The following three initiatives provide business operating efficiencies and enhance the President's ability to manage resources needed to meet emerging priorities in a timely manner.

1) As part of the 2009 Budget, the Administration is requesting a consolidation and financial realignment of the following accounts that directly support the President. The initiative would consolidate the annual appropriations of the Compensation of the President and White House Office, Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, the Office of Policy Development, the Council of Economic Advisers, the National Security Council, and the Office of Administration, into a single appropriation called "The White House."

2) The Administration is requesting a Title VII general provision that would provide for a 10 percent transfer authority among the following Executive Office of the President accounts: The White House, Special Assistance to the President and Official Residence of the Vice President, Office of Management and Budget, United States Trade Representative, Office of National Drug Control Policy, Council on Environmental Quality, and the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Transfers from the Special Assistance to the President and the Official Residence of the Vice President account are subject to the approval of the Vice President.

3) As part of the effort to centrally administer common enterprise services for the Executive Office of the President, the Administration is requesting the move of rent funding for the Office of Management and Budget and the Office of National Drug Control Policy into the Office of Administration program.

Funding for enterprise service costs supporting Executive Office of the President accounts (e.g., transportation subsidies, rent-based federal protective services, flexible spending account administrative fees, and health unit operations) is requested in the Office of Administration program.

This White House account, with estimated 2009 costs, includes: Compensation of the President and the White House Office ($52.9 million), the Executive Residence at the White House ($13.4 million), White House Repair and Restoration ($1.6 million), Council of Economic Advisers ($4.1 million), Office of Policy Development ($3.6 million), National Security Council ($9.0 million), and the Office of Administration ($105.9 million).

The 2008 funding and 2009 appropriations request for the Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board is reflected in the "Other Independent Agencies" section of this Appendix.

In addition, ONDCP administers the Counterdrug Technology Assessment Center, the National Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign, the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas Program, and the Drug Free Communities Program. (Descriptions of these programs are found in the Federal Drug Control Programs section of this Appendix.)

For 2009, the account provides funding for personnel compensation, travel, and other basic operations of the Office. As part of the effort to centrally administer common enterprise services for the Executive Office of the President, funding to cover ONDCPs costs for transportation subsidies, rent-based federal protective services, flexible spending account administrative fees, and health unit operations has been requested by the Office of Administration (OA). In addition, the OA budget requests moving space rental funding from ONDCP to OA. The account also provides funding for general policy research to support the formulation and evaluation of the National Drug Control Strategy.

In order to provide for enhanced flexibility in allocating resources and staff in support of the President and the Vice President, and permit a more rapid response to changing national needs and priorities, the Budget request contains a Title VII general provision that provides for a 10 percent transfer authority between this account and other accounts in the Executive Office of the President.

The Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP) provides advice to the President concerning policies in science and technology and on the use of science and technology in addressing important national problems. The OSTP operations include support to other Executive Office of the President organizations on issues with science and technology considerations; with the Office of Management and Budget, review and analysis of and recommendations on research and development budgets for all Federal agencies; coordination of research and development programs of the Federal Government; coordination of the implementation of a number of important international science and technology agreements; and other activities necessary to carry out the duties, functions, and activities described in Public Law 94-282, the National Science and Technology Policy, Organization, and Priorities Act of 1976. OSTP also provides support for the National Science and Technology Council and the President's Council of Advisors on Science and Technology.

Funding to cover OSTP's costs of transit subsidies and flexible spending account administrative fees has been requested by the Office of Administration as part of the effort to centrally administer common enterprise services for the Executive Office of the President. In order to provide for enhanced flexibility in allocating resources and staff in support of the President and the Vice President, and permit a more rapid response to changing national needs and priorities, the Budget contains a Title VII general provision that provides for a 10 percent transfer authority between this account and other accounts in the Executive Office of the President.

Request for the Science and Technology Policy Institute: In 1990, Congress authorized a new Federally Funded Research and Development Center (FFRDC), the Science and Technology Policy Institute (STPI), to provide analytical support to OSTP, 42 U.S.C. 6686. Through this statute, Congress set forth STPI's duties, directed the National Science Foundation (NSF) to sponsor the FFRDC, and for OSTP to initiate its studies. Currently run by the Institute for Defense Analyses, STPI provides objective technical analyses in support of OSTP's work. STPI analyzes various science and technology issues to help OSTP provide sound advice to the Administration's policy-making processes, and to better manage and coordinate the Federal R&D enterprise. Other Federal agencies also utilize STPI's services. The 2009 Budget requests $3.04 million for STPI. Because NSF sponsors STPI, OSTP requests that this amount be fully funded within the NSF budget in support of OSTP's mission.

The Spectrum Relocation Fund, created by the Commercial Spectrum Enhancement Act of 2004, streamlines the process for reimbursing Federal agencies that must relocate wireless communications systems from Federal spectrum that has been reallocated to commercial use. Auction receipts associated with the reallocated spectrum from the Advanced Wireless Services spectrum license auction were deposited into the Fund in December 2006. To expedite clearing of the auctioned spectrum, the statute provides mandatory spending authority for approved relocation payments. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) administers the Fund in consultation with the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) of the Department of Commerce. By law, unused funds will revert to the general fund of the Treasury no later than December 2014. Actual relocation timelines vary by agency and are approved by OMB, in consultation with NTIA. The estimated mandatory spending is $1,044 million from 2007 to 2012, of which all but $58 million was transferred on a non-expenditure basis, and was made available to agencies beginning in March 2007. The Budget includes a receipt account for the deposit of auction proceeds, as well as a program account to provide reimbursement for the relocation of Federal systems.
