August 20, 1986

Honorable George Bush President of the Senate Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Mr. President:

In accordance with the alternative procedures of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, Public Law 99-177, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget and the Director of the Congressional Budget Office do hereby submit to you our initial Sequestration Report for Fiscal Year 1987.

This joint report estimates budget levels for 1987 following the specifications set forth in the Act. The budget estimates are based on laws and regulations in effect on August 15, 1986, and on appropriations for fiscal year 1986, because no appropriations for 1987 have been enacted. Since the projected deficit exceeds the maximum deficit amount by more than $10 billion, the report also calculates the amounts and percentages by which various budgetary resources must be sequestered to eliminate the deficit excess.

The report is in two parts: a summary and an appendix that provides a detailed listing of all sequestration reductions by agency and budget account. The summary section includes our economic assumptions and a discussion of conceptual differences regarding the application of P.L. 99-177 to a number of budget accounts. The report does not contain a listing of sequestration reductions for defense programs, projects, and activities because no defense appropriations bills for 1987 have been enacted.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Kuelelph Tr

Rudolph G. Penner Director Congressional Budget Office

James C. Miller III Director Office of Management and Budget

INTRODUCTION

The Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Public Law 99-177) stipulates that budget deficits must be decreased annually and specifies measures that must be taken to achieve this result. The maximum deficit amounts specified by the Act are:

Maximum Deficit (in billions of dollars)
72.0
zero

The Act provides that a deficit estimate that exceeds the maximum level by any amount in 1986 and 1991, or by more than $10 billion in 1987-1990, triggers an automatic spending reduction procedure to eliminate the excess deficit through the "sequestration" of budgetary resources. Except for special and trust funds, sequestration is the permanent cancellation of new budget authority and other authority to obligate and expend funds. (Amounts sequestered in special and trust funds remain in such funds.)

For 1986, the automatic procedure took place between January and March. In July, however, the Supreme Court ruled the procedure by which the sequestration occurred was unconstitutional because the Act violated the principle of separation of powers by granting the Comptroller General final authority to determine the size and composition of the sequestration the President must order. The Act contains a "fallback" mechanism (described below) that was implemented after the Supreme Court's decision that the Comptroller General's role was unconstitutional. The Congress passed a joint resolution reaffirming the 1986 reductions made earlier, and the President signed it (Public Law 99-366).

Under the fallback mechanism, the first step in the sequestration process for 1987 is submission of this joint report by the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Director of the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) to the Congress. The report will be referred to the Temporary Joint Committee on Deficit Reduction, composed of the entire membership of the House and Senate Budget Committees. The report:

- o estimates budget base levels, including the amount by which the projected deficit exceeds the maximum deficit amount for the fiscal year covered by the report;
- o provides OMB and CBO economic assumptions, including the estimated rate of real economic growth; and o calculates the amounts and percentages by which various budgetary resources must be sequestered in order to eliminate any deficit excess.

This document is the Directors' initial report for 1987. The budget estimates reflect laws and regulations in effect on August 15, 1986. A revised report will be submitted on October 6. That report will reflect laws enacted and regulations promulgated after August 15 that affect the 1987 budget. If either report estimates a 1987 deficit in excess of $154 billion, the Directors must calculate the sequester needed to reduce the deficit to $144 billion -- the maximum deficit amount. After receiving the report the Temporary Joint Committee must, within five calendar days, report to the House and Senate a joint resolution "setting forth the contents of the report." Within the next five days the Congress is in session, both Houses are required to vote on the joint resolution. If the resolution becomes law, the President must follow its terms in issuing his sequester order.

This procedure applies to both the initial and the revised reports of the Directors. A sequester order based on the August 20 report would become effective October 1. A sequester order based on the October 6 report would become effective on October 15 or on the date the President signs the order, whichever is later.

BUDGET BASE LEVELS

This report deals only with fiscal year 1987. The OMB and CBO estimates of total revenues, outlays, and the deficit for 1987 are shown in Table 1. These estimates are made in accordance with the specifications set forth in the Act. They assume that current law for revenues and entitlements will continue unchanged, and that expiring provisions will terminate as scheduled.1/

For spending accounts that require appropriations, the OMB and CBO estimates are based on the appropriations enacted for fiscal year 1986, because no appropriations have yet been enacted for fiscal year 1987.2/ As required by the Act, the budget estimates include the receipts and outlays of the social security trust funds, even though they are legally off-budget and the benefits are exempt from sequestration.

1/ The Act permits an exception to the expiring-provision assumption for excise taxes dedicated to a trust fund (but not for spending authority in that trust fund) and for Commodity Credit Corporation price support programs. In these cases, the budget base levels are to assume extension of the provisions and programs through the fiscal year at current rates.

2/ See the discussion of conceptual issues on page 21.

Table 1.--BUDGET BASE LEVELS FOR 1987 (in billions of dollars)

Budget	OMB	CBO	Average
Aggregates	Estimates	Estimates
Revenues	826.4	827.8	827.1
Outlays	982.6	998.5	990.5
Deficit	156.2	170.6	163.4

OMB's deficit estimate for 1987 is $156.2 billion, and CBO's deficit estimate is $170.6 billion. The average of the two deficit estimates is $163.4 billion, which exceeds the maximum deficit amount of $144.0 billion by $19.4 billion. Since the average deficit excess of $19.4 billion is greater than $10.0 billion, sequestration calculations are required in this report. They are discussed in a separate section below.

The major factors accounting for the $14.5 billion difference between the OMB and CBO baseline deficits are shown in Table 2. Conceptual differences regarding the baselines for appropriated entitlements and Federal pay raises, which are discussed in a separate section below, increase CBO's estimate of outlays by $4.7 billion above OMB's estimate. Technical estimating differences account for most of the remaining difference. Excluding pay raises, CBO's estimates of defense outlays are $5.2 billion higher than OMB's. Most of this difference is due to different assumptions about spendout rates. OMB assumes defense spendout rates consistent with the 1987 Congressional Budget Resolution. CBO assumes that defense outlays will follow historical spending patterns.

CBO's estimates for Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) farm price supports is $5.1 billion higher than OMB's estimate due to CBO's assumption of advance deficiency payments for the 1987 crop year in fiscal year 1987 ($4.3 billion) and technical estimating differences ($0.8 billion).

Economic assumptions account for only $0.9 billion of the difference in the deficits. Both OMB and CBO project that the inflation rate underlying the cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) for social security and related programs will be below the 3 percent threshold set in current law. If legislation is enacted to override this threshold and pay a COLA in 1987, CBO projects a benefit increase of 1.3 percent and would raise its estimate of the baseline deficit by $0.8 billion. Under the lower benefit increase of 0.8 percent assumed by OMB, however, the higher outlays associated with the benefit increase would be offset by higher revenues and medicare premiums, leaving the OMB estimate of the baseline deficit unchanged.

On August 7, CBO estimated that the baseline deficit for 1987 was $173 billion. Subsequent developments have reduced the estimate by $2 billion. On August 15, the Health Care Financing Administration published final regulations eliminating periodic interim payments under Medicare, reducing 1987 outlays by $3.5 billion. On the other hand, estimated outlays for farm price supports have increased by $1.5 billion. About $1.2 billion of this с 1 increase is due to higher estimated corn and soybean production; the remainder is due to the feed cost-sharing program announced by the Secretary of Agriculture on August 1. Other changes have little net effect on CBO's estimate of outlays.

ECONOMIC ASSUMPTIONS

The principal economic assumptions underlying the OMB and CBO budget base level estimates for fiscal year 1987 are shown in Table 3.

The Act requires the OMB and CBO Directors to estimate the rate of real economic growth for the fiscal year covered by their report, for each quarter of the fiscal year, and for the last two quarters of the preceding fiscal year. If either OMB or CBO projects real economic growth to be less than zero for any two consecutive quarters, or if the Department of Commerce reports actual real growth to have been less than 1 percent for two consecutive quarters, many of the provisions of the Act can be suspended by the Congress. The OMB and CBO estimates for the rate of real economic growth for fiscal year 1987 are included in Table 3 and the quarterly estimates are shown in Table 4. Neither office projects real economic growth to be less than zero in any quarter during fiscal year 1987.

SEQUESTERABLE RESOURCES

The required reductions in outlays are not made directly; rather, they are to be achieved by the permanent cancellation -- referred to under the Act as "sequestration" -- of budget authority and other authority to obligate and expend funds. For defense programs, sequesterable budgetary resources are new budget authority provided for 1987 and unobligated balances of budget authority provided in previous years. For nondefense programs, the sequesterable budgetary resources are new budget authority, new direct loan obligations, new loan guarantee commitments, obligation limitations, and spending authority as defined in Section 401(c)(2) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. This definition of spending authority includes Federal payments financed by offsetting collections that are credited to budget accounts as well as various permanent appropriations.

Not all budgetary resources are subject to sequestration. The Act exempts a number of programs and activities of the Federal Government from the sequestration process. As shown in Table 5, the largest are social security benefits, net interest, certain low-income programs, veterans compensation and pensions, and regular State unemployment insurance benefits. Also exempt from sequestration are prior legal obligations of the Government in certain specified budget accounts, as well as the program bases for programs with automatic spending increases resulting from changes in price indexes (mostly retirement and disability programs). Federal administrative expenses for exempt programs and activities, however, are sequesterable, otherwise including programs that are self-supporting. Outlays from obligated balances for defense programs and outlays from obligated and unobligated balances of prior-year appropriations for nondefense programs are generally not subject to sequestration. Defense contracts can be modified or terminated to achieve outlay savings, but the President has until September 5 to choose whether or not to do so for fiscal year 1987.

Certain programs and activities, while not exempt, are subject to special rules that have the effect of limiting the amount of the spending reduction. For example, the sequestration of budgetary resources for medicare, veterans medical care, and certain health programs (but not for the administrative expenses of these programs) is limited to 2 percent annually in 1987 through 1991. The total amount of the automatic spending increases (primarily cost-of-living adjustments) is sequesterable.

For credit programs, the measures governing sequesterable budgetary resources are direct loan obligations and loan guarantee commitments. In the event of a sequester, the Act requires that credit limitations enacted in annual appropriation acts be reduced, and that de facto limitations be imposed on both types of new credit activity where there is no enacted limitation.

Although for most accounts CBO and OMB agree or are close to each other on the levels of budgetary resources and outlays, there are some exceptions. The largest exception concerns the sequestration of the administrative expenses of the Postal Service. Both CBO and OMB agree that $1.2 billion of budgetary resources are sequesterable. CBO believes that there is no evidence that the Postal Service has taken any steps to reduce spending in response to the President's sequestration order of March 1986 (as reaffirmed -7-by P.L. 99-366). Moreover, the Administration appears to have no mechanism for enforcing a sequestration order with regard to the Postal Service. CBO assumes that, as in 1986, a 1987 sequester order would not cause the Postal Service to make any specific spending reductions. CBO therefore shows no outlay savings resulting from the sequestration of budgetary resources for the Postal Service. In contrast, OMB believes that the Postal Service will reduce its outlays, consistent with the with the Act comply to across-the-board percentage sequestration applied to the functions and programs of the executive, legislative, and judicial branches -- despite the fact that the Postal Service's budgetary resources are not subject to OMB apportionment controls, and despite questions concerning the amount of savings achieved in 1986.

In provisions of the Panama Canal Commission accordance with the Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1987 (P.L. 99-368), the sequestration report shows no reduction in budgetary resources or outlays for the Panama Canal Section 6 of that Act amends the Panama Canal Act of 1979 by Commission. adding the following new subsection: "Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no reduction under any order issued pursuant to the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 shall apply to the Commission if the implementation of such an order would result in a payment to the Republic of Panama...." While this provision does not change the instructions given to the Directors in the Balanced Budget Act with regard to preparation of their joint report, it is intended to make any sequestration order against the Panama Canal Commission unenforceable. One way to handle these conflicting instructions would be to show sequesterable budgetary resources for the Commission but no outlay savings. To avoid this peculiar result, the Directors have decided to show no sequesterable resources for the Panama Canal Commission, even though the Balanced Budget Act makes no provision for exempting the Commission.

Congress has also passed, but the President has not yet signed, the Insular Areas Regulation Act (H.R. 2478). Section 19 of the bill requires that Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands be paid the full amounts required under the laws establishing their relationships with the United States, notwithstanding the Balanced Budget Act. Like the Panama Canal Commission Authorization, however, the bill does not amend the instructions to the Directors contained in the Balanced Budget Act.

If such legal ambiguities are to be avoided, exempting these and other programs from sequestration should be accomplished by amending the specifications for the sequestration report contained in the Balanced Budget Act.

Table 5 provides further detail on the OMB and CBO base level outlay estimates for 1987. An estimated $169.0 billion of 1987 outlays for defense programs, or 62 percent of total defense outlays, are associated with budgetary resources subject to an across-the-board percentage reduction.

An estimated $231.1 billion, or about one-third of estimated outlays for nondefense programs, are associated with sequesterable budgetary resources. Of this, $48.8 billion in estimated outlays are for programs with automatic spending increases, primarily Federal employee retirement and disability programs. For these programs, the amount of spending reduction required by the Act is limited to the cost-of-living adjustments. Another $86.4 billion in estimated outlays are associated with certain special rule programs, of which the largest is medicare. The Act also limits the extent of spending reductions for these programs.

Of the total estimated 1987 nondefense outlays of $716.9 billion, an estimated $96.0 billion -- about 13 percent of nondefense outlays -- are associated with budgetary resources subject to an across-the-board percentage reduction.3/ An estimated $485.8 billion, or two-thirds of total estimated outlays for nondefense programs, are exempt from sequestration by the Act.

For both defense and nondefense programs, an estimated $590.4 billion in outlays, or 60 percent of total outlays, are associated with budgetary resources exempt from sequestration.

SEQUESTRATION CALCULATIONS

First, the deficit excess is calculated by subtracting the maximum deficit amount from the estimated deficit in the budget base. One-half of the excess is assigned to defense programs (budget accounts in the national defense function, 050, excluding the Federal Emergency Management Agency) and the other half to nondefense programs.

Second, the total amount of outlay savings from eliminating automatic spending increases is calculated. Provided that the resulting savings are not more than one-half of the total required reduction, the automatic increases are eliminated. One-half of the resulting savings for indexed retirement and disability programs are applied toward the required reduction amount for defense programs and the other half to nondefense programs. All savings from eliminating automatic spending increases in three other specific programs -- the National Wool Act, the special milk program, and vocational rehabilitation -- are applied to the required reduction in outlays for nondefense programs.

Third, the amount of outlay savings to be obtained by applying four special rules is calculated. These special rules are for guaranteed student loans, foster care and adoption assistance, medicare, and certain health programs, and are described in a later section of this report.<sup>4</sup> The estimated savings from these four special rules are applied toward the required spending reductions in nondefense programs.

The remaining reductions in defense programs and nondefense programs must be taken on a uniform percentage basis, computed separately for each category. The uniform reduction percentages are computed from outlay estimates. The remaining outlay savings to be achieved in defense and nondefense spending are divided by the estimated outlays associated with sequesterable budgetary resources in each category. These uniform percentages are then applied to all of the remaining sequesterable budgetary resources (budget authority, credit authority, and other spending authority) for defense and nondefense programs.

In the event that the Directors of OMB and CBO are unable to agree on any of these calculations, the Act requires that their estimates be averaged to the extent necessary to produce a single, consistent set of data that achieves the required deficit reduction.

 $\frac{4}{\Gamma}$  A number of special rules apply to other programs, such as the Commodity Tredit Corporation, but they do not enter into the sequester calculations at this step.

b/ Includes estimated 1988 outlays for the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) that can be affected by a 1987 sequester (see discussion of special rule for the CCC). The OMB estimate is $14,137 million, the CBO estimate is $9,215 million, and the average is $11,676 million.

Table 6 shows the OMB and CBO calculations and the averaged amounts for each of the steps described above. The total required outlay reduction for 1987 is $19.4 billion, one-half of which -- $9.7 billion -- must be obtained from defense programs and the other half from nondefense programs. An estimated $359 million in outlay savings in 1987 can be achieved by eliminating the automatic spending increases scheduled for civil service, military, and other Federal retirement and disability programs. One-half, or $180 million, is allocated to defense programs, and one-half to nondefense programs. Another $7 million in savings can be obtained by eliminating the automatic spending increase for the National Wool Act. (The special milk program is also an indexed program but in 1987 the change in the price index is projected to be below the threshold needed to trigger an increase.) The outlay savings for programs where the spending reductions are limited by special rules (guaranteed student loans, foster care and adoption assistance, medicare, and several other health programs) are estimated to be $1.4 billion.

After crediting one-half of the retirement cost-of-living adjustment savings to defense programs, the remaining outlay reductions of $9,525 million in the national defense function in 1987 must be obtained by reducing new budget authority and unobligated balances by a uniform percentage. The 1987 outlays associated with sequesterable budgetary resources for defense programs are estimated to be $164.3 billion by OMB and $173.6 billion by CBO. The average of these amounts is $169.0 billion. Thus, the uniform percentage to be applied to sequesterable defense budgetary resources is 5.6 percent. The uniform percentage to be applied to nondefense programs, after deducting the savings from one-half of the retirement cost-of-living adjustments and from the special rule calculations, is 7.6 percent.

The OMB and CBO calculations generally assume that all nonexempt budgetary resources can be sequestered so as to produce outlay savings, including entitlement programs and other mandatory spending programs where the spending authority is not controlled through the annual appropriations process. In a few instances, where the uniform percentage reduction of budgetary resources would not produce any outlay savings (for example, for credit programs where new direct loan limits are higher than expected program levels), no outlays were included in the sequester base used for calculating the reduction percentages.

AUTOMATIC SPENDING INCREASES

The programs with automatic spending increases subject to sequestration by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act are listed in Table 7. The scheduled percentage increases are shown as well as the amount of estimated outlay savings to be gained by eliminating these increases. The OMB and CBO estimates differ for the amounts to be reduced by sequestration, because OMB projects a 0.8 percent cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) for civil service and military retirement, while CBO projects a 1.3 percent increase. Table 7 shows the OMB and CBO estimates of the COLAs for each program, and the average outlay savings from a 100 percent reduction as a result of sequestration.

SPECIAL RULES

The Act provides special rules for the sequestration of budgetary resources for certain Federal programs. This section describes these special rules and their application to the 1987 sequestration calculations. The estimated outlay savings derived from the first four rules are shown separately in Table 6. Any outlay savings resulting from the remaining special rules are included in the amount to be obtained from the uniform percentage reductions.

Guaranteed Student Loan Program

The Act requires two changes in the guaranteed student loan (GSL) program to occur automatically under sequestration. First, the statutory factor for calculating the quarterly special allowance payments to lenders will be reduced by 0.40 percentage points for the first four quarters after the loan is made. Second, a student's origination fee will increase by 0.50 percentage points. In both cases, sequestration affects only GSL loans made during the applicable fiscal year, but after the order is issued. For 1987, these changes are estimated to reduce spending authority by $48 million and outlays by $30 million.

Foster Care and Adoption Assistance Programs

The Act limits the amount to be sequestered in the foster care and adoption assistance programs to increases in foster care maintenance payment rates or adoption assistance payment rates taking effect during the current fiscal year. Moreover, they are limited to the extent that the reductions can be made by reducing Federal matching payments by a uniform percentage across States. The increases in payment rates for these programs are made by the States and localities. Any increases planned by the States for fiscal year 1987 were included in the OMB and CBO calculations for sequestration reductions. The estimated savings in 1987 from sequestration are $2.4 million in spending authority and $1.7 million in outlays.

Medicare

The sequestration reductions in the medicare program are to be achieved by reducing payment amounts for covered services. No changes in co-insurance or deductible obligations are to be made, and covered services are unaffected under a sequestration order. Under such an order, each payment amount would be reduced by a maximum of 2 percent for 1987 and each subsequent year in which there is sequestration, relative to whatever level of payment would otherwise be made under medicare law and regulation. The reduction would be proportionately reduced in any year in which the excess deficit is small enough to permit a smaller reduction. Based on the need for a $19.4 billion sequestration in 1987, a reduction of 2 percent will be required for this year. The estimated outlay savings to be achieved in 1987 by applying this special rule is $1.2 billion.

Veterans Medical Care and Other Health Programs

The Act limits reductions in budget authority for veterans medical care, community and migrant health centers, and Indian health services and facilities to 2 percent in 1987 and any subsequent year. The amount of savings to be achieved in 1987 by applying this special rule for the nonadministrative funds in these programs is $192 million in budget authority and $163 million in estimated outlays.

Child Support Enforcement Program

In the child support enforcement (CSE) program, the Act provides that sequestration of entitlement payments to States, including incentive payments from the assistance payments account, is to be accomplished by reducing the Federal matching rates for State administrative expenses. For 1987, the Federal matching rate on most expenditures will be reduced from 70 percent to 63.91 percent, and the rate for computer-related expenditures will be reduced from 90 percent to 82.17 percent. This reflects a reduction in the matching rates to achieve the same 7.6 percent reduction applied to other nondefense programs, adjusted to allow also for the sequestration of spending on incentive payments.

If States increase their share of CSE spending to maintain total program spending at the expected 1987 level, this reduction in the Federal matching rate will lower Federal outlays by the same percentage as other nondefense programs. If States do not increase their 1987 spending, however, the lower Federal matching rate would result in a larger percentage reduction in Federal spending than the Act requires. The amount of savings to be achieved in 1987 by applying this special rule is estimated to be $63.5 million in spending authority and $62.9 million in outlays. In addition, savings of $1.7 million in outlays are to be achieved by cutting Federal administration and research and by offsetting collections.

Unemployment Compensation Programs

The Act provides that the following items are not to be sequestered: regular State unemployment benefits, the State share of extended unemployment benefits, benefits paid to former Federal employees and former members of the armed services, and loans and advances to the State and Federal unemployment accounts. The Federal share of extended benefits, unemployment insurance for railroad employees, other federally paid benefits, and State and Federal administrative expenses are to be sequestered.

Both the Federal and State shares of extended unemployment benefits are paid from the unemployment trust fund -- the Federal share from a Federal account and the State share from each State's account. The amount of each weekly extended benefit is set by State law. The Act permits any State to reduce the weekly extended benefit amount by a percentage equal to the percentage reduction in the Federal share. If States do not change their laws to provide for such a reduction, weekly benefit payments will not be reduced, the State share will increase by the amount of the decrease in the Federal share, and total budget outlays, which include both Federal and State benefits, will not be changed by the sequestration. Only one State expected to be paying extended benefits in 1987 has reduced its weekly benefit amount, as permitted by the Act. That State (Louisiana) has reduced each payment by the amount of the reduction in the Federal share, leaving the State share unreduced.

Commodity Credit Corporation

The Act requires that payments and loan eligibility under any contract entered into by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) after a sequestration order has been issued for a fiscal year be subject to a percentage reduction. The Act requires that reductions for all farm commodities supported by the CCC be made in a uniform manner, including all noncontract programs, projects, and activities within CCC's jurisdiction. The Act further stipulates that outlay reductions in the post-sequester year that are the result of contract adjustments in the sequester year should be credited to the overall outlay reduction required in the sequester year. The amount of outlay savings to be achieved by applying this special rule is estimated to be $0.4 billion in 1987, and $0.9 billion in 1988. The actual amount of savings realized in each year will depend upon how the sequester is implemented for the various CCC programs. In accordance with the Act. however, all $1.3 billion of these estimated outlay savings are credited toward the $19.4 billion spending reduction required for 1987.

Mine Workers Disability Compensation

Increases in disability benefits under the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act are to be treated in the same manner as other automatic spending increases. This Act covers black lung and special benefits for disabled coal miners, which are indexed to changes in Federal pay for civilian employees. Since the President has proposed a 2 percent increase in these pay levels in 1987, the savings from the application of this special rule are estimated to be $21 million.

Federal Pay

The Act provides that rates of pay for civilian employees (and rates of basic pay, basic subsistence allowances, and basic quarter allowances for members of the uniformed services), or any scheduled pay increases, may not be reduced pursuant to a sequestration order. Budgetary resources available for Federal pay, however, will be subject to sequestration as part of the reduction of administrative expenses. The total amount of Government-wide savings to be achieved in 1987 from reducing available funds for employee compensation cannot be estimated because program managers are urged not to resort to personnel furloughs and reductions-in-force until other methods of achieving savings prove insufficient, such as reducing spending for travel, printing, supplies, and other services.

-17-

Defense Contracts

Existing contracts in defense programs can be terminated or modified to achieve outlay savings if such action would neither result in a net loss to the Government nor violate the legal obligations of the Government, and if the President notifies the Comptroller General and the Congress of proposed contract terminations and modifications by September 5.

SEQUESTRATION REDUCTIONS

A summary of the sequestration of budgetary resources and the estimated outlay savings for 1987 is provided for defense programs in Table 8 and for nondefense programs by function in Table 9. The defense outlay reduction of $9.5 billion is lower than one-half of the required $19.4 billion because the savings from eliminating automatic spending increases for Federal retirement programs -- including military retirement -- are counted in the income security function and are shown in the nondefense savings table. Table 10 provides a summary of the 1987 sequestration reductions by agency. In most instances additional outlay savings would be gained in 1988 and later years as a result of the elimination of various 1987 automatic spending increases and the cancellation of 1987 budget authority. The 1988 savings have not been estimated for this report.

A detailed listing of the sequestration reductions by agency and budget account is provided as an appendix to this report. The report does not contain a listing of sequestration reductions for defense programs, projects, and activities because no defense appropriations bills for 1987 have been enacted.

CONCEPTUAL ISSUES

In the 1986 sequestration report, the Directors of CBO and OMB reached agreement in interpreting all the various provisions of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act except one: the application of the Act to interest payments made to the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA). This report has added two interest payment accounts to the WMATA issue, and three new issues on appropriated entitlements, pay raises, and Veterans Administration (VA) policy loans.

Appropriated Entitlements

The issue here is how certain "entitlement" programs, such as medicaid, supplemental security income, veterans compensation and others that are appropriated annually should be counted in determining the baseline. Should they be classified as "spending authority" programs under Section 401(c)(2) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 (if so, the baseline for these programs would be based on current law) or as annually appropriated programs (if so, the baseline would be equal to the latest annual appropriation)?

Section 251(a)(6) of the Act states that the budget base shall be determined by:

"(A) assuming...the continuation of current law in the case of revenues and spending authority as defined in section 401(c)(2) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974;

(B) assuming in the case of all accounts to which subparagraph (A) does not apply, appropriations equal to prior year's appropriations except to the extent that annual appropriations or continuing appropriations for the entire fiscal year have been enacted..."

Section 401(c)(2) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended by the Balanced Budget Act, defines "spending authority" as authority to enter into contracts, incur indebtedness, or make payments, "the budget authority for which is not provided for in advance by appropriation Acts." (This phrase is repeated in Sections 401(c)(2)(A),(B),(C), (D), and (E)).

In OMB's view this language is unambiguous: so-called appropriated "entitlement" programs cannot be classified as "spending authority" programs under the definitions of Section 401(c)(2) because they are provided budget authority in advance by appropriation acts. Whatever one might suspect Congress intended or thought it intended in passing this legislation, the language in this section of the statute is unambiguous and can be read in only one way. In interpreting unambiguous statutory language, previous Congressional treatment of these programs is immaterial.5/ Viewing the language of the new statute as it is and finding no ambiguity, OMB believes that Congress has explicitly precluded these programs from being classified as "spending authority" programs.

In the light of twelve years of settled Congressional practices under the Congressional Budget Act, CBO believes that appropriated entitlements should be included in the budget base according to its and OMB's best estimates of next year's spending levels in those programs. Estimating appropriated entitlements at the previous year's appropriated level would lead to an understatement of the estimated deficit.

In CBO's view, "spending authority," as defined in Section 401(c)(2), applies program, including appropriated entitlements, whose budgetary any resources precede and do not necessarily depend on annual appropriations. In programs that have independent spending authority but do not have a trust fund or similar funding mechanism, the appropriation committees annually appropriate funds to satisfy prior Federal contracts, debt, and benefit However, the Congress repeatedly has asserted that commitments commitments. in these programs would be legally enforceable in the absence of these Because provisions of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 appropriations. -- including those defining "spending authority" and "budget authority" -are rules of the two Houses of Congress, CBO has followed the House's and the definitions of entitlements, including appropriated Senate's latest entitlements, to the extent that they are the same.

Pay Raises

The Act states that in calculating the baseline, Federal pay adjustments should be assumed "as recommended by the President" (Section 251(a)(6)(D)). Both OMB and CBO agree that the baseline estimates should reflect the pay rates proposed in the President's Mid-Session Review -- 4 percent for military personnel effective October 1, 1986, and 2 percent for civilian employees effective January 1, 1987. OMB and CBO differ, however, in whether this section requires inclusion of additional budgetary resources to fund these higher pay rates.

In OMB's view, neither Section 251(a)(6)(D) nor any other section of the Act permits budgetary resources for higher pay rates to be added to the baseline. As described above, Section 251(a)(6) clearly defines how the budget base

<sup>5/</sup> Congressional treatment of these programs is also inconsistent. For example, when the law establishing the black lung disability trust fund was considered in the Congress, the requirement that spending from the trust fund be provided in appropriation acts was added to avoid referral of the authorizing legislation to appropriations committees, which Congressional rules require if "spending authority" is included in legislation. Thus, in this case, an appropriated entitlement was not considered "spending authority."

shall be determined. Anticipated or proposed appropriations are not allowed to be counted as part of the budget base under this or any other section of the Act. Because no appropriations to fund Federal pay adjustments as recommended by the President were enacted by August 15, the statute does not permit these items to be added to the base. In OMB's view, where the statute is clear there is no occasion or need to probe for alleged Congressional intent or consult report language to divine its meaning.

In any event, the purpose of including Section 251(a)(6)(D) was apparently to prevent the President from reducing outlays by proposing a reduction in pay. The President proposed to reduce pay rates in the 1986 Budget, and Congress sought to prevent this action from being used as a way to project a lower deficit.

In CBO's view, the instruction in the Balanced Budget Act concerning the President's recommended pay adjustments must be read in the complete context of Section 251(a)(6). That material instructs the agencies how to estimate next year's spending, revenues and deficit -- the so-called budget base. If, as in the OMB view, no budgetary resources are added to the budget base in order to fund pay raises, the instruction becomes meaningless, and the deficit is understated. If Federal pay increases were to be ignored for next year's estimates, Congress would not have written any instruction on Federal pay levels, especially not in the definition of the budget base. Rather, the instruction recognizes that pay raises typically are financed through a supplemental appropriation that follows the regular appropriation acts by several months. CBO concludes that this instruction tells the agencies to estimate next year's supplemental for federal pay increases in light of the President's latest authoritative statement of what he intends Federal pay levels to be and how much of any increase he expects Federal agencies to absorb in their regular appropriations for salary and expenses. CBO therefore has included in its estimate of the budget base pay raise allowances in the dollar amounts recommended by the President in the Mid-Session Review of the 1987 Budget.

Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority and Other Interest Payment Programs

OMB and CBO are still unable to resolve a conceptual issue regarding the application of the Act to interest payments made to WMATA. In exploring the WMATA issue, CBO and OMB realized that they differ in the treatment of two other interest payment accounts, the medical facilities guarantee and loan fund and the higher education facilities loans and insurance (HEFLI) accounts. These accounts were not sequestered in the January report. However, in OMB's view the same arguments that apply to WMATA also apply to these accounts and thus, OMB has classified the budget authority and outlays of these accounts as sequesterable. CBO continues to believe that all three interest payment programs are not sequestrable.

Under the authority of the National Capital Transportation Act of 1969, as amended, the Secretary of Transportation has guaranteed the principal and interest of $997 million in borrowing by WMATA. The National Capital Transportation Amendments of 1979 further authorized the Secretary of Transportation to pay two-thirds of the principal and interest due on these federally guaranteed WMATA bonds. By agreements between the Secretary and -24-the Authority, executed in 1979 and 1982, the Federal Government has made interest payments to WMATA. These payments are conditional on compliance with the Antideficiency Act, as amended, which prohibits expenditures in advance of, or in excess of, available appropriations. The Congress has regularly and annually appropriated funds to cover the Federal obligation to WMATA, including the payments made in 1986, which amounted to $51.7 million. The medical facilities and HEFLI programs are operated in a similar manner.

CBO regards the 1987 interest payments in these programs as nonsequesterable on two grounds. First, Federal spending exists in these accounts solely to satisfy fully executed past commitments of the Federal Government under contracts authorized by law. Current budget practices concerning this type of spending are inconsistent. Sometimes such spending is shown as a spendout of obligated balances of budget authority (and, as such, exempt), and sometimes such spending is shown as appropriations (in CBO's view, to satisfy antecedent 401(c)(2) spending authority). CBO believes that interest subsidy payments should be uniformly characterized as spendouts of obligated balances of budget authority. CBO believes that, in the light of the Balanced Budget Act, budget accounting practices should be construed in a way that avoids any possibility that the Federal Government would default on loan repayments to private lenders.

Second, in the case of WMATA, the bonds are federally guaranteed both as to principal and interest. If the Federal Government defaults on its obligation to pay its interest share by reason of a sequester, the Government nevertheless would remain liable for the full payment under the guarantee, a liability that CBO believes is enforceable by a claim against the United States. CBO believes that if a sequestration would ultimately and necessarily be defeated by claims, judgments and relief acts, which are exempt from sequestration, then the amount in question should not be sequestered.

Similarly, in the case of the medical facilities loan account, the program's underlying statute authorizes the Secretary of HHS to borrow from the Treasury to avoid defaulting on these payments. Both the back-up duty and the basic loan commitments presumably are enforceable in the courts. Thus, the funds would have to be paid in any event -- either because of back-up borrowing, or because they would come from the exempt account that covers claims against the United States. In these circumstances, CBO sees no purpose to be served by sequestering this account.

OMB agrees that the appropriations for these accounts ought not to be sequestered, but does not believe this outcome is permitted by the statute's language. The Act provides exemptions only for certain named prior legal obligations and, more generally, for obligated balances in nondefense accounts. Section 255(g)(2) of the Act specifically exempts from sequestration the prior legal obligations of 46 credit programs that provide $\frac{6}{10}$  In the case of the higher education facilities program, the effect of the sequester would be a reduced payment to the Treasury for interest on loan capital. Therefore, a sequester in this instance would not affect either outlays or the deficit. CBO nonetheless believes the account should be exempt as a spend-out of an obligated balance.

Federal guarantees similar to the guarantee provided to the WMATA bonds and medical facilities loans. OMB believes that exemptions for the WMATA and medical facilities guarantees should have been added to this list, but they were not. In addition, because the interest payments for all three programs are expressly subject to the availability of an annual appropriation, and because the Act provides for withholding from obligation of any sequestered amount pending the President's final order, OMB further believes that exemptions for WMATA, medical facilities, and HEFLI interest payments based on the existence of obligated balances are not applicable.

In its review of the 1986 CBO-OMB report, the General Accounting Office (GAO) agreed with the CBO position on WMATA, although for reasons different from those used by CBO. The Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriation Act of 1986, enacted on December 19, 1985, provided $51.7 million for interest on payments; GAO claimed that a legal obligation was established at the time of this appropriation to pay WMATA interest charges, i.e., before the 1986 sequester became effective. Therefore, while GAO agreed with OMB that "the program is in the sequesterable base," GAO exempted it for 1986 because the budgetary resources had already been obligated. If a sequester order is issued in accordance with the timing specified in the Act, obligations for these payments cannot be entered into and, therefore, cannot be exempted as obligated balances.

Veterans Administration Policy Loans

Since last year's report, questions have arisen about whether the option of insured veterans to borrow against the cash values in their life insurance policies under one of several VA programs should have been sequestered. Last year's report did not exempt those options.

OMB continues to believe that the Act exempted only those portions of these life insurance accounts deemed to be prior legal obligations. Since the language of the life insurance policies at issue state clearly that the right to borrow is one within the ability of the issuer to grant as a matter of discretion, no legal obligation to act exists. Hence, the ability of the VA to deny a loan means that veterans' life insurance policy loans cannot constitute prior legal obligations and are, therefore, sequesterable.

The CBO now believes that these policy loans constitute prior legal obligations of the Government in accounts listed in Section 255(g)(2) and are therefore exempt from sequestration. In CBO's view, the phrase "prior legal obligations" exempts spending in accounts listed at Section 255(g)(2) not only to satisfy past commitments but also to support new commitmments if they clearly arise under the terms of prior legal obligation (as that term is normally understood). A loan to a veteran against the cash value of his or her policy, although a new commitment of budgetary resources, is one that arises under pre-existing contractual provisions. To interpret the purpose of paragraph 255(g)(2) more narrowly would make the specific exemption for prior legal obligations largely redundant with the Act's general exemption of obligated balances of budget authority.

Impact of Conceptual Differences

Section 251(a)(5) of the Act requires averaging whenever CBO and OMB differ. Both Directors are of the view that averaging produces a result that is not consistent with either of their legal positions on the proper treatment of these conceptual issues relating to the amounts to be included in the baseline and whether certain programs are subject to sequester. Nevertheless, the sequestration percentages of 7.6 percent for nondefense programs and 5.6 percent for defense programs were derived using an average of the conceptual differences. If CBO's positions were to prevail, OMB's estimates of baseline outlays would rise by $4.7 billion and the sequestration percentages would be 8.7 percent for nondefense and 6.3 percent for defense. If OMB's positions were to prevail, the sequestration percentages would be 6.5 percent for nondefense and 5.0 percent for defense. APPENDIX: SEQUESTRATION REDUCTIONS BY AGENCY AND BUDGET ACCOUNT

(fiscal year 1987; in thousands of dollars)

Percentages Used: Non-Defense, 7.6%; Defense, 5.6%
