GENERAL

With this issue of Cataloging Service Bulletin, certain characters used in examples showing MARC 21 content designation are being changed to accommodate the loading of documents to electronic media (e.g., the Internet, Cataloger's Desktop) by reducing the amount of editing needed to load the documents. The characters involved are the "blank" (slashed "b") which will appear as the number sign (#) and the delimiter which will appear as a dollar sign ($).

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGING

PUBLICATION, ETC., AREA FOR BOOKS PUBLISHED BY ST. MARTIN'S PRESS

The Library of Congress has been asked to update its policy on the publication, distribution, etc., area for certain books published by St. Martin's Press. The title page contains the letter "M." The verso of the title page has two separate statements, "First published in Great Britain 1999 by Macmillan Press Ltd ... " and "First published in the United States of America 1999 by St. Martin's Press, Inc. ... " LC interprets the two separate statements as evidence, for cataloging purposes, that there are two separate editions for the publication, one edition for Great Britain, another for the United States. Books received through LC's Cataloging in Publication Program are assumed to be the edition for the United States. The bibliographic record for the U.S. edition contains only the publication details in the publication, distribution, etc., area that are applicable to the U.S. edition:

STANDARD CITATION FORMS

(This is a revision to the statement that appeared in Cataloging Service Bulletin, no. 84.)

Library of Congress staff and the Bibliographic Standards Committee of the ALA/ACRL Rare Books and Manuscript Section collaborated on the revision of Standard Citation Forms for Published Bibliographies and Catalogs Used In Rare Book Cataloging (Washington, D.C.: Library of Congress, Cataloging Distribution Service, 1996). Upon publication, the Library's Cataloging Policy and Support Office agreed to assume responsibility for soliciting and evaluating queries, corrections, and revisions to the publication, and to issue the changes in Cataloging Service Bulletin.

21.30J. ADDED ENTRIES. SPECIFIC RULES. TITLES.

Follow the instructions in LCRI 21.30J in making title added entries for music publications and music sound recordings, disregarding the restriction in rule 21.30J1 (d). Exception: For works entered under the heading for a composer, do not make an added entry under a title that is not sufficiently distinctive by itself to be a useful access point (e.g., Piano music; Symphony no. 3 in F major).

For collections without a collective title, follow the instructions in the section "Items Without Collective Title" in LCRI 21.30J, subject to the exception above.

22.2. CHOICE AMONG DIFFERENT NAMES

In applying this rule and its LCRIS, do not consider a music composer or performer to be a contemporary author.

25.25. MUSICAL WORKS. GENERAL RULE.

When the uniform title assigned to a particular manifestation of a musical work is identical (except for the deletion of an initial article) to the title proper of the item, do not include the uniform title in the bibliographic record for the item, even though a name authority record must be generated in order to trace references to the uniform title, unless one or more of the following exceptions applies.

1) If the uniform title contains any of the elements prescribed as additions in 25.30–25.32 and 25.35, include the uniform title in the bibliographic record.

2) If the uniform title is for one or more parts of a musical work (25.32), include it in the bibliographic record.

3) If the uniform title is a collective one (25.34), include it in the bibliographic record.

4) If a uniform title is required for a work entered under title and a qualifier must be added to the uniform title to distinguish the work from others with the same title, include the uniform title in the bibliographic records for all manifestations of the work (LCRI 25.5B, "Monographs That Conflict").

Note that an alternative title is part of the title proper (1.1B1). Therefore, when the title proper contains an alternative title, the uniform title, which will not include the alternative title (MCD 25.27), will be different from the title proper and must be included in the bibliographic record.

For collections without a collective title, apply the above provisions to the first title transcribed in the title and statement of responsibility area (inclusive of part titles and alternative titles but exclusive of parallel titles and other title information).

25.30C2. SERIAL NUMBERS.

When a serial number to be used in a uniform title is accompanied in the source on which the uniform title is based by a term such as "number," "book," "collection," apply the following:

1) If the term is the English-language word "number" or its abbreviation, or an equivalent word or abbreviation in another language, precede the number in the uniform title by the English abbreviation "no."

2) If the term is a non-English-language term not meaning "number" and the initial title element is in English because of the application of 25.29A1, substitute the English equivalent of the term.

3) In all other cases give the term as it appears in the source on which the uniform title is based.

In cases 2) and 3) above do not abbreviate the term unless it is abbreviated in the source, even if it is a term for which an abbreviation is given in Appendix B.

If no term appears with the number in the source on which the uniform title is based, give the number in the uniform title as a cardinal number and precede it by the English-language abbreviation "no."

Use arabic numerals; use the conventional English-language form of an ordinal numeral (1st, 2nd, 3rd, etc.) or the conventional form of a non-English-language ordinal numeral (1., 2., 3., etc.) according to the context.

If different works in a consecutively numbered series have different forms of numerical designation in the source on which their uniform titles are based, select one of the forms for use in the uniform title of all the works.

26.4B1. DIFFERENT TITLES OR VARIANTS OF THE TITLE

Introduction

The instructions below deal with the choice and form of the title portion of name-title see references to headings for musical works. They apply also to the name-title references for parts of works prescribed in rule 25.32A1. When references not in conformity with these instructions are encountered in a name authority record, they should be changed to conform if the record is being changed for another reason.

Generally, the heading referred to should include only the basic uniform title of the work, without additions such as "arr." (25.35C), "Vocal score" (25.35D), "Libretto" (25.35E), language (25.35F), even if such additions are used in the uniform title in the bibliographic record for the item being cataloged. If, however, the title being referred from is specific to the arrangement, format, language, etc., brought out by an addition to the uniform title and the title would not logically be used for a different manifestation of the work, refer to the uniform title with the addition.

For further information regarding arrangements, see below under Non-distinctive titles (section 4).

Underlying these instructions is the principle that each reference should, to the extent possible, be constructed "in the same form in which it would be constructed if used as the heading" (LCRI 26.1, "Forms of References"). Thus, for example, it is understood that if a title being referred from begins with an article, the article should be omitted in accordance with 25.2C.

The instructions are divided into two parts: the first for references from distinctive titles and the second for references from non-distinctive titles. Essentially, consider a title to be non-distinctive if it fits the description in the second sentence of rule 5.1B1. Consider other titles to be distinctive.

Distinctive titles

When the title proper of a work (or the principal title if a secondary entry is being made for the work) is distinctive and is significantly different from the work's uniform title, make a reference from it to the uniform title. Generally do not include other title information in the title referred from.

Similarly, refer from any other distinctive and significantly different title under which catalog users are likely to search for the work, e.g., a parallel title, especially one in English; an alternative title or a subtitle that has the nature of an alternative title; a nickname; the original title. Such titles may appear in the item being cataloged or may be found in a reference source; generally, however, do not do research solely for the purpose of identifying titles from which references should be made.

Conflicts

When a distinctive title to be referred from is the same as the uniform title of another work entered under the same composer (apart from any additions made to that uniform title under rule 25.31B), resolve the conflict by making an addition or additions to the reference according to 25.31B. Change the existing uniform title by making a corresponding addition or additions to it, if it does not already include them.

Variant forms of titles

1) Ampersand. When an ampersand (or other symbol, e.g., +, representing the word "and") occurs as one of the first five words filed on in a distinctive uniform title or in a distinctive title being referred from, make a reference (or an additional reference) substituting the word "and" in the language of the title.

2) Numbers. When a cardinal number occurs as one of the first five words filed on in a distinctive uniform title or in a distinctive title being referred from, make references according to the principles governing the making of added entries for alternate forms containing numbers in LCRI 31.30J. In addition, when a distinctive title being referred from begins with a number that is not an integral part of the title, make a reference from the title with the number omitted (unless the resulting title is the same as the uniform title).

3) Other. If a distinctive title proper or a distinctive title being referred from contains data within the first five words filed on for which there could be an alternative form that would be filed differently, make a reference (or an additional reference) from that form if it is thought that some users of the catalog might reasonably search under that form, following the "Guidelines for Making

Title Added Entries" in LCRI 21.30J.

Non-distinctive Titles

Make references based on non-distinctive titles only when the uniform title that would result from the application of 25.30 to such a title is different from the actual uniform title. Then make a reference only in the form that the uniform title would take if the title in question had been selected as the basis for the uniform title. The examples below illustrate the most common situations in which references based on non-distinctive titles are needed.

1) The title selected as the basis for the uniform title is distinctive but the work is also known by a non-distinctive title.

2) The work is also known by the name of a type of composition different from that selected as the basis for the uniform title.

3) The work is identified in the item being cataloged by a number from a numbering system different from that used in the uniform title.

and bassoon in D minor, op. 42, no. 2, P. 302*)

(Generally do not refer from titles using numbers not found in the item being cataloged unless such numbers originated with the composer.)

4) The item being cataloged is published for a medium of performance other than the original, and a statement of medium of performance would be required in the uniform title if the version being cataloged were the original version.

¹For works with such titles as "Double concerto," "Tripelkonzert," etc., make a reference based on the non-distinctive title "Concerto" even if there is no evidence that the work actually is also known by the non-distinctive title, if such a reference would provide useful access to the work.

Conflicts

When a title in a reference formulated in uniform-title format according to these instructions is the same as the uniform title of another work entered under the same composer, resolve the conflict by making an addition or additions to the reference according to rule 25.30E1. Also change the existing uniform title by making a corresponding addition or additions.

- 400 1- $a Hindemith, Paul, $d 1895-1963. $t Sonatas, $m horn, piano $n (1943)
(For alto horn, horn, or saxophone and piano; established uniform title, Sonatas, horn, piano, to be changed to Sonatas, horn, piano (1939))

If the application of these instructions results in two identical references to different uniform titles entered under the same composer, resolve the conflict by making an addition or additions to each reference according to rule 25.30E1.

C.8. ORDINAL NUMERALS.

When using ordinal numerals in music uniform titles being newly established (cf. MCD 25.30C2 and MCD 25.32A1), use the conventional English form (1st, 2nd, 3rd, etc.) or the conventional non-English form (1., 2., 3., etc.) according to the context, except where a pattern of usage of ordinal numerals in a different form already exists. Where such a pattern exists, change existing uniform titles to conform to one of the above conventional forms when most or all of the headings involved are being changed for another reason; otherwise continue to follow the existing pattern.

(This replaces MCD C.8B (April 1990).)

SUBJECT CATALOGING

SUBDIVISION SIMPLIFICATION PROGRESS

Since the Subject Subdivisions Conference took place at Airlie House, Virginia, in May 1991, progress continues to be made in simplifying subdivisions in the Library of Congress Subject Headings system. On Weekly Lists 99-17 to 99-27, changes were made in the following areas:

Recommendation #1. Toward achieving the recommended standard order of [topic]—[place]—[chronology]—[form] where it can be applied in LC subject heading strings, new topical subdivisions for which geographic orientation is possible are established with the designation (May Subd Geog). On a case-by-case basis, subdivisions not previously divided by place are authorized for geographic subdivision. Fourteen subdivisions were authorized for geographic subdivision during this period, including five free-floating subdivisions listed below.

Recommendation #6. During the second quarter of 1999, progress in simplifying subdivisions was made in the following areas:

1) Cancellation of subdivisions that represent the same or similar concepts in different forms. The subdivision —Juvenile—Instruction and study was cancelled under the pattern heading for musical compositions, Operas, and replaced with the subdivision —Instruction and study— Juvenile.

The multiple subdivision —Chemistry, [San Francisco (Calif.), Journalism, Shakespeare, William, 1564-1616, etc.], which authorized the use of any subject as a subdivision following the heading Reference books, was cancelled in favor of a new free-floating topical subdivision —Reference books, which is authorized for use under subjects of all types for works about reference books on those subjects.

Two cartographic subdivisions that had been used under names of places, —Road maps and —Zoning maps, were cancelled and replaced by use of the free-floating subdivision —Maps under the headings Roads—[place] and Zoning—[place].

One hundred ninety nine subdivisions that represented workers or industries under the heading Trade-unions were cancelled as part of the change of that heading to Labor unions. They were replaced by a new free-floating subdivision —Labor unions, which is authorized for use under headings for occupational groups and types of employees.

2) Phrase headings replaced with subdivisions. Three phrase headings were replaced with subdivisions. The heading Institution management was cancelled in favor of use of the heading Associations, institutions, etc.—Management. The headings Mercury (Planet), Transit of and Venus (Planet), Transit of were cancelled and replaced by a subdivision —Transit established under those planets.

3) Subdivisions replaced with phrase headings. Six subdivisions that had been established under the heading Trade-unions were replaced by phrase headings. The subdivision —Local unions was replaced by Labor union locals. Five subdivisions that represented membership: —Afro-American membership; —Irish American membership; —Membership; —Mexican American membership; and Minority membership were cancelled and replaced by phrase headings representing members: Afro-American labor union members; Irish American labor union members; Labor union members; Mexican American labor union members; and Minority labor union members.

4) Subdivisions updated to different forms. As part of the revision to pinyin romanization of headings for place names in China that had been established using conventional forms of names, the subdivision —Yang-chou style was changed to —Yangzhou style under the heading Cookery, Chinese.

The following changes to existing free-floating subdivisions took place during the second quarter of 1999.

REVISIONS IN CATALOGING OF ART MATERIALS

As part of the continuing effort to simplify cataloging and as part of the ongoing changes associated with the recommendations of the Airlie House conference on subject subdivisions, the Library of Congress is considering several revisions in cataloging practice for works in the field of art. The Library invites comments on the following changes that are being considered.

Change in assignment of headings for time period.

Current instructions in the Subject Cataloging Manual: Subject Headings, H 1250, sec.1.c require that a heading with period qualifier and/or chronological subdivision be assigned even when other types of headings assigned to the work imply particular centuries. For example, Drawing—20th century is currently assigned even when the heading Drawing, Cubist is already assigned. The revised instruction would eliminate the requirement for the chronological subject heading if the other headings assigned already imply a specific time period. The revised practice would correspond to general subject cataloging instructions relating to specificity of headings.

Change in formulation of headings with chronological subdivisions.

Currently art subject headings with chronological subdivision are constructed with subdivisions in the order [art form]—[chronological subdivision]—[geographic subdivision(s)], e.g. Drawing—20th century—France; Sculpture, Modern—19th century—Italy—Rome. This order is contrary to the recommended order resulting from the recommendations of the Airlie House conference and differs from the order of subdivisions in other disciplines. Art subject headings with national or ethnic qualifiers, e.g. Painting, German, do not currently have chronological subdivisions. The Library is proposing the following changes in the formulation of art subject headings with chronological subdivision.

1. Headings such as Art, Ancient; Painting, Medieval; Sculpture, Modern; Drawing—20th century would no longer be divided geographically. These headings would now be used primarily for general works not limited to a specific place.
2. Chronological subdivisions would be used after headings with national or ethnic qualifiers and geographic subdivision(s) will be included in the same subject heading string. Previous practice required the use of two subject headings: Art, French—France—Paris, in combination with Art, Modern—20th century—France—Paris. The new practice would result in a single heading: Art, French—France—Paris—20th century. This practice follows that of music subject headings and places the subdivisions in the recommended order. The combination of place and time in the same subject string would also be applied to headings for Chinese, Japanese, and Korean art, although the special chronological subdivisions for those countries would continue to be used.
3. A list of free-floating subdivisions would be developed for art headings and added to the Subject Cataloging Manual. This list would include a set of free-floating chronological subdivisions for use with art headings. The chronological subdivisions currently used under Art, Chinese; Art, Japanese; and Art, Korean would be made free-floating for other art headings with qualifiers Chinese, Japanese, or Korean. For other countries, the free-floating set of chronological subdivisions would be —To 500; —500-1500; —16th century; —17th century; —18th century; —19th century; —20th century. Subdivisions for other time periods could be separately established as needed. The existing subdivision —17th-18th centuries would be cancelled.
4. Headings for architecture would be revised to follow the practice of art subject headings. Headings such as Architecture—United States—20th century would replace Architecture, Modern—20th century—United States.

The Library of Congress recognizes that the above changes will have a major impact on users of Library of Congress subject headings. We invite comments on this proposal from the user community. Please address your comments to:
