GSA Vehicle Replacement Criteria Changes

GSA Fleet Management is beginning the FY 1999 vehicle acquisition cycle. This is the peak time of year when Fleet Managers work with customers to determine their vehicle needs for vehicles that might be eligible for replacement. But, before you contact your Fleet Management Center concerning replacement needs, please read on.

Manufacturers are building vehicles that last much longer than in years past. We have modernized the replacement criteria for several types of vehicles to bring us up-to-date with the technological and warranty advances in the automotive industry. The new criteria are listed below with revisions shown in bold.

Vehicle Category	Years	Miles
Sedans and station wagons	3 and or 4 (any)	36,000 any 60,000

Special Equipment Varies by Type

Increasing the length of time that we keep vehicles will save the Government millions of taxpayer dollars without adversely affecting the service you have come to expect. It should also help in avoiding large annual rate increases!

If, based on the revised criteria, you believe you should be receiving a new vehicle, please contact your servicing Fleet Management Center. We do want to stress, however, that these criteria are minimums only. A vehicle may exceed these criteria when the vehicle in question is in good condition with a good maintenance record, and can reasonably be expected to remain so. Such decisions are left to the discretion of individual Fleet Managers.

These revised criteria will be published in the new rate bulletin scheduled to be out soon. This information, and much more, can be viewed on our home page on the Internet at:

<http://www.fss.gsa.gov/motor>

Make Tracks with MATTRACKS

The Office of Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services is delighted to announce the award of a new contract for MAT-TRACKS under Federal Supply Schedule 38 II B for Construction, Snow and Highway Maintenance Equipment Attachments.

Engineered for off-road use, the MAT-TRACKS 16-inch wide track tread design provides a smooth ride on hard surfaces with traction in mud, sand and snow. The anti-torque suspension system prevents track wind-up under full acceleration, braking, and navigating obstacles or depressions.

MATTRACKS fit nearly all makes and models of 4x4 vehicles by simply interchanging parts. With these rugged tracks, you can retain the use of your vehicle for normal operation and convert to the track mode when and where you need it.

So, if you would really like to make tracks, contact Brenda Sajous of the Automotive Division on 703-308-4665 or contact our Customer Service and Marketing Teams on 703-308-CARS.

What's the Alternative?

Nonpetroleum fuel is the answer to that question! The Office of Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services can provide you with a variety of alternative fuel vehicles (AFVs) which operate on nonpetroleum fuels such as Ethanol (E85), Compressed Natural Gas (CNG), Propane (LPG), Electric Vehicles and a number of bi-fuel vehicles operating on either CNG or gasoline; LPG or gasoline.

The Federal Government has intensified its efforts to use these fuels and promote their use by others. Now let's do our part in helping to improve the nation's air quality and decrease the growing dependence on imported oil. We can do this by adhering to the various Executive Orders mandated by the Federal Government. These include Executive Order 13031, the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (EPACT) and the Clean Air Act of 1990. For Fiscal Year 1998, 50% percent of an agency's annual light duty vehicle purchases should be AFVs. In fiscal year 1999 and thereafter, the percentage will be 75%. Law Enforcement vehicles and vehicles located outside the 125+ metropolitan statistical areas are exempt from these mandates.

If your interest is to purchase AFVs, our Automotive Division's contracting personnel procures AFVs from the Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM) and/or a source that has an agreement with the OEM for continuation of the OEM's whole vehicle warranty. If your interest is to lease AFVs, our Fleet Management Division coordinates with the manufacturers and fuel producers to help establish maintenance, repair and refueling facilities to support our AFV customers.

News and Information

Andrews AFB joins the GSA Express Team

On Tuesday, June 23, 1998, once again, GSA and the United States Air Force partnered to open the newest GSA Express at Andrews Air Force Base, MD. To celebrate the grand opening, GSA Assistant Regional Administrator, Jack Williams and Andrews Air Force Base Commander, Michael A. Wright, gave opening remarks, cut a symbolic ribbon, and previewed a new video on the GSA/Air Force partnership.

Showcasing popular Customer Supply Center and Industrial Supply Center items, the GSA Express will offer customers the opportunity to better know the products they are buying. Colonel Wright praised GSA's express system and GSA's support to the 89th Supply Squadron. The Air Force had to close the base service store "allowing personnel to be redistributed to other areas of the squadron." GSA partnered with the Air Force and shared the responsibilities. GSA will help Andrews save "$700,000 in stock fund monies which can now be used to stock more critical items throughout supply—like spare parts for airplanes."

Located just 10 miles from Washington DC, Andrews AFB has become a main port of entry for military and government officials en route to the United States. The base is home to the presidential aircraft "Air Force One." The base also hosts over 26,000 active duty personnel, civilian employees, and family members. The 89th Logistics Group controls all of flight-line, maintenance, supply, transportation, and contracting functions on the base.

Made up of six selectively manned units, the 89th Group supports all aircraft, aerospace ground equipment, munitions, and the fabrication of aircraft components.

GSA Express provides easy access to GSA Customer Supply Centers, as well as other FSS programs through catalogs, brochures, displayed items, and an on-site computer configured to accept electronic orders. Most importantly, GSA Express will allow customers at Andrews AFB to focus on their core mission, while GSA ensures that they have the supplies they need to do their critical jobs. For more information, please contact Tonya Butler at (202) 619-8921 or Katie Meehan at (215) 656-5541.

GSA Recognized for Uncle Sam's Club

The Philadelphia Federal Executive Board recognized GSA's Mid-Atlantic Region Federal Supply Service with its Silver Medal Award at the 1998 Excellence in Government Awards Program on May 19, 1998. The award, presented in the Economy in Government Operations Category, was in recognition of Uncle Sam's Club, GSA's innovative strategic partnership with its largest customer, the U.S. Navy's Fleet Industrial Supply Center in Norfolk, VA, and the National Industries for the Blind. Matt Peterson accepted the award on behalf of team members Skip Duncan, Scott Deane, Morris Boiman, Mike Ruggeri, Liz Snyder, Willie Mills, Chris Bennethum, Pete Carovillano, Angel Melendex, Valerie Bowling and William Clayton.

Uncle Sam's Club opened on April 1, 1997, on the waterfront of the world's largest Naval Base in Norfolk, VA. Since then, it has flourished as a means for immediate access to the most critical items without the burden of inventory, finance, and procurement costs. The partnership provides the Navy an opportunity to explore the various worlds of GSA services and products via GSA Advantage!TM, GSA product displays, GSA catalogs and publications, direct telephone and computer access to the partnership with the National Industries for the Blind (NIB). Not only is NIB providing quality products for Uncle Sam's Club, it is providing quality service through on-site representatives. The partnership facilitates the Navy's ability to achieve its core mission, while providing jobs to those visually impaired and saving the taxpayers money.

Paging is now on GTE's Federal Wireless Contract!

CONTRACT NUMBER:
G300T97N3D0001

GTE, SkyTel, & GSA FTS: Partners in Paging

Agencies are now ordering pagers against the Federal Wireless Telecommunications Services (FWTS) Contract since GTE selected SkyTel as paging subcontractor in November 1997. SkyTel provides pager equipment purchase/lease, training, maintenance, add-on services and consolidation.

Good for federal agencies and, as authorized by law, for state, local and tribal government agencies. Also, this Contract has yearly options until the year 2004!

No Further Competition is Necessary

Since the FWTS Contract met all Competition in Contracting Act (CICA) requirements before it was awarded, you don't have to go out for bids when you want to order or renew pagers.

Wouldn't it be easier to receive 1 invoice each month for paging services? Work with 1 vendor? Call 1 customer service number? Before you renew with multiple vendors, call to consolidate all your pagers with SkyTel.

SkyTel accepts & welcomes I.M.P.A.C. cards!

Contract Advantages to Ordering Agencies

Coverage--SkyTel offers the best and most complete selection of paging coverage available through RCC contracts. Lower Pricing than SkyTel Government card--agencies can't buy SkyTel services for less!
Economy of Scale--FWTS contract prices decrease as the number of total users increase. Small agencies can now get large discounts, just like large agencies.

Money-saving incentives will be offered by SkyTel, saving agencies valuable budget money.

Delivery Order against a fully competed contract--not a Purchase Order against an uncompleted Schedule Easy to procure. Easy to order!

Are You Using a Nationwide Alpha Pager? Check out the new SkyWriter 2000...more features for less $!

It's the first 2-way AlphaNumeric pager that has the "QWERTY" keyboard that computer and typewriter users already know! The first to allow users to create group codes actually on the pager. And the first to send messages later that you've put in queue while you were out-of-range. With 1.25 megabytes of memory, this new Motorola pager has plenty of storage space, and operates on a rechargeable NiMH battery, saving agencies battery money.

The new SkyWriter 2000 is the second model offered on SkyTel's unique 2-way nationwide network. Other features, create text messages to send to any other SkyTel pager or email address in the world, store and deliver up to 72 hours, and garbled message correction.

Other Pagers Lost Their "Beep", but not SkyTel's!

Recently, 40 million paging subscribers found themselves without pager service for hours/days, when a faulty satellite spun out of orbit. SkyTel is the only paging provider with redundant systems, allowing SkyTel pagers to be switched to an alternate functional contracted satellite within 10 minutes of the outage!

Office of Transportation and Property Management

Automated Screening of Excess Personal Property "Market in Place"

A pilot program entitled "Recycling Control Point (RCP)" has now begun at the Defense Reutilization and Marketing Office in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. RCP is essentially an automated screening process of excess military depot stock, in which no-cost transfers of excess property to Federal customers will occur without prior physical inspection. By decreasing the amount of movement of depot stock from its original storage point, DOD hopes this electronic "Market in Place" concept will enhance the accountability and overall visibility of their excess stocks. In order to ensure the effectiveness of DOD's initiative (particularly the accuracy of descriptive data), potential Federal transferees are encouraged to view regularly RCP property through FEDS, GSA's automated inventory system of available excess property. Once Federal customers obtain the necessary password from their respective National Utilization Officer, FEDS can be accessed at the following internet address: www.fss.gsa.gov/property.html

We value our customers' input, so please let us know of any problems you may encounter or feel free to share general observations. If successfully deployed, RCP may be implemented on a national basis; therefore, your comments are important. Please send questions and comments to:

Federal Disposal System (FEDS) Accessible on the Internet

The Federal Disposal System (FEDS) now can be accessed via Internet website www.fss.gsa.gov/property.html. Please "bookmark" this address for all future transactions and disregard any previous FEDS website address that may have been provided to you.

FEDS on the Internet is easier to access than the direct phone method. In addition, users can save data entry time by using a mouse to "click" on options rather than typing. We still offer direct-connect service for those customers who are unable to use the Internet. This service is available at 1-888-377-2122.

Household Goods Shipment Weight Discrepancies

The currently effective Request for Offers (RFO), 1997-98 edition, issued under GSA's Centralized Household Goods Traffic Management Program (CHAMP), contains a rule governing excessive weight estimates. The rule, found at RFO paragraph 2-6.12, provides Federal agency household goods shippers that experience a high cost estimate in connection with a premove survey an opportunity to challenge the estimate's accuracy. Following is an explanation of how the rule works.

Weight Variance. If the actual shipment weight is greater than 115% of the premove survey weight, the moving company must, prior to billing the Federal Agency, notify the Responsible Transportation Officer (RTO) or his/her third party representative of the original weight of the shipment and be prepared to justify the difference. If the moving company fails to provide this notification, the "agreed weight" under the rule automatically is 115% of the premove survey weight. The rule also stipulates that the "agreed weight" of the shipment will be 155% of the premove survey weight if the moving company fails to adequately justify the difference between the actual and premove survey weights. The "agreed weight" takes precedence in these instances over the actual weight for assessing transportation, accessorial, and storage-in-transit charges if such charges are freight-based.

Transporting Privately Owned Vehicles

Did you know...

The General Services Administration amended the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR) effective March 22, 1997 (62 FR 13794, March 21, 1997) to allow a Federal agency to authorize transportation of a privately owned vehicle (POV) in connection with the transfer of an employee within the Continental United States (CONUS). The authority also applies to the assignment of a new appointee or student trainee residing within CONUS to his/her first CONUS official duty station. An agency may exercise the authority only when transportation of the POV is advantageous and, based on a cost comparison, cost-effective to the Government. Once these two determinations have been made, the agency will pay costs associated with shipping the vehicle.

To better serve our customer agencies, GSA now solicits rate offers from carriers for POV shipment. Under the currently effective Request for Offers (RFO), 1997-98 edition, GSA solicits three categories of rates: (1) Category 1: vehicles less than 300 cubic feet in physical measurement; (2) Category 2: vehicles between 300 and 800 cubic feet in physical measurement; and (3) Category 3: vehicles exceeding 800 cubic feet in physical measurement. Rates identified on the cost comparison cover preparation of the vehicle for shipment, pickup at origin, transportation from origin to destination, delivery at final destination, and valuation insurance based on the vehicles current value. The rates apply whether the POV is shipped in the same van with the household goods or whether it is shipped independently of surface transportation of the household goods.

If you would like to review FTR amendment 65 which authorized POV shipment in connection with a transfer or assignment wholly within CONUS, you may view it at the following web site:

SL24 Laser Square

This square is an alignment device that projects 2 beams at 90 degrees from the unit. These beams can be changed from dots (which can be seen as far as 200 ft indoors) to 2 vertical lines (which project from the dot position down to the surface plane that the unit is positioned on). Also the 2 beams can be switched to 2 horizontal lines (which project from the same ports at approximately 30 degrees each). Each beam can be individually leveled with separate adjusters and level vials for each line/dot. The projection distance indoors for each line is approximately 50 ft. (this distance varies with lighting). Unit also has 45-degree side rails which allows all of the above functions to be used at 45 degrees from the unit.

Defense Logistics Support Command

Ft. Belvoir, VA

New Toll-Free Customer Number to Contact Defense Logistics Agency

Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) is pleased to announce its new Customer Support Network. Customers can now dial one toll-free number to access all of DLA's major activities. This number is:

1-877-DLA-CALL, or 1-877-352-2255

By calling this number, customers can access logistics information and customer information specialists at inventory control points, the Defense Distribution Center, the Defense Logistics Information Service, the Defense Reutilization and Marketing Service, the Defense Contract Management Command, the Defense Automated Printing Service, and DLA Corporate Administration offices. Customers can also access the National Imagery and Mapping Agency through this number since DLA is handling the distribution function for that activity.

Once customers call the number, brief narratives direct customers to the correct organization. In some cases, customers can find what they need just by accessing the system's automated telephone/computer technology. Customers will also always have the option to talk to a customer information specialist. Customer information specialists are generally available from 0700 - 1700 Eastern Standard Time, Monday through Friday. Weekend and after-hours emergencies are handled by Emergency Supply Operations Centers or Staff Duty Officers.

The Customer Support Network also links customers directly to the Defense Emergency Supply Expert System, or DESEX, at inventory control points. This operates 24 hours a day, 365 days per year. Through DESEX, customers can order, modify existing requisitions, check status of orders and check supply availability.

You can also continue to contact any DLA activity directly. The 877 number is designed for those customers who may not know the direct number to a particular activity or who may need assistance determining where to call.

(Special Note: If you are dialing the new number in CONUS and cannot get through, check with your local phone system. Since 877 is a new toll-free exchange, some older phone systems may not yet have loaded access into their systems.)

Special Note for Customers located Outside of the Continental United States

AT&T provides technical support for the DLA Customer Support Network number. AT&T provides toll-free international connectivity to and from 150 countries through their international Direct Distance Dialing (ID3). DLA has researched those OCONUS locations with a significant U.S. military personnel presence and determined they are covered by ID3 service. A military ID3 cardholder can access a central switch within the host country using the ID3 card. The switch then connects internationally with the DLA number.

To obtain a full function ID3 calling card or to find out additional details about AT&T long distance service, military customers should go through their normal telecommunications long-haul request/approval channels. A Request for Service (RFS) or Telecommunications Service Request will be required to obtain ID3 service via DISA/DITCO long-haul service provider. AT&T ID3 service is offered under contract number GS00T97NSD0022. ID3 service is just one option to access the DLA 877 number. Overseas customers may have other international procedures to access CONUS commercial numbers.

Metals and Metal Products Group Awards First Regional Integrated Supplier Contract

In order to reduce lead times, lower costs and provide better overall service for our metals customers, the Metals and Metal Products Group at the Defense Industrial Supply Center has awarded the first Regional Integrated Supplier (RIS) contract. This is a long term contract with one base year and four option years. The contract covers the Southeast portion of the United States and was awarded to Interstate Steel Supply Company of Philadelphia. As the metals supply chain integrator, Interstate will provide a broad range of bulk metal or semi-finished metal products. Customers may order from a comprehensive selection of carbon steel, stainless steel, aluminum, nickel, copper, brass, titanium and other industrial metals in a variety of shapes and forms.

Along with providing a comprehensive array of products on a just-in-time, direct delivery basis, Interstate will supply to the customer, on an as-needed basis, related services such as cutting, shearing, sawing, scrap removal, etc. These services are priced separately and the customer will not be charged for these optional services unless they are used.

The RIS contractor also is responsible for the full scope of customer support processes including transportation, return processing, scrap handling, marketing, and data collection and reporting. Technical support from the contractor is also an integral part of the contract. Customers will be able to take advantage of the contractor's experience and expertise in solving technical problems. The contractor, along with DISC personnel, also provides training and support during the implementation phase of the contract.

The RIS program will reduce logistics response time from weeks to days. Customers place orders directly with the contractor using a streamlined ordering process and a customized on-line product catalog developed for each activity. This catalog changes over the life of the contract and new items can be added at any time. Once the customer finds the needed item(s) in the catalog and the contractor receives the order, the material is delivered within 24 to 72 hours (specialized orders for military unique or unique configuration or size may take longer). The contractor's flexible ordering system also allows the customer to "build" orders for specific projects over a period of time and have the contractor ship the various materials all at once, when and where the material is needed.

Along with reducing logistics response time, costs to the customer will be significantly reduced as a result of taking advantage of leveraged pricing. As more customers are added to the program, Interstate's buying power is increased resulting in discounted pricing to the customer. The customer will also realize savings by carrying a reduced inventory since they will be receiving material on a just-in-time basis. Having scrap handling and other services available in the contract will also help customers to reduce costs.

The Shore Intermediate Maintenance Activity (SIMA) Norfolk, Norfolk Naval Shipyard, and Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot are on line. As of the beginning of July, approximately 150 orders have been processed. Roll out to additional Southeast customers is in progress. Federal civil agencies are invited to participate.

A RIS solicitation for the remaining regions of the continental United States was issued on May 6, 1998. Personnel from major military customers such as Tinker AFB and Puget Sound Naval Shipyard attended as did industry representatives. The acquisition plan and overview was presented along with source selection and contract requirements. As a result of input from the attendees, an amendment to the solicitation was issued June 19, 1998, extending the closing date until July 20, 1998.

For more information about the Regional Integrated Supplier of Metals and Metals Products please call the Bulk Metals and Metal Products Group at (215) 697-1045. The Defense Industrial Supply Center has entered into a Prime Vendor relationship providing a diverse line of wood products including softwoods and hardwoods, bulk lumber, plywood, veneer, fire retardant, millwork, poles, and pilings. The Mid-Atlantic Region of the Wood Products Prime Vendor Program was awarded on May 14, 1998. It will service customers in the states of VA, Wash DC, MD, PA, NJ, DE, and WV. Customers will receive competitive pricing, commercial deliveries, specific lengths, quantity sensitive discounts, commercial quality standards, rebates, commercial returns and warranties, and surge capability. Customers will be able to place orders directly to the vendor via a web-based electronic order system and shipments will be sent directly from the vendor to the customer's designated delivery sites. For more information contact Tom Grace, Program Manager at (215) 697-3558 (DSN 442) or email to tgrace@disc.dla.mil.
