

JIM BRADLEY*Managing Director of the Official Journals Of Government

As Managing Director of the Official Journals of Government, Jim Bradley will oversee the print and electronic requests for the daily newspapers, The Congressional Record and The Federal Register. This business unit will also process work for Senate and House bills, reports, hearings, documents, laws and other Congressional publications. The creation of the Official Journals of Government business unit in 2008 is part of GPO's Strategic Vision for the 21st Century, which is a plan to better serve agency customers and the American people.

Biography

Before heading up this business unit, Bradley served as GPO's Managing Director of Customer Services. For more than a decade, Bradley has led GPO in providing printing procurement, web design and creative services consultation to Congress and federal agencies. His leadership in customer outreach and satisfaction has helped GPO become a more efficient and customer-driven agency. Bradley was responsible for such key publications such as The Budget of the U.S. Government, The 9-11 Commission Report and Medicare and You. He was also involved in agency work on U.S. Census products. Before coming to GPO in 1996, Bradley served for 14 years in Congress as a professional staff member for the Joint Committee on Printing.

From 1980 to 1983, Bradley was the Printing Officer for the Department of Energy. From 1971 to 1980, he held a variety of operational and management positions at the Internal Revenue Service, including managing the composition, procurement, and production of business and individual tax forms for nationwide distribution.

Bradley holds a Bachelor of Science degree in printing management, with a minor in business administration, from Sam Houston State University.