Introduction

The Dexter Gordon Collection [ML31.G67] was acquired by the Music Division of the Library of Congress from Maxine Gordon, widow of Dexter Gordon, in 1999.

A few 45 rpm records which accompanied the collection were transferred to the Motion Picture, Broadcast and Recorded Sound Division of the Library of Congress. For further information about these materials, see the staff of the Motion Picture, Broadcast and Recorded Sound Division.

There are no restrictions on viewing any of the materials in this collection. Patrons are encouraged to consult the Music Division's Permissions File for more information.

Some of the materials in this collection are fragile and patrons are asked to use extreme care in handling.

This Finding Aid was prepared with Corel WordPerfect 8; an online version is available in the Performing Arts Reading Room.

Scope and Content Note

The bulk of the materials in the Dexter Gordon Collection were amassed and collected by Maxine Gordon, Gordon's wife, from the late 1970s until Dexter Gordon's death in 1990. The materials date from the early 1940s until the 1992, with the bulk between 1976 and 1988. Important among the biographical materials in the collection is an unfinished and unpublished autobiography tentatively entitled "The Saga of Society Red," a project which Gordon began in 1983. It is composed of a number of interrelated vignettes which recount various incidents in Gordon's life and career including his relationships with a number of Jazz musicians such as Count Basie, Lionel Hampton, Lester Young, his European tours, and meetings with celebrities.

There are two boxes of music in the collection. The first box contains works composed by Gordon and they are, for the most part, photocopies of leadsheets. Some are annotated. In addition there are full scores and parts for Gordon's works Rainbow People, Montmarte and Soy Calita. The second box contains music by other composers including works from the film After Midnight; most of these materials are photocopies.

Included with the correspondence, which date from 1976 to 1988, are letters, greeting cards, notes and related materials sent to Gordon, as well as sympathy correspondence sent to his family upon his death. In addition, there are original typescripts and photocopies of correspondence between Gordon and various record companies, agents, managers, and performing venues. Some important correspondents include Jimmy Carter, Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker, Ronald Reagan, Bertrand Tavernier.

There is an extensive collection of clippings dating from the period 1976-1988 with a few materials from the early 1940s. A number of international jazz-related and other publications, including magazines, feature articles in various languages on Gordon and his music and related subjects. Gordon's copies of the scripts for the motion pictures Awakenings, To Sleep with Anger, Paris Jazz, Crime Story and Leonard VI are included in the script series.

Among the business papers is an extensive collection of bills and receipts, mostly dating from 1976 to 1989 as well as a collection of performing and recording contracts. These materials provide a glimpse at Gordon's performing activities during this period.

The iconography in the collection includes a number of photographs, mostly black and white, of Gordon and other Jazz musicians (Charles Mingus, Woody Shaw, etc.) and these materials date from the early 1940s until the 1990s. In addition there are several posters advertising various Gordon appearances.
