organizations;
- (e) Implement strategies for mobilizing resources for the neighborhood transformation effort including the job creation component;
- (f) Develop organizational capacity of the applicant CDC by, for example, collaborating with CDCs in other cities that are implementing CDC/NPI projects, collaborating with philanthropic institutions that support CDC/NPI projects in other cities, hiring staff, training board members, training staff and volunteers, recruiting community volunteers, and developing management systems;
- (g) Develop a detailed Phase Two Work Plan for implementing a strategy for developing jobs or business ownership opportunities for low-income persons in the context of the neighborhood transformation strategy.

(b) Phase Two Work Plan—The project work plan should list and discuss specific activities planned for Phase Two. The strongest applications will include firm details about specific activities that the applicant and/or its national philanthropic partner(s) or other partners will implement in Phase Two. The application must include an initial rough draft Business Plan for the business(es) or other ventures planned for Phase Two. OCS will require grantees to submit a final and thorough Business Plan after Phase One and as a condition of receiving funds for Phase Two activities. Please see Section VI. Award Administration Information for detailed instructions on the format and content of the final Business Plan. The following four project components need not be fully in place at the time of application, but they must be in place before OCS will release funds for Phase Two activities: (a) Written commitments from partners other than local philanthropic foundations and other organizations; (b) commitments of all non-OCS funding; (c) third-party agreements; and (d) acquisition or site control of any proposed development site.

6. Project Assessment/Evaluation Plan—OCS requires applicants to include an outline of a project evaluation plan. The outline should explain how the applicant proposes to answer the key questions about how effectively the project is being/was implemented, whether the project activities, or interventions, achieved the expected immediate outcomes, and why or why not (the process evaluation); and whether and to what extent the project achieved its stated goals, and why or why not (the outcome evaluation). Together, the process and outcome evaluations should answer the question: “What did this program accomplish and why did it work/not work?” Applicants should ensure, above all, that the evaluation outline presented is consistent with their project design. A clear project framework identifies the key project assumptions about the target populations and its needs, as well as the hypotheses, or expected cause-effect relationships to be tested in the project; and the proposed project activities, or interventions that will address those needs in ways that will lead to the achievement of the project goals of self-sufficiency. It also identifies in advance the most important process and outcome measures that will be used to identify performance success and expected changes in individual participants, the grantee organization, and the community. Finally, the outline should provide for prompt reporting, concurrently with the semi-annual program progress reports, of lessons learned during the course of the project. Each successful applicant must have a third-party evaluator selected and performing by the time the project work begins. Plans for selecting an evaluator should be included in the application narrative.

7. Organizational Profile—A narrative and supporting documents, as follows:

(a) Proof of Non-Profit Status—Documentation about the applicant agency's non-profit status. Please include any one of the following:

- A reference to the applicant organization's listing in the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) most recent list of tax-exempt organizations described in the IRS code.

- A copy of a currently valid IRS tax exemption certificate.

- A statement from a State taxing body, State Attorney General, or other appropriate State official certifying that the applicant organization has a non-profit status and that none of the net earnings accrue to any private shareholders or individuals.

- A certified copy of the organization's certificate of incorporation or similar document that clearly establishes non-profit status.

- Any of the items in the subparagraphs immediately above for a State or national parent organization and a statement signed by the parent organization that the applicant organization is a local non-profit affiliate.

(b) Description of the Applicant's Relationship with a Locally Based Philanthropic Institution—A description of the applicant's relationship with one or more locally based national philanthropic institution(s) including details about what role the philanthropic institution(s) will have in assisting the applicant with all phases of the proposed project. Applicants must include clear written commitments from the participating philanthropic institution(s) indicating that they will work in partnership with the applicant and provide significant support for the proposed job creation project.

(c) Description of the Applicant's Relationship with a National Consortium of Philanthropic Institutions—A description of the applicant's and its partner locally based philanthropic institution's relationship with a national consortium of philanthropic institutions, financial services organizations and government agencies that support neighborhood transformation in urban places.

Applicants must include documents showing clear commitment from a national consortium indicating that it will work in partnership with the applicant and provide significant support for the proposed job creation project.

- A list of governing board members along with their designation as a community resident or business or civic leader; and

(Note: CDC grantees are responsible for ensuring that all grant funds are expended in compliance with applicable federal regulations and Federal Office of Management Budget Circulars.)

8. Budget and Budget Justification—Standard forms and a narrative as follows:

- Completed Standard Form 424—standard form signed by an official representative of the applicant CDC who has authority to obligate the organization.

IV.4 Intergovernmental Review

State Single Point of Contact (SPOC)

This program is covered under Executive Order 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs," and 45 CFR Part 100, "Intergovernmental Review of Department of Health and Human Services Programs and Activities." Under the Order, States may design their own processes for reviewing and commenting on proposed Federal assistance under covered programs. As of June 20, 2001, the following jurisdictions have elected not to participate in the Executive Order process. Applicants from these jurisdictions or for projects administered by federally-recognized Indian Tribes need take no action in regard to E.O. 12372:

All States and Territories except Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming have elected to participate in the Executive Order process and have established Single Point of Contacts (SPOCs). Applicants from these twenty-five jurisdictions need take no action regarding Executive Order 12372.

Although the jurisdictions listed above no longer participate in the process, entities which have met the eligibility requirements of the program are still eligible to apply for a grant even if a State, Territory, Commonwealth, etc. does not have a SPOC. All remaining jurisdictions participate in the Executive Order process and have established SPOCs. Applicants from participating jurisdictions should contact their SPOCs as soon as possible to alert them about the prospective applications and receive instructions. Applicants must submit any required material to the SPOCs as soon as possible so that the program office can obtain and review SPOC comments as part of the award process. The applicant must submit all required materials, if any, to the SPOC and indicate the date of this submittal (or the date of contact if no submittal is required) on the Standard Form 424, item 16a. Under 45 CFR 100.8(a)(2), a SPOC has 60 days from the application deadline to comment on proposed new or competing continuation awards.

SPOCs are encouraged to eliminate the submission of routine endorsements as official recommendations. Additionally, SPOCs are requested to clearly differentiate between mere advisory comments and those official State process recommendations which may trigger the "accommodate or explain" rule.

Comments should be submitted directly to Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families, Office of Grants Management, Division of Discretionary Grants, 370 L'Enfant Promenade, SW., Washington, DC 20447. A list of the Single Points of Contact for each State and Territory is included with the application materials for this announcement.

IV.5 Funding Restrictions

Cost Per Job

OCS will not fund projects with a cost-per-job that exceeds $10,000 in OCS Community Economic Development (CED) grant funds. An exception will be made if the project includes purchase or major renovation of real estate. In this instance, the applicant must explain the factors that raise the cost beyond $10,000. In no instance will OCS allow for more than $15,000 cost per job in CED funds. Cost per job is calculated by dividing the number of jobs to be created by the total grant amount.

National Historic Preservation Act

If an applicant is proposing a project that will affect a property listed in, or eligible for, inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places, it must identify this property in the application narrative (the Phase One or Phase Two Work Plans) and explain how it has complied with the National Historic Preservation Act of 1996, as amended. If there is any question as to whether property is listed in or eligible for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places, the applicant must consult with the State Historic Preservation Officer and describe in the narrative the results of this consultation.

Sub-Contracting or Delegating Projects

OCS will not consider applications that propose projects where the applicant would serve primarily as a conduit of funds to other organizations. Grantee CDCs must have a substantive role in implementing the proposed project. Grantees may award sub-grants or enter into sub-contracts with other organizations for specific services or activities.

Number of Projects in Application

Each application may include only one proposed project.

Prohibited Activities

OCS will not consider applications that propose to establish either a Small Business Investment Corporation or a Minority Enterprise Small Business Investment Corporation.

OCS will not consider applications for projects that focus primarily on education and job training or that involve training and placement for existing vacant jobs. Grantees may use OCS funds to support specific job-related training for individuals who have been selected for employment in the grant support project.

OCS will not consider applications for projects that would result in the relocation of a business from one geographic area to another resulting in job displacement.

Pre-award costs will not be covered by an award.

Limitations on Current Grantees: Applicants that are currently administering previously awarded OCS CED grants for Incremental Development Projects (IDP) are not eligible to receive a CDC/NPI project grant during the one-year period following the end of the project period of the last IDP grant award.

IV.6 Other Submission Requirements

V. Application Review Information

1. Criteria

Instructions: ACF Uniform Project Description (UPD)

The following are instructions and guidelines on how to prepare the "project summary/abstract" and "Full Project Description" sections of the application. The generic UPD requirement is followed by the evaluation criterion specific to the Community Economic Development National Philanthropic Institution Projects program. Public Reporting for this collection of information is estimated to average 25 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and reviewing the collection information.

The project description is approved under OMB Control Number 0970-0139 which expires 3/31/2004.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Purpose

The project description provides a major means by which an application is evaluated and ranked to compete with other applications for available assistance. The project description should be concise and complete and should address the activity for which Federal funds are being requested. Supporting documents should be included where they can present information clearly and succinctly. In preparing your project description, all information requested through each specific evaluation criteria should be provided. Awarding offices use this and other information in making their funding recommendations. It is important, therefore, that this information be included in the application.

Introduction

Applicants required to submit a full project description shall prepare the project description statement in accordance with the following instructions and the specified evaluation criteria. The instructions give a broad overview of what your project description should include while the evaluation criteria expands and clarifies more program-specific information that is needed.

Project Summary/Abstract

Provide a summary of the project description (a page or less) with reference to the funding request.

Objectives and Need for Assistance

Clearly identify the physical, economic, social, financial, institutional, and/or other problem(s) requiring a solution. The need for assistance must be demonstrated and the principal and subordinate objectives of the project must be clearly stated; supporting documentation, such as letters of support and testimonials from concerned interests other than the applicant, may be included. Any relevant data based on planning studies should be included or referred to in the endnotes/footnotes. Incorporate demographic data and participant/beneficiary information, as needed. In developing the project description, the applicant may volunteer or be requested to provide information on the total range of projects currently being conducted and supported (or to be initiated), some of which may be outside the scope of the program announcement.

Results or Benefits Expected

Identify the results and benefits to be derived. Explain how the project will reach the targeted population and how it will benefit participants or the community.

Approach

Outline a plan of action which describes the scope and detail of how the proposed work will be accomplished. Account for all functions or activities identified in the application. Cite factors which might accelerate or decelerate the work and state your reason for taking the proposed approach rather than others. Describe any unusual features of the project such as design or technological innovations, reductions in cost or time, or extraordinary social and community involvement.

Provide quantitative monthly or quarterly projections of the accomplishments to be achieved for each function or activity in, for example, such terms as the "number of people served." When accomplishments cannot be quantified by activity or function, list them in chronological order to show the schedule of accomplishments and their target dates.

If any data is to be collected, maintained, and/or disseminated, clearance may be required from the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB). This clearance pertains to any "collection of information that is conducted or sponsored by ACF."

List organizations, cooperating entities, consultants, or other key individuals who will work on the project along with a short description of the nature of their effort or contribution.

Evaluation

Provide a narrative addressing how the results of the project and the conduct of the project will be evaluated. In addressing the evaluation of results, state how you will determine the extent to which the project has achieved its stated objectives and the extent to which the accomplishment of objectives can be attributed to the project. Discuss the criteria to be used to evaluate results, and explain the methodology that will be used to determine if the needs identified and discussed are being met and if the project results and benefits are being achieved. With respect to the conduct of the project, define the procedures to be employed to determine whether the project is being conducted in a manner consistent with the work plan presented and discuss the impact of the project's various activities on the project's effectiveness.

Organizational Profiles

Provide information on the applicant organization(s) and cooperating partners such as organizational charts, financial statements, audit reports, documentation of professional accreditation, information on compliance with Federal/State/local government standards, documentation of experience in the program area, and other pertinent information. A non-profit agency can accomplish this by providing a copy of the applicant's listing in the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) most recent list of tax-exempt organizations described in Section 501(c)(3) of the IRS code, or by providing a copy of the currently valid IRS tax exemption certificate, or by providing a copy of the articles of incorporation bearing the seal of the State in which the corporation or association is domiciled.

Budget and Budget Justification

Provide line item detail and detailed calculations for each budget object class identified on the Budget Information form. Detailed calculations must include estimation methods, quantities, unit costs, and other similar quantitative detail sufficient for the calculation to be duplicated. The detailed budget must also include a breakout by the funding sources identified in Block 15 of the SF-424.

Provide a narrative budget justification that describes how the categorical costs are derived. Discuss the necessity, reasonableness, and allocability of the proposed costs.

Evaluation Criterion II: Approach (Maximum: 25 Points)

Factors:

(1) Overall project plan. The extent to which the application presents a clear and logical plan that lists the major tasks and explains how it will succeed in accomplishing the key objectives (e.g., the development of businesses and creation of jobs for low-income persons) during the Project Period. For example, the degree to which the application describes quarterly time targets for key tasks.

(2) Plan for Phase One. The extent to which the application describes a clear plan for the initial phase of the project. For example, a thorough presentation of a clear approach for developing information about the target neighborhood(s) and identifying appropriate job-creation strategies for low-income people in that area; strategies for promoting the overall neighborhood transformation project and involving other community-based organizations and other potential investors in the planning for the project; tactics for developing the organizational capacity of the applicant CDC (if warranted); and plans for creating an effective work plan for Phase Two.

Evaluation Criterion IV: Results or Benefits Expected (Maximum: 10 Points)

a. Benefits Expected

Factors:

(1) Measurable Results. The extent to which the application will produce permanent and measurable results including, but not limited to, employment and business development opportunities that reduce poverty and the need for TANF assistance in the community and thus enable families to be economically self-sufficient.

(2) Permanent Employment for Area Residents. The extent to which the applicant demonstrates that the project will, during the project period, result in new, permanent jobs or maintain permanent jobs for low-income residents at a cost-per-job not to exceed $10,000 in OCS funds. For example, the extent to which the applicant documents that the jobs to be created for low-income people have career development opportunities that will promote self-sufficiency.

b. Evaluation Design

Factors:

(1) Evaluation Design. The extent to which the application presents a through outline of an evaluation plan that identifies the principal cause-and-effect relationships to be tested, and that demonstrates the applicant's understanding of the role and purpose of both process and outcome evaluations. For example, the extent to which the application indicates that the applicant is committed to the selection of a third-party evaluator approved by OCS. Furthermore, the extent to which the applicant demonstrates that they will be able to complete a final evaluation design and plan, in collaboration with the approved evaluator and the OCS Evaluation Technical Assistance provider during the six-month start-up period of the project.

(2) Third-Party Evaluator. The extent to which the applicant identifies and describes a proposed third-party evaluator and demonstrates that the proposed evaluator is knowledgeable about, and has experience in, conducting process and outcome evaluations in the job creation field, and has a thorough understanding of the range and complexity of the problems faced by the target population.

(3) Project Reporting. The extent to which the application presents a reporting format based on its proposed activities and their effectiveness. For example, the extent to which the applicant proposes to submit semi-annual program progress reports that will provide OCS with insights and lessons learned concerning the various aspects of the work plan, such as recruitment, training, support, public-private partnerships, and coordination with other community resources, as they may be relevant to the proposed project.

Factors:

(1) Budget Amount. The extent to which the applicant seeks funding in an amount that is commensurate with the level of effort necessary to accomplish the goals and objectives of the project. For example, the extent to which the estimated cost to the government of the project is reasonable in relation to the anticipated results.

(2) Budget Detail. The extent to which the application includes a detailed budget breakdown and a narrative justification for each of the budget categories in the SF-424A. For example, the extent to which the applicant presents a reasonable administrative cost.

V.2 Review and Selection Process

OCS Evaluation of Applications

Applications that pass the initial program eligibility screening will be reviewed and rated by a panel based on the program elements and review criteria presented in relevant sections of this program announcement.

The review criteria are designed to enable the review panel to assess the quality of a proposed project and determine the likelihood of its success.

The criteria are closely related to each other and are considered as a whole in judging the overall quality of an application. The review panel awards points only to applications that are responsive to the program elements and relevant review criteria within the context of this program announcement.

The OCS Director and program staff use the reviewer scores when considering competing applications. Reviewer scores will weigh heavily in funding decisions, but will not be the only factors considered.

Applications generally will be considered in order of the average scores assigned by the review panel. Because other important factors are taken into consideration, highly ranked applications are not guaranteed funding. These other considerations include, for example: the timely and proper completion by the applicant of projects funded with OCS funds granted in the last five (5) years; comments of reviewers and government officials; staff evaluation and input; amount and duration of the grant requested and the proposed project's consistency and harmony with OCS goals and policy; geographic distribution of applications; previous program performance of applicants; compliance with grant terms under previous HHS grants, including the actual dedication to program of mobilized resources as set forth in project applications; audit reports; investigative reports; and applicant's progress in resolving any final audit disallowance on previous OCS or other Federal agency grants.

Funding Considerations: In cases where an application ranks high and is competitive, the following may apply: (a) Previous performance of the applicant is an important determining factor in the grant award decision; (b) OCS may conduct a pre-award site visit to assess an applicant prior to making a final determination on the grant award.

VI. Award Administration Information

VI.1 Award Notices

Following approval of the applications selected for funding, notice of project approval and authority to draw down projects will be made in writing. The official award document is the Financial Assistance Award, which provides the amount of Federal funds approved for use in the project, the project and budget periods for which support is provided, the terms and conditions of the award, and the total project period for which support is contemplated. The Financial Assistance Award will be signed by the Grants Officer.

VI.2 Administrative and National Policy Requirements

Grantees are subject to the requirements in 45 CFR part 74 (non-governmental) or 45 CFR part 92 (governmental).

development opportunities and a description of those jobs; the number of jobs that will be filled by individuals receiving TANF; the annual salary expected for each person employed.

(c) For low income individuals who become self-employed, the number of self-employed and other ownership opportunities created; specific steps to be taken including on-going management support and technical assistance provided by the grantee or a third party to develop and sustain self-employment after the businesses are in place; and expected net profit after deductions of business expenses.

Note: OCS will not recognize job equivalents nor job counts based on economic multiplier functions; jobs must be specifically identified.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

The Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) Act of 1981, as amended, (section 680 of the Community Opportunities, Accountability, and Training and Educational Services Act of 1998), authorizes the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services to make grants to provide technical and financial assistance for economic development activities designed to address the economic needs of low-income individuals and families by creating employment and business development opportunities. Pursuant to this Announcement, OCS will award operational project grants to Community Development Corporations (CDCs) that are experienced in implementing economic development projects.

The primary purpose of the Operational Projects (OPs) is to assist eligible CDCs that have in place written commitments for all projected non-OCS funding, project operations and site control for their economic development project. Low-income beneficiaries of such projects include those who are determined to be living in poverty as determined by the HHS Guidelines on Poverty at <http://aspe.hhs.gov/poverty/poverty.shtml>. They may be unemployed, on public assistance, including Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), are at risk teenagers, custodial and non-custodial parents, public housing residents, persons with disabilities and persons who are homeless.

Operational Projects are designed to encourage rural and urban community development corporations to create projects intended to provide employment and business development opportunities for low-income people through business or commercial development. Generally the opportunities must aim to improve the quality of the economic and social environment of TANF recipients; low-income residents including displaced workers; at-risk teenagers; non-custodial parents, particularly those of children receiving TANF assistance; individuals residing in public housing; individuals who are homeless; and individuals with disabilities. Grant funds under this announcement are intended to provide resources to eligible applicants (CDCs) but also have the broader objectives of arresting tendencies toward dependency, chronic unemployment, and community deterioration in urban and rural areas.

Eligible applicants should submit a business plan that shows the economic feasibility of the venture. Applicants for an OP should have in place written commitments for all projected non-OCS funding required for the project. Written proof of commitments from third parties should be submitted with the application. Letters of support, only, are insufficient. The application should also clearly explain whether it has site control, and if not, the time period required to obtain site control.

Under this OP grant announcement for Fiscal Year 2004, particular emphasis will be placed on applications for retail development that will (1) bring goods and services into underserved urban communities, (2) provide at least 60 sustainable jobs with benefits per site and (3) provide equity ownership for CDCs. The application must include a signed commitment on the part of a retailer to establish one or more businesses in an urban area. Because the approach to retail is city-wide, unlike other CED awards, these grants may fund more than one project. In addition to other costs allowed under the Operational Project (OP) announcement, funds may be used for an assessment of the retail market in a city, a demographic analysis of potential consumers, identification of funding and other resources available to the project, and means to integrate social and community services into the project.

Project Goals

CED projects should further HHS goals of strengthening American families and promoting their self-sufficiency, and OCS goals of promoting healthy families in healthy communities. The CED Program is particularly directed toward public-private partnerships that develop employment and business opportunities for low-income people and revitalize distressed communities.

Project Scope

Projects may include business startups, business expansions, development of new products and services, and other newly-undertaken physical and commercial activities. Projects must result in creation of new jobs. Each applicant must describe the project scope including the low-income community to be served, business activities to be undertaken and the types of jobs to be created.

Definitions of Terms

The following definitions apply:

Beneficiaries—Low-income individuals (as defined in the most recent annual revision of the Poverty Income Guidelines published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services) who receive direct benefits and low-income communities that receive direct benefits.
